DUNDAS STREET. The River of Speech.

here flows a river through the earth, from hills of heaven it hath its birth; hrough all the lands that stream hath gon-for men to float their thoughts upon.

e send rich fleets of myrrh and gold, is argosied with gems untold; though the men upon the shore them upon their hearts, the store, prophet's oil, grows more and more. And some send flowers from fairy lands, That float to little children's hands; And some—alas! this should not be— Send ships; that sall upon the sea, Beneath the pirate's flag of black, With wreck and rapine on the track.

And some send idle straws alone; And some rich seeds that may be sown, In quiet cteeks: for they will rise, Dear flowers to aching hearts and eyes. And some send holy words that shed A strange light on the river's bed— A light so steady, earnest, fair, You almost think God's stars are there

Long years ago, past ships and stars, A fleet sailed through Eastern bars, And on the waves a heavenly spell, A silent consecration fell; The stream grew holy as it bore Christ's spoken thoughts from shore to shore.

HUMOROUS.

A little girl who has been very observ-ant of her parent's mode of exhibiting their charity, being asked what generosity was, answered: "It is giving to the poor all the old stuff you don't want yourself."

Some admiring poet said of his lady-love: "Upon her face a thousand dimples smile for me!" Which only adds more emphasis to the adage: "Love is blind." How like the mischief a girl would look with a thousand dimples on her face. The poet must have meant freekles.

A London tourist met a young woman A bondon tourist met a young woman going to the kirk, and, as was not unusual, she was carrying her boots in her hand, trudging along barefoot. "My girl," he said, "is it customary for all the people in these parts to go barefoot? "Pairtly they do," said the girl, "and pairtly they mind their own business."

A HIGHLY COLORED JOKE.—Last evening, as a representative of the Hawkeye was passing along Valley street, he heard a lady of color call to her companion across the street:—"Hello, ober dar; did you know dat one ob de proprietories ob de Water Company am dead?" "La, no; am dat so?" "Spects it am;" and colored lady No. 1 laughed as though a rich uncle bed drouped eat of original large heaving her and you. I august as though a first uncer-had dropped out of existence leaving her an immense fortune; but stopped long enough to add:—"Don't you see de prop-erty am in mournin'?" Looking around, the Hawkeye man observed for the first time that the witty descendant of Ham was sitting on a water hydrant.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Thought it was a Register.—There is a saloon keeper in New York who has an old-fashioned clock, which he prizes greatly. It is built on the principle of my "Grandfather's Clock," and might have served as a model to that ancient timepiece. It occupies a place high upon the wall, and two leaden weights hang in full sight suspended by brass chains. Yesterday a man came in, whose perceptions were temporarily dulled by the use of the cup that cheers, and also, etc! Seeing the weights, he caught hold of each and pulled with all his might so successfully that he sat emphatically on the floor with several yards of chain and a confusion of wheels around THOUGHT IT WAS A REGISTER.—There is of chain and a confusion of wheels around him. "How much did she register?" he in-quired. "Register! you idiot, you have quired. "Register! you idiot, you have rnined the clock." "Clock—clock! Why, I thought it was a pulling machine." It is perhaps needless to say that the clock stopped short, never to go again.

Raising a New Crop of Hair.

It was one of the by-laws of Heartache's Heavenly Hair Raiser, that it be used lib-law of health.

Rev. T. C. Crown, Brooklyn, Ont., says: Raising a New Crop of Hair.

The glue bottle, by an unearthly coincidence, was nearly the same shape and size as the hair-sap bottle.

He went to bed.

He went to bed.

"George," said his wife, turning her face to the wall, "that stuff you put on your head smells like a pan of sop greate."

"Perhaps I had better go up stairs and sleep," snarled George. "You're mighty sensitive! You would'nt expect that a man can put stuff on his head that will make his hair grow, and make it smell like essence of winter-green, would you? They went to sleep as mad as Turka.

This particular bald-headed men, like a good many other bald-headed men, had to get up and build the fires. When he arose next morning, the sun peeped in at the window and saw the pillow cling to the back of his head, like a great white chignon. At first he did not realize his condition; he thought it must have caught on a pin or a shirt button. It looked ridiculous, and he would throw it back on diculous, and he would throw it back on the bed before his wife saw it, so he caught the bed before his wife saw it, so he caught it quickly by one end and "yanked."

"O!O!! Darnation to fishhooks what's been goin' on here? Thunder an' lightnin,!" and he began to claw at his scalp like a lunatic. His wife sprang up from her couch and began to sob hysterically.
"O, don't George? What is it! What's the matter?"

the matter?"

George was dancing about the room, the pillow now dangling by a few hairs, his scalp covered with something that looked like sheet copper, while the air was redolent of warlike expletives, as if a dictionary had exploded. With a woman's instinct the poor wife took in the situation at a glance and explained:

"It is the glue!

"It is the glue!
The bald-headed man sat down in a chair and looked at her for a moment in contemptuous silence and then uttered the one expressive word:

Now began a series of processes and experiments, unheard of in the annals of chemistry.

"Jane you must soak it off with warm water. I've got to go to Utica to-day."

"I can't, George," she said in a guilty tone; "it's water-proof."

tone; "it's water-proof,"
"Yes, I might have known it; and I s'pose it's fire-proof, too, ain't it?
He scratched over the smooth plating with his finger nails.
"It's hard as iron." he said.
"Yes—he said it was good glue!" replied she, innocently. "Can't you skin it off with your razor, George?"
Don't be a bigger fool than you are, Jane. Get me that course file on the wood shed."

wood shed."

It may be imagined what followed, and now as the bald-headed man sits in his office, he never removes his hat, for his entire skull is a howling waste of blistered desert, relieved here and there by oases of black, sowether Sunday. black court plaster.—Syracuse Sunday

EVICTION LAWS.

The laws for which evictions for nonpayment of rents are authorized have been on the statute books in Ireland only thirty years. It was not until 1860 that the same power was given to other courts.
The Attorney General for Ireland in a recent debate laid stress on the fact that by the Roman civil law, and even the law of Scotland, if, through some supervening do," said the girl, "and pairtly they mind their own business."

A missionary visited St. Vincent's Hospital last week, says the Catholic Sentinel, and among the patients he came across an old acquaintance who had been brought there almost dead, but who had subsequently recovered. "Well, Pat," said the missionary, "I'm glad to see you have recovered. Weren't you afraid to meet the Almighty when you were so very sick!" "Oh, no, your reverence," replied Pat, "it was meetin' the other party that I was afeared of!"

PUTTING THE DOCTOR "OUT."—Doctor Murphy was boasting recently that the climate of Minnesota beats the climate of California or any other State, and, with a triumphant air of exultation, exclaimed, "Look at me! Behold my beautiful rounded form! When I came here I weighed only ninety-seven pounds, and now I weightwo hundred and seventy-five pounds. What do you think of that!" One of the sons of the late Bishop Willoughby standing by said, "Why, doctor, that's nothing, look at me! I weigh on hundred and seventy-five pounds, and when I came to Minnesota, I weighed only six pounds." The doctor left.

A HIGHLY COLORED JOKE.—Last evening, as a representative of the Hawkeye

See what the Clergy say. Rev. R. H. CRAIG, Princeton, N. J., says: Last summer when I was in Canada, I cought a bad cold in my throat. It ada, I cought a bad cold in my throat. It became so bad that often in the middle of my sermon my throat and tongue would become so dry I could hardly speak. My tongue was covered with a white parched crust, and my throat was much inflamed. An old lady of my congregation advised me to use the Shoshonees Remedy, which she was using. The first dose relieved me, and in a few days my throat was nearly well. I discontinued the use of it, but my throat not being entirely well became well. I discontinued the use of it, some my threat not being entirely well became worse again. I procured another supply, and am happy to say that my throat is entirely well, and the white crust has entirely disappeared. I wish that every minister who suffers from sore throat would try the Great Shoshonees Remedy. Rev. Geo. W. Grout, Stirling, Ont., says.

Mas. Georger Francis was severely afflicted with Kidney disease, and had been under the care of three physicians without any beneficial result. She has since taken four bottles of the Shoshonees Remedy, Heavenly Hair Raiser, that it be used liberally before retiring, rubbing it well into the scalp. Just before he went to bed that night the man bolted the back door, put the cat in the wood-shed, came in whistling the Fatinita waltz, danced up to the clock-shelf, and pouring out a handful of what he supposed to be his fertilizer he mopped it all over his scalp and stirred it well in around the roots of the little hedge of hair at the back of his neck.

and now enjoys the best of health.

Rev. T. C. Crown, Brooklyn, Ont., says:

My wife was very low with Lung disease, and given up by her physician. I bought a bottle of the Shoshonees Remedy, and at the end of two days she was much better. By continuing the Remedy she was perfectly restored. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles, $2; Pills 25 cents a box. Sold by all medicine dealers.
