New Stock of Sunset Soap Dyes at

Nhd. Scotch Cured Herring.

Although there is apparently a better feeling in the trade of New York so far as Newfoundland Scotch cured herring is concerned, the market shows little improvement. Sales continue on the hand-to-mouth order and there is practically no inquiry for new stocks from any quarter. The fact that offering of consignments and liberal offerings of stock at low prices continue to come forward has further weakened the market. Those holding heavy quality Scotch style herring firms in their ideas as to prices, but the rank and file of the trade are concerned only with the sale of stock which has remained on their hands longer than they would like. There is still a great assortment of variable quality in New York. Some lots have been offered as low as $16 for large, and it is reported that actual sales of matties have been made as low as $12.50@15, according to quality. The supply in New York at this time is large, and because of the utter lack of active demand the stocks seem almost unyielding.—N. Y. Fishing Gazette, May 10.

Beautiful Guadeloupe.

GRAPHIC PEN PICTURE OF THE FRENCH WEST INDIES.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—On board the schooner Imprimus, commanded by Capt. M. Pelley, somewhere in the Caribbean Sea, I write this note or sketch of our trip since leaving St. John's last summer. Meanwhile apologizing for all my deficiencies and inaccuracies, trusting my readers will forgive same as it is written on the spur of the moment, and without previous study. On August the fifth, 1918, we sailed from St. John's for Martinique, a historic island owned by the French in the West Indies, and arrived there nineteen days later after discharging cargo and docking for repairs we again loaded for Martinique, a beautiful city in the south of France, but found to our chagrin we were not allowed to sail owing to some Admiralty rules, which we were ignorant of until ready to clear. We were now detained in the placid harbor of Port au France two months longer, which caused our alert and energetic captain no small annoyance and dissatisfaction when the order came to free the port. During our detention at Martinique we visited St. Pierre and gazed upon the ruins of that once gay city, now sad and silent after being lashed into submission by the consuming fire of Mount Pelee. Above the historic ruins, under which thousands sleep their last watch, Mount Pelee still towers and smokes and docket for repairs we again loaded for Martinique, another French island in the West Indies, but not so vivid in tragic events as Martinique, and a spot which we have not yet reached. A description of Martinique is altogether over my head and merits the treatment of more skillful hands than mine, yet in passing I beg to add that its architectural beauty and grandeur surpasses everything in structure I have ever seen, with its magnificent hotels and cafe's filled with luxury-loving men and women—in short—a city of beauty and feverish human activity yet with those ever-courteous and polite, refined qualities for which the French people are noted throughout the world.

April the 10th, 1919, and here we are in the placid and picturesque harbor of Guadeloupe, where I will conclude this inadequate pen-rough of our trip. Everything looks beautiful here with many kinds of fruit trees in blossom all around the harbor, and the water is like transparent glass, with not a ripple upon its surface. In closing I wish to add that Wallace Pelley, the Capt. son, is chief navigator, and has been correct in his nautical guidance of the ship which speaks well for a young beginner. "Long may his big jib draw," is the wish of all the crew.

Yours truly,
M. L. BUTLER.

During the tobacco fire at Norfolk, Va., recently, fish and eels that came into the water company's dock became intoxicated with the strong mixture of tobacco juice that flowed into the river from the warehouse of the Imperial Tobacco Company as the result of water being pumped into the building. The fish floated on top upside down.

The unusual sight attracted the attention of nearly a hundred boys and girls, who threw missiles at them.

Nhd. Missionary Returning Home.

Word was received in the city last evening that the Rev. S. H. Soper, a Missionary of the Methodist Church, had arrived at Toronto on his way home from China. As many of our readers will know, Mr. Soper has laboured in China for the past seven years, holding the responsible position of Director of Industrial Education in the city of Jeshow, in the province of Sz Chuan, right in the heart of China.

Mr. Soper left his work in this far-off field early in February and has been journeying towards home ever since that time. He is now on a year's leave of absence and will spend most of his time studying Industrial Education at institutions in the United States and Canada. During the next month he will be in constant touch with the Methodist Foreign Mission Board at Toronto, working on the great problems of our Christian responsibility to the millions among whom he has been sent to labour in the Gospel. If all goes well Mr. Soper expects to arrive at St. John's about the end of June and spend a few weeks here with his family.

It is most interesting to know that the work carried on by Mr. and Mrs. Soper in far-off China, is supported by the boys and girls of St. John's Methodist Sunday Schools, and so the world grows smaller, the children of this old city making direct contribution toward the salvation and uplift of the children of China. A very hearty welcome awaits the good Missionary and his wife to the old home town.

Beauty and the Beast.

The above is the title of an operetta to be presented by the girls of Bishop Spencer College in Canon Wood Hall to-morrow evening. Great pains have been taken by the trainer and performers in preparing this attraction and the proceeds being in aid of the College Improvement Fund, it is expected that a very large audience will attend the play. Candy will be sold during the evening, so do not carry any chocolates, please, as the young ladies are making ample provision to cater to those who have a sweet tooth.

BE SURE AND KEEP WEDNESDAY NIGHT, MAY 21st, open for the SCOUT CONCERT which will be held in LECTURE ROOM OF COCHRANE ST. CHURCH at 8 p.m. ICE CREAM AND CANDY FOR SALE. ADMISSION 25 cts. ENTRANCE FROM BANNERMAN ST.

WANT MORE ELBOW ROOM.

Owing to lack of space at our present plant and the daily pouring in of orders, we are compelled to remove to our new modern spacious plant at Hutchings' Street (formerly known as Botwood Hall). After this date customers will please send their tires to be vulcanized to our new plant.

We have the honor to vulcanize the first airplane tires in Newfoundland (the Handley-Page) and the work has been pronounced perfect.

Mozart's Twelfth Mass.

The musical treat of the season takes place in the Methodist College Hall, this evening, when the St. John's Choral Society presents that magnificent oratorio "Mozart's Twelfth Mass." A chorus of some fifty voices, the best vocal talent of the city, will take part, the soprano being Mrs. H. H. Small; Contralto, Miss Mary Ryan; Tenor, Mr. K. Trappnell; Baritone, Mr. F. Ruggles; Organist, Mr. Gordon Christian. The Conductor is Mr. F. J. King.

The second half of the programme consists of miscellaneous selections admirably chosen, and there is no doubt that the whole presentation will be a revelation in finish, style and technique.

The Company, after many vicissitudes and delays have at length been able to reach that state of perfection which warrants them in making their appearance before an audience, and we have no hesitation in saying that to-night's performance will be second to none.

British Built Passenger Air Lines.

The Daily Telegraph of recent date has a description of the new passenger air liner recently constructed at Milton, England, by a Bristol company. This airplane has a seating capacity for 14 passengers in addition to the necessary staff, on its trial it carried 12 passengers, pilot and assistant, and attained an altitude of 10,000 feet in 7 1/2 minutes with an air speed of 125 miles an hour. The passenger saloon is scientifically ventilated to avoid drafts, and straps are provided for passengers, as on this class of machine rolling and pitching is scarcely noticeable. The machine measures 29 1/2 feet high and from tip to tip measures 31 1/2 feet. Its weight is 6,000 pounds, the power being sufficient to lift this load to a height of at least three miles and at 10,000 feet give the airplane a speed of 110 miles an hour. The engine houses are mounted on the middle of the three pairs of wings; on each side there are two horse power engines, the total power being 1,640 horse power. Light can be maintained by any two of the four engines should the others break down.

There is no difference in food value between white and yellow cornmeal. Taffeta motor coats are lined with tiffon or cotton voile. A gown of black taffeta is finished with a cream-point d'esprit.
