

A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

The Trouble Yields to the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.

Ask any doctor and he will tell you that rheumatism is rooted in the blood; that nothing can cure it that does not reach the blood. It is sheer waste of money and time to try to cure rheumatism with liniments and lotions that only go skin deep. You can speedily cure rheumatism with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which enrich the blood, drive out the poisonous acid and loosen the stiffened, aching joints. Among the thousands of rheumatic sufferers cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mr. W. A. Taylor, Newcastle, N. B., who says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from rheumatism which was seated in my shoulders and knee joints. I tried liniments and blistering, but with no effect. In fact the trouble was getting worse, and my knee joints grew so stiff that they would snap if I stooped, and I could scarcely straighten up. Altogether I was a terrible sufferer, and nothing I did or took gave me any relief until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took the Pills steadily for a couple of months and every vestige of the trouble disappeared. That was two years ago, and as I have had no return of the trouble I feel safe in assuming that the cure is permanent."

Nine-tenths of the common ailments that afflict humanity are due to bad blood, and as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood, that is the reason they cure so many different troubles, such as anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, eczema, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, paralysis and the ailments of girlhood and womanhood with all their distressing headaches, backaches and irregularities. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SPiRiT OF PHOTOGRApHS.

Rector of Stockton, Warwickshire, Exhibits Them.

Archdeacon Colley, rector of Stockton, Warwickshire, England, at the close of a sermon on spiritualism at Manchester the other night exhibited a series of what he called spirit photographs.

One of them taken in March last outside his residence, showed the archdeacon's mother, who died fifty years ago, and his father, who died in 1891, aged 87. The mother was never photographed during life, but her likeness had been recognized by hundreds in Leamington.

In the second photograph, taken half a minute afterward, the father and mother had changed places, and the archdeacon deduces from this a double parental blessing on what he calls his anti-Sadducee work.

"Seventeen years in the higher life," said the archdeacon, "appear to work for making my father in the spirit photograph look somewhat younger than in the negative I took of him three years before he departed this life."

Another print shown looked, as the archdeacon said, like a psychic fog, but in the midst of the black blotch could be clearly deciphered some archaic Greek characters, and around them in ten concentric lines some microscopic writing which, the archdeacon said, contained a message from a friend who had been dead for twenty-five years. The Greek characters, interpreted recently by Sir Oliver Lodge, were a quotation from St. Luke, chapter 17, 4th and 5th verses, but seven words were missing.

"This photograph, or rather, psychograph, was taken," said the archdeacon, "without a camera. I went to a friend's house and took out three plates and put them into envelopes. I initiated them, sealed them, and retained possession of them in my hands, and no soul touched them. I took one plate between the palms of my hands, my friend clasped my hands and a lady placed her hands above and below mine. My friend then went into a trance. In a short time he said: 'They are writing.'"

ALBATROSS TOOK NEWS

TOLD OF THE SERIOUS PLIGHT OF SOME CASTAWAYS.

Sending of Birds by Shipwrecked Sailor Recalls Story of Tragedy.

The story of the rescue of twenty-two starving French sailors from Antipodes Island says that they tried every day to notify the world of their distress by releasing albatrosses with messages tied to their necks telling of the serious plight of the castaways.

The idea of using albatrosses as message carriers was undoubtedly suggested to the men by a remarkable incident which occurred nearly twenty-one years ago and is known to all mariners. On September 22, 1857, a dead albatross was found on the beach at Fremantle, Western Australia, around whose neck was fastened a bit of metal, on which had been scratched in French:

"Thirteen shipwrecked men took refuge upon the Crozet Islands on August 4, 1857."

The news was cabled around the world by Governor Robinson of Western Australia, and the French Minister of Marine at once ordered the transport Meurthe to leave Madagascar for the Crozetts to search for the castaways.

NEVER HEARD OF SINCE.

The Meurthe returned from her search to Madagascar on January 6, 1858. She found no human beings on the Crozetts, but abundant evidence that one of the four islands had recently been occupied, and under a heap of stones was a sheet of paper on which was written in French with lead pencil the details of the wreck of the ship Tamara, of Bordeaux, with thirteen men in the crew. The crew had lived on the island for nine months, and their food being exhausted, they were about to set out for Possession Island.

This island is eighty miles from Crozetts. The Meurthe at once went there and also to East Island, but found nothing, and the castaways have never been heard of since. It was quite certain that they were lost in the perilous passage to Possession Island.

These poor fellows never dreamed that eight days before they set out the bird they sent over the waters had finished its wonderful flight and told the world of the unhappy situation. The winged messenger had made a journey of over 2,000 miles with few chances to rest or the way. Naturalists and sailors have told us much of the albatross's remarkable powers and endurance on the wing, but no testimony to this fact will outlive the story of the bird that was the means of letting the world know that poor castaways in the waste of southern waters sorely needed succor.

A FISH STORY.

An old fisherman, while fishing one day, was surprised at hearing a voice, and on looking up he saw that his visitor was a stranger, and this was the conversation:

Stranger—How's luck, old man?
Fisherman—Well, pretty fair; I caught 47 yesterday and seventeen to-day so far.
Stranger—Do you know who I am?
Fisherman—Don't believe I do.
Stranger—Well, I am the game warden.
Fisherman—Mr. Game Warden, do you know who I am?
Game Warden—No.
Fisherman—Well, I am the biggest liar in the country.

DOCTORS SAID CUT OFF ZAM-BUK SAVED ODD FELLOW'S FINGER

"The only thing I can do now is to take the finger completely off. It cannot otherwise be cured." So said one of the leading doctors of Toronto to Mr. W. O. Edwards, P.D.C.R.A.O.F., P.G.M.I.O.O.P., the well-known Friendly Society leader, of Peter Street, Toronto. Zam-Buk proved otherwise. Mr. Edwards cut his finger badly and blood poisoning followed. He says: "The blood poisoning spread up my hand and arm and caused me terrible agony. After two months' treatment the doctor said there was no cure, and amputation would have to take place if I intended to save the arm. My hand at that time was all swollen up and discolored, and I had to carry it in a sling. I left that doctor and consulted another. After a few weeks' treatment he also told me that operation would be necessary. That night I bathed the wound and put on some Zam-Buk. I got a little sleep for the first time for many nights. In the morning the wound began to bleed instead of the foul discharging as in the past. This was a healthy sign so I went on with the Zam-Buk. Well, to cut a long story short, in a few days I put away the sling and in a few weeks the finger was healed completely. To-day that finger is as sound as a bell and I owe it to Zam-Buk. I spent over $20 in doctor's fees and yet Zam-Buk, at such a trifling cost, saved me from amputation."

Zam-Buk cures eczema, ulcers, cold sores, chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases. Also cures piles. All drug stores and stores for a box, or post free Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

The Most Popular Pill.—The pill is the most popular of all forms of medicine, and of pills the most popular are Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, because they do what it is asserted they can do, and are not put forward on any fictitious claims to excellence. They are compact and portable, they are easily taken, they do not nauseate nor gripe, and they give relief in the most stubborn cases.

The price, 25 cents, brings it within the reach of all.

THE PERISCOPE.

Under this name Commandant Soulie de Cenac of the French Legion of Honor has designed a pince-nez, or eye-glass, which enables the wearer to see at the same time on all sides, and even behind. This is ingeniously effected by means of reflections. At the same time the glasses are so constructed as to correct myopia, and other errors of vision. A use for the instrument that the inventor did not think of has been revealed to him by deaf persons employing it. They say that it increases their safety by enabling them to perceive the approach of dangers of which their ears give them no warning.

KING'S SNUB TO SCOTLAND.

Revenge Himself for Slight When Prince of Wales.

King Edward passed through Edinburgh the other day on his way to Balmoral Castle, his residence in the Highlands. When his train arrived at the station the Lord Provost and the Corporation were waiting to pay their respects.

But when the King was informed that the representatives of the citizens of his Scottish capital wished to pay him homage he sent word that he could not see them. They could see him through a window, though, calmly smoking a cigar in his royal saloon car and reading a newspaper.

The Scottish officials left the railway station in high dudgeon and their indignation was intensified on hearing that at the next stopping place the King got out of the train, received the local representatives and kissed a little girl who presented him with a bouquet.

The cause of the King's affront to Edinburgh was bitterly canvassed, and it was finally explained by a statement that forty years ago, when he came here as the Prince of Wales, shortly after his appearance in the celebrated Mordaunt divorce suit—at which, gossips loved to say, "he perjured himself like a gentleman"—he was hooted in the streets. He then swore that when he ascended the throne he would be revenged on Edinburgh and Scotland.

The rebuff to the Edinburgh city fathers is only a small part of his revenge. His selecting the title of Edward VII. of Great Britain is considered a deliberate insult to Scottish pride, for he rightfully is only Edward I. of Scotland, and his title falsely implies that Scotland always has been subject to England.

Moreover, he has altered the order of precedence, giving English peers precedence over Scottish peers even in Scotland.

Signals of Danger.—Have you lost your appetite? Have you a coated tongue? Have you an unpleasant taste in the mouth? Does your head ache and have you dizziness? If so, your stomach is out of order and you need medicine. But you do not like medicine. He that prefers sickness to medicine must suffer, but under the circumstances of the wise man would procure a box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills and speedily get himself in health, and strive to keep so.
