Elzear Cote Found in Dodd's Dyspep sia Tablets a Speedy and Permanent Cure for his Stomach Troubles.

"I suffered for four years from stomach trouble. I consulted three doctors and they told me that I had Dyspepsia and no remedy would help me." So says Elzear Cote, of St. Hedwidge de Clifton, Que. But Mr. Cote found a remedy that those doctors did not know. It was Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and it cured him. He says:

"Then I quit the doctors and started to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After the first box I had no more trouble. It is now two years since I took them and I am still well. I do all my own work. I am never tired. That's why I recommend all who have stomach troubles to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food themselves. This gives the overworked stomach a chance to rest and it naturally comes back to its normal healthy condition.

VALUABLE ADVICE TO MOTHERS

If your child comes in from play coughing or showing evidences of la grippe, sore throat, or sickness of any kind, get out your bottle of Ner-viline. Rub the chest and neck with Merviline, and give internal doses of ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water every two hours. This will prevent any serious trouble. No lin-iment or pain reliever equals Pol-son's Nerviline, which has been the great family remedy in Canada for the past fifty years. Try a 25c. bot-tle of Nerviline.

Whose Move?

Whose Move?

Dr. Zugertort, the celebrated chess player, was walking in the street one day when an idea struck him with regard to a certain chess opening and he began carefully to think it out with a view to playing it in his next game with the equally well-known player, Mr. Steinitz. Lost in thought, he stood at the 'corner of a street for a long time, until a policeman, suspecting him, went up and told him-to move on. "Beg pardon," replied the little doctor, absently, without looking up, "it's your move."—Birmingham (England) Post.

INDIAN JUGGLERY

How Water Was Drawn From An Empty Cocoanut Shell-One of the Cleverest.

Here is a tale of Indian jugglery.
The trick described is new to me and is given on the best authority in a letter from India:
"I tell you it as it was told to me the ter from India:

"I tell you it as it was told to me the day after. Witnesses—Mr. S. S., Mrs. S. S., three English girls, from fourteen to eleven; an American dentist called Durand and half a hundred villagers. Locale—A road side in Saugor. S. S. says:

"Yesterday we were all marching in from Khimlasa when we passed a village, and on the roadside a juggler was resting. We sald to him, "Juggle!" and he did the finest trick I've ever seen on the bare maidan. We stood within six feet of him all around him all the time, and he was half naked. He took a rudely carved little boat, empty and undecked, about 8 by 4 inches, with one thwart across it, with a hole for a mast. We all examined this boat and handed it around. It was empty. He then stuck a thin bamboo stick about two feet long in the hole and then took a cocoanut-and handed it around. This cocoanut was empty, with three holes in it. It was a small one, and we all saw and felt it was empty. He then stuck the nut on the bamboo and stuck a little bamboo spout in one hole of the nut and stood five yards off and said, "Spout!" And it spouted water like 1 o'clock for a long time. He said, "Spout!" And it spouted much more water than ceuld have been in the nut or boat. When it stopped and the man was going Dur-

S.'s breakfast cups, put it under the spout, went away as before, said, "Spout!" and it filled the cup over the brim. All the time the old man, who had a monkey's skull with him, kept on saying, "Bandar ka kopra" (monkey's skull) over and over again,"—Andrew Lang in Long-man's Magazine.

KING FOR NORWAY.

Prince Charles of Denmark Has Been Offered the Throne.

There are several bridges to crossed before Prince Charles of Den mark who has been offered the throng of Norway, can take his seat where Oscar sat so long. Nevertheless, the final settlement of the trouble along this line is not at all improbable. The Norseman and the Dane have had much experience of each other. As a matter of fact, for hundreds of years before the opening of the nineteenth century Norway was really tributary to Denmark to Denmark.

The accession of Charles to the Norwegian Crown would pave the way to the gathering of the Scandinavian peoples into a loosely knit league of Keeping Cool.

A man hard at work under a broiling sun may consider it folly to talk about keeping cool. Nevertheless bodily tem perature may be regulated by attention to diet and the cutting out of foods that make heat as well as strength. Fruit and vegetables keep down temperature and thus conserve the normal strength of the body if they do not add to it the same propor tion as meat.

A practical way of keeping the body A practical way of keeping the body cool, whether in the field or factory, is to avoid mental excitement. Temper is a great modifier of temperature. Outbursts of temper lower the vitality of the system and lessen the power of resistance to external heat. Even tempered people are generally exempt from heat enervation. They keep cool at 99 in the shade without continually tippling iced drinks.

Duration of Digestion.

The times of digestion of different foods are about as follows on an average: Milk, rice, about an hour or less; whipped eggs, barley soup, salmon, trout, about one and one-half hours; trout, about one and one-half hours; peas and fish, about two hours or more; sago, one and three-quarters hours; barley, boiled milk, raw eggs, cabbage with vinegar, soup with fat and bread, about two hours; raw milk (Richet), baked eggs, ox liver, two and one-fourth hours; lamb, beans, potatoes, cabbage, hash, two and one-half hours; boiled eggs, beefsteak, white bread, ham, beef, fish, flutton, three hours; pork, poultry, veal, brown bread, four hours; salt pork, hard boiled eggs, five hours.

THE BRAIN OF MAN

Theory That Its Records Once Made Are Never Effaced.

The brain of mankind has been de fined as a kind of phonographic cylinder, which retains impressions made upon it through the medium of the senses, particularly through the eyes and ears. If this be true memory must depend for its intensity or retentive qualities upon the degree of observa-tion with which the record is made. Nor is this all. If memory's record is kept in the shape of indentations upon the folds of brain matter, are they ever entirely effaced? In other words, do we ever really forget anything? May it not be that in the inner depths of the brain memory has stored up recollec-tions of things which are never again purposely turned to perhaps, but which instantly spring into being and flash through the mind whenever we hear or see something which recalls them?

There are several well known men tal phenomena which strengthen this theory. We know that memory often brightens during the last moments of life, and there are cases on record where Germans, French, Spaniards and others who, upon falling sick in this country scores of years after having entirely forgotten their native lan-guages, recovered and used them upon their deathbeds. There is a theory that relaxed, just as do the muscles and cords of the limbs and body, and that by se doing they expose to the mind's monitor indentations (recollections) which were long since folded up and put away as material that could not be of any particular use.

THE INDIAN'S GAIT.

it Gives Him Perfect Balance, With

A woodsman walks with a rolling motion, his hips swaying an inch or more to the stepping side, and his pace is correspondingly long. This hip action may be noticed to an exaggerated degree in the stride of a pro-fessional pedestrian, but the latter walks with a heel and toe step, whereas an Indian's or sailor's step is more nearly flat footed. In the latter case the center of gravity is covered by the whole foot. The poise is as secure as that of a ropewalker. The toes are pointed straight forward or even a trifle inward, so that the inside of the heel, the outside of the ball of the foot and the smaller toes all do their share of work and assist in balancing Walking in the woods in this manner one is not so likely either to trip over projecting roots, stones and other traps as he would be if the feet formed hooks by pointing outward. The advantage is obvious in snowshoeing. If the Indian were turned to stone while in the act of stepping the statue would probably stand balanced on one foot. This gait gives the limbs great control over his movements. He is always polsed. If a stick cracks under him it is because of his weight and not by reason of the impact. He goes silently on and with great economy of force. His steady balance enables him to put his moving foot down as gently as you would lay an egg on the table.-Field and Stream.

Woman is often referred to by man woman is often reterred to by man as "doubling his joys and halving his sorrows." That may be compliment; ary but it would seem to be rather hard on the woman. For in plain terms it means that where things are going well with the man his wife makes them go better. But when things are going ill with him, he ex-pects the wife t oshare half his burden. And there's more truth than den. And there's more truth than poetry in this presentation of masculline selfishness. Men don't appreciate the fact that the strain of mother-hood alone is a burden bigger than all the loads that rest upon male shoulders. They see the wife grow thin, pale, nerveus and worn 'without a thought that she is over-burdened. Among the pleasant letters received by Dr. Pierce are those from fusbands who have waked up grounds—

Cork Tree In Arisons.

O. E. Sowers, the mining man, has just come in from Pinal county has brought with him a sample of cork bark taken from a tree on the Irions ranch. It is perhaps the only cork tree in Arizona and one of the very few cork trees in the United States, but the thrifty condition of it proves that cork can be produced here. This tree was planted by Mr. Irlons about nine years ago, is about twenty-five or thirty feet tall and is about nine inches in diameter. That is as tall as the average tree ever gets, but at a great age trees sometimes reach a diameter of five feet. It is understood that the plant was brought from somewhere in South America.—Arizona Republican,
