THE KENNEDYS.

Arrested by a Police Officer and Taken to the Provincial Gaol.

Writ of Habeas Corpus Applied for but Refused by Mr. Justice Walkem.

As Improper to Belittle the Legislature as to Belittle the Courts of Justice.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

NEW WESTMINSTER, April 20.—Provincially, the Kennedys, acting for the Sergeant-at-Arms, came up from Victoria, this morning, with the Speaker's warrant, and the Kennedys surrendered to him about noon.

They were taken to the provincial jail, where they will remain until to-morrow, when they will be removed to Victoria, and appear at the bar of the House. Application was made in the Supreme Court by Mr. Whitehead for Mr. Justice Walkem for a writ of habeas corpus on an affidavit that the Messrs. Kennedy made that they were illegally detained in prison by the jailer of this place.

The judge first remarked that it was unusual for the deponents to swear to matters of law, and he, therefore, wished to know what facts they had. His attention was then drawn to the Speaker's warrant, and he was stated that the arrest had been made for an alleged contempt committed before the recent Act respecting the privileges of the Legislative Assembly had been passed.

In honor remained in the province on the affidavit, and even if it had been, he would only look to the question of arrest and detention as disclosed by the Speaker's warrant.

Mr. Whitehead submitted for his consideration the statute in question as having been recently passed, and contended that the speaker had no power under the act to issue the warrant.

The judge held otherwise, and declared that the act was perfectly constitutional and within the rights of the Legislature; that, as to the suggestion that it was retroactive and only applied to periods subsequent to its passage, he might agree with Mr. Whitehead, because it was a canon of construction, with respect to statutes, and especially penalties, that if they were intended to be retroactive, the Legislature must in express words say so.

This was in with the spirit of the constitution. What might be innocent in its bearings when committed, or might be dealt with by the courts, e.g. in case of libel, might be made criminal legislation, be made more criminal in its character and subject to punishment of a kind unknown when the act was committed.

With this, however, he considered he had nothing to do at present, as the warrant before him was for an alleged contempt, and was perfectly good on its face. Even if the warrant had been made retroactive to the Legislative Assembly to decide the Messrs. Kennedy were crying out before they were hurt, and it would be time enough for them to apply for redress in the Supreme Court for redress in case the Legislative Assembly decided that the act was retroactive, and in consequence punished them. Similar acts had been done in other provinces and their propriety was unquestionable, for the dignity and influence of the Legislature ought to be upheld and protected.

The Legislature was the lawmaker and the Judiciary were the administrators of the law, and both these branches of the constitution should, therefore, be upheld and protected. He knew nothing of the alleged libel and had not read it, and even if he had it would not concern his province to have given any opinion upon it. Surely what was right in all the other provinces of the Dominion was right in this province. There was therefore no impurity in the legislation referred to. He refused, therefore, to grant a writ at all.

MR. BROWN ON THE ESTIMATES.

To THE EDITOR.—Sir, although a stranger to the province, I was a very interested listener to the debate in the Legislative Assembly, this afternoon, on the Supplementary Estimates, and I must confess to be very much struck by the manner in which Mr. Brown, member for New Westminster city, the manner in which that gentleman expressed his views on the subject of the estimates, and had I not been struck by the manner in which that gentleman expressed his views on the subject of the estimates, I must confess to be very much struck by the manner in which that gentleman expressed his views on the subject of the estimates.

The first question which that honorable gentleman so ably worked out was that the estimates of the Province had not only recognized their marital responsibilities, which was beautifully equated by proving that the Indian population was increasing. The second question went to show that the provincial estimates did not agree with the Dominion estimate, but, oh! what a treat it was to hear it proved that after all the one exactly measured the other!

Then again what a treat it was to hear his deep logical reasoning, which showed conclusively that, although population should not be taken into consideration, that the government should be kept out of office and that the people should be kept out of office. But, sir, I should be trespassing too much upon your valuable space if I went further into the details of a speech which was so masterly. Mr. Brown not only an orator, but as a logician and a debater, I have never seen a more brilliant and logical speaker than that gentleman. I feel sure I could place my finger on the future professor of logic in the Legislature of the day.

RATHER "OBFUSCATED."

To THE EDITOR.—Sir—Being a patient listener, I had courage enough to remain in the House while the member from Westminister City, Mr. Brown, was speaking on the Supplementary Estimates yesterday. That honorable gentleman commenced his remarks ostensibly as an attack on these estimates, but unfortunately for himself, he got diverted from his purpose by coming across a paper that was presented to the House by Mr. Brown, and he proceeded to show that the estimates of the province were not correctly made. He commenced with a report of a committee of the Executive Council, which sets forth that the population, as given by Bulletin No. 1 issued by the Dominion, is a gross understatement, and it concludes by stating that all calculation of population should be based on the census of 1881, as given in Bulletin No. 1.

Let Mr. Brown try to demonstrate, by an interminable jumble of figures, that the Government was trying to prove that the population of the Province was increasing, and that the local Government had proved a decrease of the population. He said that the redistribution did not, or should not, depend on population, it was a crying shame to depend on the population, which was being proved to be a considerable decrease. It was very evident that Cariboo was entitled to more members, and he felt that, possibly, Victoria was under-represented.

He was quite convinced that, as the Government had proved by this paper that the population was at least 17,000 in 1881, while in 1891 it was 50,000, they had demonstrated that the population had fallen off, and that as the population was increasing, and the population was at least 3,000 to each member, therefore it was a gross understatement, and it was a crying shame that, on such a showing, a redistribution should be made. He said that Mr. Brown, at about this point, got so confused with his figures that he had to sit down to recover himself.
