NEWPORT

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Mr. C. McEwen attended conference on Thursday.
Mrs. Walker and friend, Mrs. Chester, of Hamilton are guests of Mrs. Drew at the Grand River parsonage.
On Thursday, May 30, 1918, Newport school was the scene of a farewell social for three of our gallant young men, Harvey Charlton, Roy Marra and Irvine Wheeler, who have been called to the colors. The large number present to wish the boys God speed shows the high esteem in which the boys are held. The evening opened with a geographical contest, followed by an old-fashioned spelling match which created much laughter. Then we were favored with several musical selections, rendered by our much admired talent of Newport and vicinity. Mrs. Walch and Mr. Rupert Greenwood favored us with solos; Miss Gribben and Miss Rollins a duet and the choir a selection. The school was nicely decorated with flowers, bunting and flags. Our chairman, Mr. James Mellican, gave a splendid address suited to the solemn occasion. He repeated Tennyson's prophecy, which is now being fulfilled on the battlefields of Europe. He reminded us that our duty was to sacrifice, and to let our voices rise night and day in prayer for those who are offering their lives. Then he addressed the boys and Mrs. Clarence McEwen presented them with comfort kits, which we hope will provide comfort for them in the training camp and on the battlefield. Several present made short speeches, extending their good wishes and hopes for safe return. Among others, Mrs. John Hodge, who had taught two of the boys during their school days at
