Indians Celebrate Opening Banff-Windermere Road

1. Indians, gaily caparisoned, await the judges' pleasure. 2. Lieutenant Governor Nichol smokes the pipe of peace—to the delight of the oldest members of the tribe (3). 4. Car-No-Sic-Kineet and the Indian chief.

THE Indian, though reticent and undemonstrative, is ever ready to show his appreciation of the fact that the pale face is a friend, a brother to him. More often than not, he takes advantage of his feted days to show this appreciation and good-will in simple ceremonies which honor the white man by bestowing upon him the name of one of their own, and a seat in their family and council circles.

The opening of the Banff-Windermere Motor Highway on June 30th occasioned the gathering of a large number of Kootenay Indians from various reserves, at Invermere, B.C. Here they entertained and were entertained by a host of visitors to the district who, having attended the opening ceremonies, were easily induced by the promise of a country journey for a few days. On the occasion, the Kootenay Indians, headed by Lieutenant Governor Nichol, who had officiated, with Lieutenant Governor Brett of Alberta, at the opening, by making him an honorary chief of their tribe. Robert Randolph Bruce, a leader in Windermere and Kootenay development was also asked to enter the circle, and after the smoking of the ceremonial pipe and listening to the history in the Kootenay language, was dressed in all the panoply of power, head-dress and beaded clothes, and accepted into the tribe as full chieftain, being given the name of Car-No-Sic-Kineet, which signifies "Red Sky", after a famous council chief of the tribe who has long since passed away. Mr. Bruce expressed his pleasure in a largesse of tobacco and a gift of a one-hundred dollar bank note for the celebration.

This being over the sports were resumed and prizes were awarded to the best-costumed Indian on foot, the best-costumed squaw, the best caparisoned Indian on horseback, and to others for neatness of topees and best travels and papoose in baby trap, and for their demonstrated skill in athletic sports.

Death came after a very short illness at the age of 62 years. The late Mrs. Clarke was a leader in all things pertaining to the good of the church and the advancement of the community. Symptoms Of Debility

How to Tell Whether Your Blood Needs Revitalizing

The symptoms of general debility vary according to the cause, but weakness is always present, a tendency to perspire and fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, sometimes black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, vertigo, wakefulness caused by inability to stop thinking and unrefreshing sleep. The cause of the trouble may be some drain on the system, or it may be mental or physical overwork, sometimes insufficient nutrition due to digestive disturbance.

If you have any or all of these symptoms try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the new blood courses through your veins there should be an increase in your appetite, a better digestion and soon a renewal of strength and vigor.

You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid, at 50c a box, from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WARNED BY PHONE

Telephone Transmitters Give Alarm of Breaking Dam.

Disaster May Be Averted by Spoken Word That Travels Faster Than the Flood.

Terrible disasters have been caused by the irresistible swirl of rushing floods, in which unsuspecting persons were caught without warning. In one instance, years ago, a gay party on a four-horse tallyho was enthusiastically exploring the wonders and beauties of Turkey Creek canon, near Golden, Colo. Gathering rainclouds failed to cast a shadow upon their high spirits, and no serious thought was given to danger from the rapidly approaching storm, because the tourists were not familiar with the characteristics of the local tempests, nor with the topography of the surrounding country.

The storm suddenly burst with great fury upon the unprepared pleasure seekers and the deluge of water caused them quickly to abandon the tallyho and hunt for shelter. Closely huddled against the towering sides of the canon, they soon realized, with anxiety, that they had not reckoned with the forces of nature. The terrific rush of water down the canon sides swept them from their feet, and down to the bed of the canon, where a torrent of water now raged. Despite their struggles, many of the party lost their lives, and those surviving were seriously injured.

Another instance was the great flood at Johnstown, Pa., and the more recent was the disastrous flood at Pueblo, Colo., where the toll of lives, and property damage, reached enormous proportions.

As a protection against such terrible events as these, a system of huge telephone transmitters and amplifiers has been produced which will throw the human voice a distance of four miles. Extensive tests have been made with this apparatus, which have proved the practicability and success of the endeavor. These tests were conducted in the Catskill mountains by a specially trained group of operators. A tower, thirty feet high, was erected to hold the gigantic amplifiers and the immense projectors which measured fifteen feet in length and four feet in height.

To determine just how far the human voice could be heard with these aids, was accomplished in rather a weird manner, because the time selected was at night. Four men took up previously agreed-upon stations, at distances of one, two, three, and four miles from the tower. As the time drew near for the experiments, the four men applied matches to specially prepared torches, which gave large flaring flames.

Meanwhile at the tower were gathered a party of men chosen to observe the tests, and who interestedly watched the tiny flickering torches in the distance. When the "zero hour," or time set for tests, arrived, the operator at the tower took his place before the transmitter of the apparatus, and in a natural tone of voice, ordered the far-off men to wave their torches.

Breathlessly the watchers at the tower peered through the inky blackness at the flickering points of fire, and the nearest torch was seen to describe vigorous circles in the air. Exclamations of satisfaction came from the watchers, which rose to a shout, as the second, then the third, and finally the fourth torch was seen to dip and wave wildly in the darkness, thus showing plainly that all the men had heard the command. The operator at the transmitter then spoke to the men again, in reply to their ready signals, and bade them wait for further instructions.—H. A. Lane in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

$100,000,000 for Toys.

The people of the United States spent more than $100,000,000 for toys and games during 1921. The National City bank announces that the factory value of toys manufactured here more than doubled when the war cut us off from Germany, formerly the chief source of our toy imports. In 1919, the value of toys made here was $40,000,000 as against $14,000,000 in 1914. Toy imports fell from $8,000,000 in the year before the war to $1,000,000 in 1918. In 1920 imports rose to $6,000, and this year to $10,000,000. Capital engaged in the industry here advanced from $10,000,000 in 1914 to $25,000,000 in 1919. Exports of American toys advanced from less than $1,000,000 in the year before the war to $4,000,000 in 1920.—New York Sun.

Wifely Solitude.

"Jack, dear," said Mrs. Youngbride, "I fear you are worrying about the household details."
"What do you mean, Helen?"
"You were talking in your sleep again last night and every little while you'd say, 'Give me some more chips.' You really must get your mind off the woodpile, dear."—Boston Transcript.

In Days Beyond Recall.

"Talking about expensive drinks," said Boozem, "what about the one in which Cleopatra dissolved the pearl?"
"That's nothing!" returned Jockley.
"I have put a whole mint in a julep myself."—Boston Transcript.
