EDITORIAL NOTES

The new Mayor-elect starts out with one consolation—he has not a press which is set against him. So long as he does just about what Queen Street tells him to do, he will be a hero and a success. Just as soon as he does the other thing, his military successes and his executive talent won't count for much.

About next December 24th, we will turn up some of the newspaper files and re-print what the soldier-labor candidates promised to do if elected and what they have, if permitted, done. The records will show whether they accomplished anything for either soldiers or labor that the Council of 1919.

Mr. Peter Grant can now write an essay on "How to make Councilmen without becoming one yourself."

New Councils start with new hopes, ambitions and resolutions. After fifty or sixty meetings have come and gone the comfort of the home fire-side will become like one of the blessings of life that you cannot attain.

And now gentlemen, (and lady), listen to the virtues of the gravel pit for a new Collegiate site.

Judging by the vote on the daylight saving bill everybody in this metropolitan centre doesn't want to get out of bed an hour earlier.

Now that the Bunting site has been rejected by the ratepayers would it not be better for the City Council to decide how and where it is going to get money to build a new Collegiate before it buys a site? There is no use getting property and paying interest for months before the funds can be obtained for a building.

WHAT EXCHANGES SAY

SIR WILLIAM OSLER

Sir William Osler, the great physician, lived to refute his dictum, that "it would be to the general good if men at 60 were retired from active work." He lived to round out 70 years, and was in active practice of his profession up to the last; he died in the fullness of his powers. The last 10 years of his life were perhaps his most fruitful years. Greater demand were made on him in the year period than ever had been made before, and he proved more than equal to them. The world of medicine would have been greatly the poorer if he had seen fit to retire at the time he fixed as the limit of usefulness.

Sir William lived to see men of 60 years and more jump into harness in the war emergency and keep the wheels of industry humming when youth was called to the colors. They proved their worth then, the oldsters beyond question. Without them in the factories and the fields, the armies could not have carried on to victory. If Sir William doubted their capacity, when as a man of 55 years he inveighed against them, he had no doubt when he had passed the time limit of his ruling and found himself laboring with them in the most exacting service. Age is a relative matter; it is of infinite variety and capacity. No dictum can stand against it.

AN IDEAL TONIC FOR WEAK PEOPLE

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS ACT DIRECTLY ON THE BLOOD AND NERVES.

Food is as important to the sick person as medicine, more so in most cases. A badly chosen diet may retard recovery. In health the natural appetite is the best guide to follow; in sickness the appetite is often feeble and disturbed.

Proper food and a good tonic will keep most people in good health. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the most popular tonic medicine in the world, harmless and certain in their action, which is to build up the blood and restore the vitality of the run-down system. For growing girls who become thin and pale, for pale, tired women, and for old people who fall in strength, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic. Thousands of people have testified to the health giving qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in many homes they are the only medicine used. Among the homes in which the benefit of this medicine has been proved is that of Mr. E. A. Underwood, Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Underwood says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with the most beneficial results. As the result of hard work I was very much run down, and my appetite was very poor. I got a supply of the pills which I used regularly for some weeks with the result that they restored me to my old time strength. They also proved a blessing to my daughter, who was in a very anemic condition, and who seemed not to get more than temporary relief from any medicine until she took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She took the pills for about three months, and is now enjoying the best of health. For these reasons I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"At the first sign that the blood is out of order take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and note the speedy improvement they make in the appetite, health and spirits. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a saving law into effect this year on February 1. No account is taken of complaints that French milkmen and truck garden farmers in the neighborhood of the big cities will have to get up an hour ahead of the sun's schedule in order to catch deliveries. That the United States is not now painfully short of coal is only an accident. We may run short almost any time, if the coal workers' unions take it into their heads to strike. Even when supplies are normal it is a waste to use coal to produce artificial light when sunlight can be drawn on free of charge for illumination during working hours.

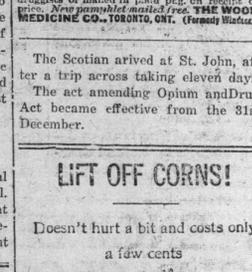

The cities can help themselves in this matter if they are willing to take the slight pains necessary to revive the day light saving system.

CURING LYMPHANGITIS

The "Monday Morning Disease" Affecting Horses.

Symptoms Described, and a Course of Treatment Suggested for Alleviating and Curing the Troubles Working Over Apparatus and Rhubarb Beds.

LYMPHANGITIS, a commonly called "Monday morning disease," is a common ailment in horses. Some horses are predisposed to the trouble and suffer after being exposed to slight exciting causes. It occurs in horses that are accustomed to regular work and high feeding, when such are given a rest for a day or longer and in the meantime receive their regular ration of grain, hence the name "Monday morning disease." It frequently being noticed on Monday morning in work horses that have stood idle and been well fed since the Saturday evening preceding.

It consists in inflammation of the lymphatic glands, usually those of the hind limb, but it is not uncommon for the fore limbs to be the seat.

Symptoms.—The first symptoms usually are rigors (shivering) followed by well marked increase of temperature; but as those symptoms usually occur at night they are not often noticed. The first symptoms usually noticed are well marked soreness and lameness, usually of a hind limb. From reasons not understood the right hind limb is more frequently involved than the near one. Pressure upon the inner surface of the limb from the sheath or mammal downwards reveals well marked soreness, and at first a beaded condition to the touch. If a fore leg is the seat this condition will exist on the inner surface of the fore arm. There is usually well marked increase in temperature, a full, rapid pulse and often more or less well marked labored breathing. Appetite more or less impaired, and in some cases colicky pains are noticed. The swelling of the parts usually increases rapidly and the beaded condition disappears, and there is usually a decrease in soreness and lameness. Exercise reduces the swelling and lameness, but they reappear during the night, and as each time this occurs there is a tendency to organization of some of the exudate which may result in a chronic big leg, hence it is not wise to exercise or work until the acute lameness has disappeared.

Treatment.—If colicky pains be well marked, give a colic drench, as one oz. each of laudanum, sweet spirits of nitre and tincture of belladonna in a pint of water. Follow up with a brisk purgative of 1 to 2 drams aloes (according to size of patient) and two drams ginger. Give the purgative at first in colicky pains and not well marked. Follow up with four drams nitrate of potassium twice daily for two days. Keep the patient in comfortable stall excluded from drafts and bathe the affected leg frequently with hot water. Apply a wetting rub well with a stimulant liniment, as one made of 2 oz. oil of turpentine, 1 oz. tincture of iodine, 1/2 oz. gum camphor, 6 oz. alcohol, and water to make a pint. Feed bran only until purgation commences, then feed reasonable quantities of hay, but no grain. Continue treatment until the acute soreness and lameness have passed, then give regular work or exercise. The swelling will reappear at night for a few days. Prevention consists in either materially reducing the grain ration on days that the horse is not working, or seeing that he gets exercise in some way.

Repeated attacks usually result in a chronic big leg, called elephantitis, which is incurable.—J. H. R., Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Working Over Apparatus and Rhubarb Beds.

The handling of apparatus and rhubarb beds in the spring of the year is largely dependent on the situation of them and the time that the owner has at his disposal both in the fall and spring. Where properly handled the apparatus beds in the fall of the year should have had all tops removed and burned and the soil ploughed over the top of the row so that a furrow would be left to remove the water.

In the spring of the year the apparatus bed, if ploughed in the fall, should be ploughed back and then given a thorough disking so that the soil would warm up quickly, especially around the crown of the plant. After this cultivation should be practiced until the 1st of July when cutting should cease and the bed receive a heavy coating of good manure and a considerable quantity of commercial fertilizer.

Rhubarb beds in the fall of the year should be manured heavily with well-rotted manure after the tops have been removed.

Rhubarb beds in the spring of the year are generally given a cultivation and much of the rougher manure carried from the roots of the plants and the crown. This permits the warming up of the soil and consequent early growth.—A. H. McLean, Vegetable Specialist.

Clover Seed and Hay Crop.

A crop of seed and of hay can be made from the second crop of clover just as well as only one crop, according to the experience of a Pennsylvania farmer. In his practice the crop is cut when most of the heads are filled and brown. It is then cured in the usual way for hay and when good and dry the hatters will get out all the seed as well as if the stalks were dead and weatherbeaten. The resulting hay, while not of the best quality, is very good and the cattle will eat it even to the last bit.

NURSE KILLED BY STREET CAR

MISS ALEXANDER, ON FIRST DAY OF DUTY, COMES TO A TRAGIC END.

TORONTO, Jan. 3.—Struck by an eastbound Bathurst street car on Front street, near the corner of Spadina avenue, Miss Lavinia Alexander, a nurse of the Victorian Order, was instantly killed Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. It was Miss Alexander's first day on duty with the order, and she was proceeding out on a case when the accident happened.

Motorman Alex. Mitchell, 127 Perth avenue, and Conductor Thomas Patterson, who were in charge of the car, were held while an investigation was conducted but were afterwards released. The dead nurse came from Thornbury, Ontario, and was 40 years of age.

Miss Alexander ran in front of the car apparently to get to the stop at Spadina, and the motorman had little opportunity to stop in time. The emergency brake was applied, and the power reversed, but Miss Alexander was already pinned under the front truck wheels. After the body had been released Dr. J. F. L. Kilgus pronounced life extinct, and the body was removed to the morgue.

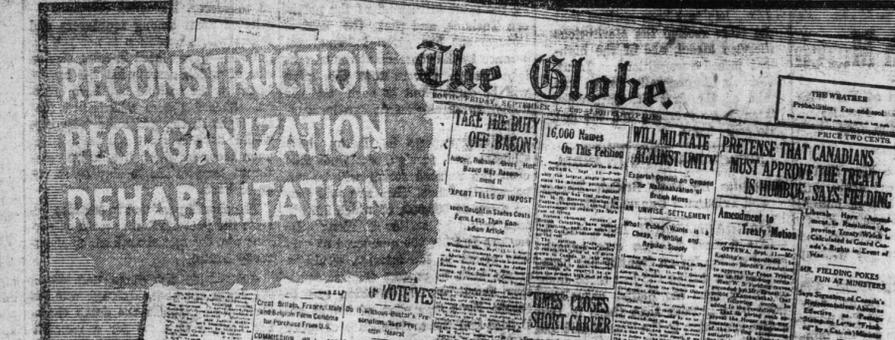

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this oldtime recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. A well-known downtown druggist says "everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful." New York funds were steady on the local market at 8 9-16.

Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before

Not since the pre-Confederation days has the political life of Canada been surcharged with so much uncertainty. Great events in Canadian politics are about to take place. The reorganizing and rehabilitating of great political parties is in progress. New leaders are appearing. The order is changing. All things are becoming new.

THE next two years will be a momentous period in the political life of the country. Reconstruction is a greater task than Confederation.

How will you take your place in the affairs of the nation? What opinions will you form? How will you cast your ballot intelligently if you do not keep in touch and inform yourself on the great questions of the day by reading a daily newspaper national in viewpoint and international in scope?

This is the task and responsibility of The Globe—to give all the news, progressive views, and space for opposing opinions. Such was the threefold purpose of George Brown. His ideal was a Great Family Newspaper with a place in every home. That is The Globe's ideal today.

It is not a party organ, but a medium for the development of public opinion and an advocate of reform. It is the servant of the people from whose needs it draws its inspiration.

To be informed of the progress of events, you should avail yourself of The Globe's great news gathering organization. For an analysis of these developments, and clear, sober thought upon them, read its editorial discussions from day to day. They are written by close students of economics, politics, industry, commerce, social reform and religion.

And further, what The Globe has been in the past is a sure guarantee of what it will be in the future. The personality and ambitions of its founder ever dominate the activities of its publishers.

Therefore, nothing will be left undone to make The Globe the newspaper that George Brown would have it be and to earn a place for it in every Canadian home.
