And the Lord God Almighty, whose ministers we are, and the stewards of his mysteries, establish your Throne in right-ousness, that it may stand fast for evermore, like as the sun before Him, and as the faithful witness in heaven. Amen.

XVI.

THE HOMAGE. The Exhortation being ended, all the Princes and Peers then present shall do their Homage publicly and solemnly unto the King. The Archbishop first shall kneel down before His Majesty's knees, and the rest of the Bishops shall kneel in their places; and they shall do their Homage together, for the shortening of the ceremony, the Archbishop saying: I Randall Archbishop of Canterbury [and so every one of the test, I. N. Bishop of N., repeating the rest audibly after the Archbishop] will be faithful and true, and faith and truth will bear unto you our Sovereign Lord, and your heirs Kings of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and yond the Seas. Defenders of the Faith, and Emperors of India. And I will do, and truly acknowledge, the service of the lands which I claim to hold of as in right of the Church. So help me God.

Then the Prince of Wales, taking off his coronet, shall kneel down before His Majesty's knees, the rest of the Princes of the Blood Royal, being Peers of the Realm, kneeling in their places, taking off their Coronets, and pronouncing the words of Homage after him, the Prince of Wales saying:

I N. Prince, or Duke, &c., of do become your liege man life and limb. earthly worship; and faith and truth I will bear unto you, to live and die, against all manner of folks. So help me God.

Then shall the Princes of the Blood Royal, being Peers of the Realm, arising severally touch the Crown on His Majesty's head and kiss His Majesty's, left, cheek, After which the other Peers of the Realm, who are then in their seats, shall kneel down, put off their Coronets, and do their Homage, the Dukes first by themselves, and so the Marquesses, the Earls, the Viscounts, and the Barons, severally in their places, the first of each Order kneeling before His Majesty, and the others of his Order who are near His Majesty also kneeling in their places, and all of his order saying after him:

I N. Duke, or Earl, &c., of N. life and limb, and of earthly worship, and faith and truth I will bear unto you, to live and die, against all manner of folks. So help me God.

The Peers having done their Homage, the first of each Order, putting off his Coronet, shall singly ascend the throne and stretching forth his hand, touch the Crown on His Majesty's head, as promising by that ceremony for himself and his order to be ever ready to support it with all their power; and then shall he kiss the King's cheek.

While the Princes and Peers are thus doing their Homage. the King, if he thinks good, shall deliver his Sceptre with the Cross and the Sceptre or Rod with the Dove, to some one near to the Blood Royal, or to the Lords that carried any other that he pleaseth to assign, to hold them by him.

And the Bishops that support the King in the procession may also ease him, by supporting the Crown, as there shall be occasion. At the same time the choir shall sing this anthem: Psalm xxxiii, 1, 12-16, 18-22.

Rejoice in the Lord, O ve righteous; it becometh well the just to be thankful. Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance. The Lord looketh from heaven; he beholdeth all the sons of men. From the place of his habitation he looketh upon the inhabitants of the earth. fashioneth their hearts alike; he considereth all their works. There is no king that can be saved by the multitude of an host; a mighty man is not delivered by much strength. Be hold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear Him; upon them that hope in His mercy: deliver their souls from death; and to feed them in the time of dearth.

Our soul hath patiently tarried for the Lord; for he is our help and our shield. Our heart shall rejoice in Him; we have hoped in His holy Name. Let Thy merciful kindness, O Lord, be upon us, as we do put our trust in Thee. Amen.

Archbishop, standing before the When the Homage is ended, the drums shall beat and the trumpets sound, and all the people shout, crying

God save King GEORGE. Long live King GEORGE. May the King live for ever. The solemnity of the King's Coronation being thus ended, the Arch-bishop shall leave the King in his throne and go to the Altar.

XVII. THE QUEEN'S CORONATION.

The Queen shall arise and go to the steps of the Altar, supported by two Bishops, and there kneel down, whilst the Archbishop saith the following prayer: ALMIGHTY God, the fountain of all goodness: Give ear, we beseech thee to our prayers, and multiply thy blessings upon this thy servant Mary, whom in thy Name, with all humble devotion, we consecrate our Queen: ghostly and bodily; make her a great example of virtue and piety, and a blessing to this kingdom; through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Father, in the
