

The ADVERTISER'S PICTORIAL PAGE

The Cameronians caught in the rain during the army maneuvers at Sussex, England. They dare not leave their position, for news of the enemy has arrived.

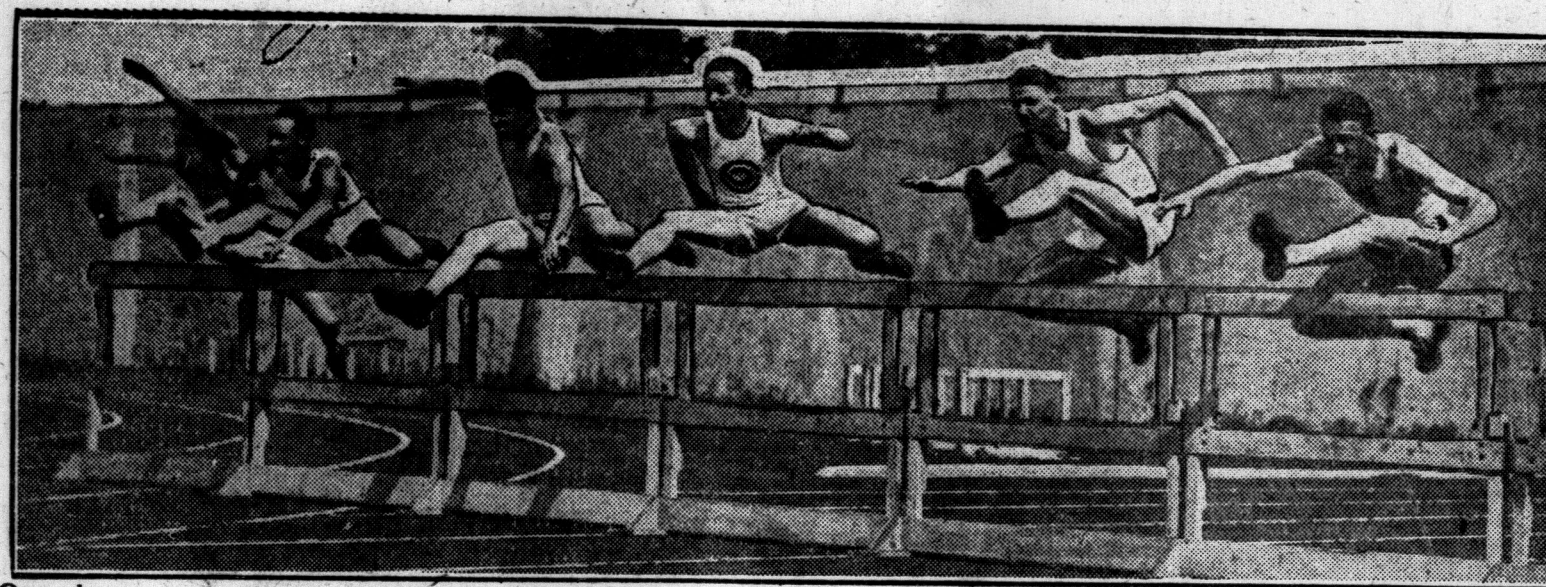

Miss Mildred Maconachy, a bobbed-hair beauty from Pennsylvania, who will attempt to win honors at the national beauty contest at Atlantic City next month.

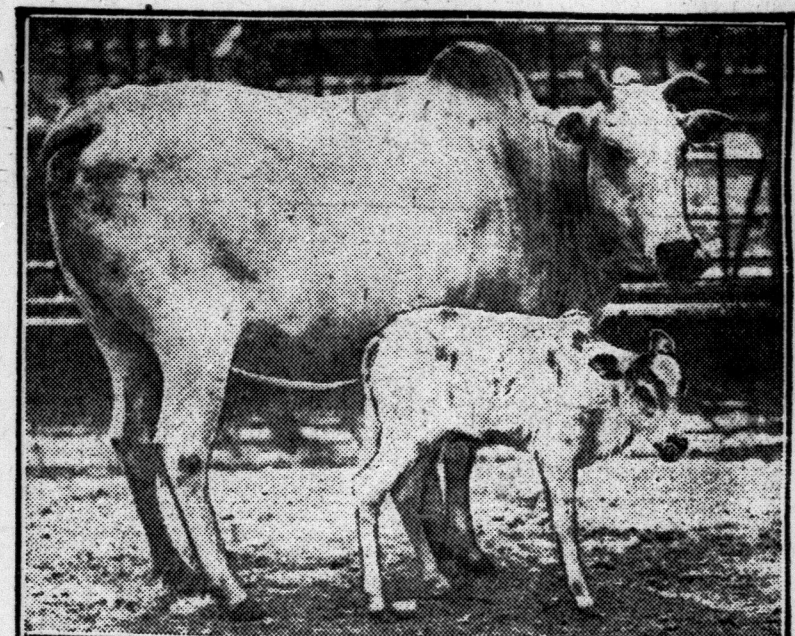

"Birdie Alcyo" and "Little Doctor" in a neck and neck finish in the Stonebridge handicap at the London Trotting Club's recent meet at Greenford Park.

Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine giant, picks a "husky" sparring partner in preparation for his pending world's championship fight with Dempsey. The little fellow is Baron Poncl.

Over the top in the 120-yard hurdles for the junior championship of the national A.A.U. The event was won by D. Kinsey, the third man nearest the camera.

A regular orthodox zebu, or sacred cow, from India had a son born in New York's Central Park zoo. It very much resembles a barnyard Jersey.

The first of the heats for the British American cup for yachts of the six metre class was sailed off Ryde under the management of the Royal Thames Yacht Club.

This smart winter turban is trimmed with hand-made flowers and leaves of silver and opalescent metallic cloth.

The Chinese doll—something new in handbags as being carried on the streets of Washington.

"Miss New Bedford," a Massachusetts contestant in the national beauty contest at Atlantic City next month.

"Ponchatrain Billy," the alligator, is reputed to be 110 years old, but he can still carry along his young master, Francis V. Ernest, jr., at a pretty fair rate of speed.

Moses W. Dykaar, noted sculptor, has finished a bust of Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor.

Raymond Poincare, premier of France, engaged in an informal discussion with M. Bernard, minister of fine arts and a third member of the French cabinet.

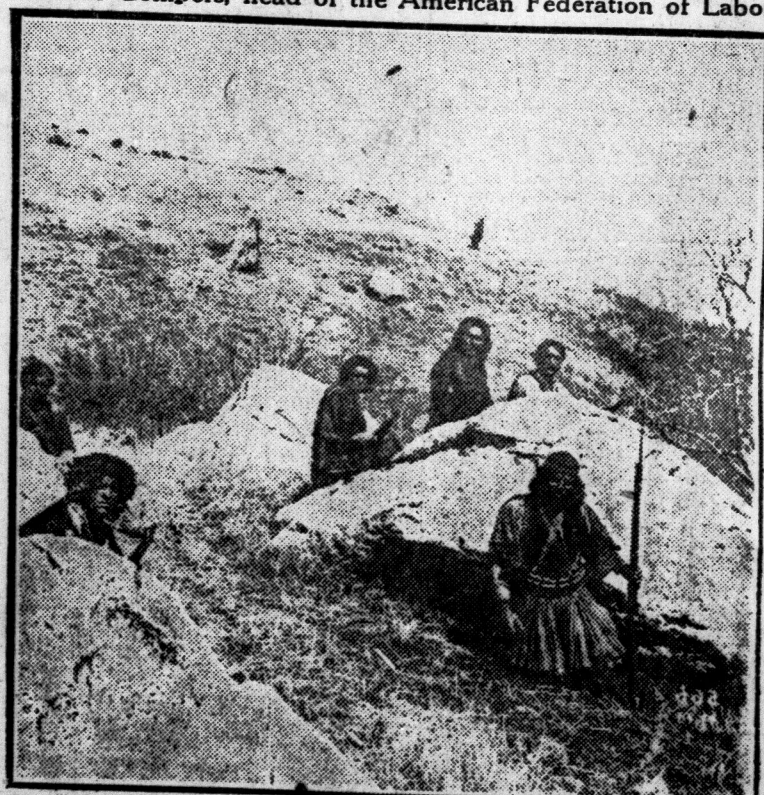

Johnny Jones, jr., has ambitions to be a king of the midway like his father.

It doesn't look much like him, but this is Charlie Chaplin as he will soon appear in a serious drama written and directed by himself.

This beach policeman is stumped. His duty is to see that bathers are properly attired.

Greek mountaineers of the type said to have murdered the five members of the Greco-Albanian frontier mission for which Italy is demanding such stern retribution.