Paris Joyful and Convinced That Situation Is Splendid -British Helped.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Sept. 8 .- 9:40 a.m. - The public is waiting breathless with the hope that the allies have finally taken the offensive, but the cautious tone of the official communications issued from France indicates that the forward movement of the allies is only a feeler to ascertain the reason for the strange eastward swing of the German right. No matter, however, what their movement may mean, a decisive battle cannot be long postponed. Meantime the western valley of the Seine, recently over- Rome Tribuna States That have taken the army medical service rin by Germans, has been cleared of the my and has been given a breathing reached New York September 3, brought the first reports to this country of an extensive landing of Russian troops at French ports. The strict British censorship prevented the transmission of this intelligence by cable, and for this reason the news had to come by word

Reports Corroborated. Letters from London dated August 28 corroborated the reports of the Mauretania passengers. From these two sources it was gathered that England had placed more than 80,000 Russian troops in France by means of transports sent north of the Scandinavian peninsula to Archangel, where the Russians embarked. The movement was surrounded with the greatest secrecy. According to one version the Russians were landed from the transports direct at Belgian or French ports. Another said that they had been disembarked at Aberdoon, Scotland, thence taken on special trains across England, and later onveyed by ship to Ostend. Could Be Done Again It was pointed out at this time that if this movement could be accomplished iccessfully once there was no reason why it could not be repeated and that a Russian force much in excess of 80,000 en might well be landed in France by Paris. September 8. -6:40 a.m.-Paris is optimistic this morning. Even the surprise at finding that the Germans have been able to traverse nearly the entire Compiegne country does not shake confidence in the outcome o the great battle which, after all the manoeuvres, is being likely to ebb and flow for a week before fought on ground selected by General Joseph Joffre, the French commander-in-chief.
