BRANT.

Albert Pearson, for assaulting his sister in 1890 was fined on Saturday in Brantford $100 and costs, the sister not wishing to see him more severely punished.

Brantford's city extension has been officially proclaimed in the Ontario Gazette.

Fourteen years ago an agreement was made between the Brantford Gas Company and the present lessees, by which the latter leased the works for fourteen years, with the right of renewal for seven years on terms to be agreed upon. The lease provided that gas should be supplied at $3 per thousand feet, but since then two reductions have been made, one to $2.50, and a second to $2. The term of the lease has now expired, and a renewal has been arranged for. The company makes some reduction in the amount of rents, and the lessees are to make corresponding reduction in the price of gas, equivalent to 25 cents per thousand, or to $1.75 per thousand net. For burning the price will be $1.25.

Brantford will get $143 for Robinson's street license.

On Friday Constable Cook, of Paris, took William Johnston, an old timer, to Brantford to serve 42 days or pay a fine of $21. There were two charges against him for being drunk and disorderly, and the other for using insulting language. It is only about a week since Johnston was discharged after serving twenty days.

The death of Hiram Westbrook occurred on Friday at his home in Mount Pleasant from paralysis. Deceased was 82 years of age, and one of the early pioneers of Brantford and Brantford townships. He was a son of Alexander Westbrook, one of the first settlers in Brantford township.

He had a large and highly respected farm in the community in which he lived.

W. Thompson is a gay and festive Parisian who travels at a rapid gait, and has landed in the Brantford jail. He left that institution a few days ago, but has been taken back again. William was drunk and disorderly, and not content with these two accomplishments, he ended up by assaulting Constable Cook. He will languish for 21 days on each count.

About Hot Weather. Marcus Daly, the rich miner and craft politician of Montana, stood in front of the Auditorium yesterday when the sun's rays were hottest, says the Chicago Herald.

Hewas waiting for a carriage and wishing for winter. It seemed as if every acquaintance that said something to him said something about the warm day, and this was becoming tiresome.

Presently a fresh young man with a salmon-colored suit and a silver-headed cane came out of the hotel. Notice the famous Montanain trying to cool himself with a handkerchief, he said:

"Good morning Mr. Daly."

"Morning."

"Well, isn't it?" asked the politician, as he almost looked through the young man.

"I didn't quite get you," and he put his hand to his ear, and said:

"I said, and the fellow yelled, 'It's hot, it's hot, it's hot!'"

"Step into the hotel a moment." The two men walked inside the hotel, and Mr. Daly said: "You have known me for
