THE GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY.—The Hamilton Times says the condition of the Great Western Railway is undergoing constant improvement. Many miles of steel rails have been placed in position, and by the year 1874 it is expected that the iron rails will have been entirely removed, and the more desirable ones substituted. Owing to the excellent state of the road, the time of the Chicago night express, from Suspension Bridge to Detroit, has been reduced to eight hours and five minutes.

REB RIVER FUR TRADE.—The fur trade for this year is now closed, the traders having all arrived, disposed of their furs and returned to the plains. The buffalo robe collection has been good, but the collection of fine furs has been light. We had the pleasure of looking over part of the collection of fine fur of old Eschscholtz, the bride away. The presents received by Miss Nilsson on her marriage amount to $12,000. The Princess of Wales sent a diamond bracelet to her.

MURDER IN HALDIMAND TOWNSHIP.—A terrible murder took place in Haldimand Township Sunday afternoon, causing great excitement. The following are the particulars, as near as can be learned: A young man named English, coming along the road driving, espied the deceased man, named Ryan, sitting on the fence in company with another man, name unknown. He alighted, and coming up angrily to where Ryan was sitting, they had a few words concerning a woman whom they had quarrelled about; whereupon English drew a knife and stabbed Ryan in the chest, when the man who was with Ryan knocked English down. English regained his feet and fled. Ryan died in four or five hours. Both men are not over 20 years old. The constables are after English all day.

ATTEMPTED MURDER BY INDIANS.—An Indian well-known in the neighborhood of Oneida town by the name of Bob, was nearly killed on the farm of Mr. Wm. Faircloth, a short time ago. For several days he had been chased by three other Indians also of Oneida, whose character is notoriously bad, for, it is alleged, accusing them of improper conduct toward Bob's wife. Their names are Fish, Abram, Jun., and Abram, son, and father. When they found Bob near Thorndale on Thursday night they attacked him with an axe, making two or three horrible gashes in his forehead and the top of his head, and considered they had killed him. They dragged him into the woods, and hiding him behind some undergrowth left for other purposes. Bob soon began to revive, and in the morning heard teams passing on the road, the driver of one of which he hailed. It proved to be a son of Mr. Faircloth, who, seeing the condition of the poor Indian put him in his wagon and brought him to Thorndale. There Dr. Foster dressed his wounds. Being able then to proceed, he was shipped to this city, where he has been left of sight, and it is not known whether anything will be done in the way of capturing and punishing his would-be murderers. London Advertiser.

Bumper Luck for the Colonel. To the Editor of the Mercury. Sir—The ball rolls well in the North, and everything seems favourable for the Colonel in the coming struggle; no more, we feel perfectly confident of putting him in at the top of the poll, and a large majority to spare. I accompanied the Colonel in his canvass through Luther, and we found the electors all on one side, and the hearts and hands of the people were warm towards him, and every man was pleased to give the Colonel his support. The ratepayers of this section feel great confidence in him, that he is the right man in the right place, and, if elected to the House of Commons, would look after the interests of the Riding, and especially of those who are poor and stand most in need of rightful and needful help, for, sir, the man who chopped down the forest and reclaimed the wilderness is too often forgotten when he should be gratefully remembered, and his rights trampled under foot, as has been the case with our present member during the last five years. Now, however, he is about to meet his due reward, which will indeed be a rich one, if the sister Townships do their duty as effectually as Luther will do hers for the Reform cause. We feel, sir, that the Riding is well tired of "hunches" indeed it is played out with us. Mr. Drew is scuffling through the Riding, like a door, from house to house and will not face the music fairly as a gentleman ought to do. Mr. Higginbotham is just the sort of man we want to represent us in Parliament, and we fully intend to put him there. Again we call on our sister Townships to help us to roll in future be safe from Tory attacks with all their attendant jobbery and corruption. Yours truly, Luther, July 29 1872. AN ELECTOR.

MR. ROSS'S MEETING IN PILKINGTON. The supporters of Mr. Ross in the Botham settlement, Pilkington, held a meeting in the School house on Monday evening. It having been announced that James Young, M. P. for South Waterloo, would be present, there was a large attendance of the intelligent yeomanry of the section. Mr. Donald Wallace was appointed chairman, and Charles Nicklin Secretary. The chairman introduced Mr. Young in a few brief and appropriate remarks.

Mr. Young on coming forward was greeted with applause. He spoke eloquently and ably for an hour on the great questions now agitating the country, and was listened to with the closest attention. He presented a formidable bill of indictment against the Dominion Government, and proved from facts and figures that it was corrupt, extravagant, and in more than one instance had wantonly violated the constitution, as in the Nova Scotia subsidy, the giving so many representatives to Manitoba and British Columbia, and the control it had assumed, without Parliamentary check, in the management of the Pacific Railway. He also instanced the needless and wasteful expenditure of money in building the Intercolonial Railway by the long route, which entailed an expenditure of eight or ten million dollars more than would have been required had the shorter and better route been chosen. He strongly denounced the conduct of the Government for its cunning evasion of the law in paying members of Parliament by the month, instead of by the year, for services supposed to be rendered. He showed from parliamentary returns how the public expenditure had risen immensely in every department of the Government, how the public debt had increased at a fearful rate, which was due to the reckless management of the Finance Minister. In this connection he referred to the charge which had been brought against him in the Guelph Herald, of stating in a paper which he wrote for the Canadian Monthly Magazine that our commerce had largely increased and was continually expanding, while in a speech in the House he had stated that the financial policy of the Government was injurious to the best interests of the country, and which, if persisted in, would lead us into debt, and it may be financial ruin. He showed that there was no inconsistency in this, for a country might, and in the case of Canada is, commercially prosperous in spite of the Government, while at the same time the policy of that Government was calculated to retard its progress and involve us in wasteful expenditure and debt. He concluded a vigorous and effective speech by bearing money to the high character of Mr. Ross, and urged the electors to every proper effort to return him by a large majority.

Mr. James Fahey (who is now known throughout the Riding as the turncoat) was then permitted to speak on behalf of Dr. Orton. He went at it like a steam engine, opened his battery of words, and fired off his adjectives at the rate of a hundred and fifty a minute. He did his best to meet Mr. Young's arguments, but entirely failed to answer or refute them. Still he labored on in great mental distress until Mr. Fahey came to his relief, and facetiously asked him about his own conversion; whereupon he at once dropped the subject under discussion and entered into a long and labored argument to prove his own consistency. The whole defence was a lamentable failure, and feelings, this latest born of the Tories, after saying a word in favor of Dr. Orton, retired.

Mr. James Massie was then invited to speak, and on rising, was loudly cheered. He made a short and excellent speech, in the course of which he knocked the bottom out of Mr. Fahey's arguments. He remarked, as a most significant feature of this contest, that there was not a single influential Conservative in Fergus or its vicinity working for Dr. Orton. This was a convincing proof that they had no confidence in him, that they did not consider him the proper person to represent them, and therefore that the electors should follow their example and elect him to stay at home.

A young gentleman from Fergus named Kelly then asked to be heard in defence of Dr. Orton, and the audience being good natured, and willing to give the Tories every chance to speak (a privilege which has more than once been denied Reformers at Dr. Orton's meetings) allowed him to have his say. After wandering from one subject to another for about half an hour he got on to militia matters, but soon lost himself among the guns and batteries and ammunition and camp kettles, and after exhibiting a good deal of patience the audience kindly informed him that he had better stay among these formidable implements of warfare, and give place to Dr. Orton, who had just come in from a meeting he had been holding at the German settlement.

The Doctor then said his lesson with tolerable fluency, but he blundered terribly in his facts and figures, and after a very lame speech he pleaded weariness and retired.

Mr. Young was then asked to wind up the discussion, which he did in a most effectual manner, and completely riddled the arguments which the Tory speakers had advanced on their side. A more effectual exposure was never made, and Dr. Orton felt so keenly that he asked to have a few words of reply. The audience did him more than justice in granting it, but after some explanations he was beginning to read some extracts from John A.'s speech about Scott being yet a Conservative, when (it being nearly 12 o'clock) he was told this was introducing new matter which would not be allowed. He then charged the meeting with attempting to stifle discussion, but this was so barefaced that even the Doctor's half-dozen supporters he had brought with him could not stand it, and so he left.

Mr. John Smith of the Observer then made a few good points in his short speech, after which a motion of confidence, Mr. Ross was moved by Mr. Telfer, seconded by Mr. Larter, and carried unanimously. Votes of thanks were then tendered to the speakers and chairman, and after three cheers for the Queen, three for Ross, and three more for Young and Massie, the meeting, which was most orderly and quiet throughout, dispersed.

GUELPH VS. Guelph was victorious at every range, and led almost at every round. The weather was most propitious, and everybody enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. We hope to have another friendly encounter with our Galt friends, and trust the pleasures of the occasion may be as great as they were yesterday.
