THE MYSTERIOUS NO. 1. THE SPORTING WORLD 'Ice races are to take place at Kingston March

Woodstock defeated Ingersoll at curling by 1 hots on Wednesday.

It has been decided that boxing and wrestling ar sgal in Boston, Mass.

H. Duncan Ross has defeated Bauer in a secon restling match at Jackson-ille, Fla. The members of the Quebec legislature given $50 for icebeat races at Quebec.

Tom Allan is giving boxing exhibitins in St. Steinitz, the champion chess player, will visit Philadelphia this week and play a series of games with local talent. The Princess of Wales has had a bowling alley built at Sandringham, and is greatly devoted to the game of ten-pins, which, under such fashionable auspices will doubtless experience a boom. auspices will doubtless experience a boom.

Mr. James Watson, formerly the publisher of Town end Country, in this city, is the fudge on non-sporting dogs at the great international bench show at Washington, being held this week.

Messrs, Nole, McConnell and Gilkenson, of Meaford, Ontario, have purchased of Mr. Simon Langley, of Mount Forest, the chestnut trotting-bred horse Valentine, by Erin Chief, dam by Royal Revenge, for $30.0. General Count Palikao, minister of war for SS. Wo.

Wallace Ross has accepted a proposition from the "Point of Pines" management, Chelsoa Beach, M.ss., to row Charles E. Courtney at that place next summer, for a tpurse of $1,000. Courtney writes that he is agreeable if a referee who will judge the race upon its merits can be decided upon.

The Management of the property of the 27 true. writes that he is agreeable if a referee who will judge the race upon its merits can be decided upon. The Ham iton Spectator referring to the 2.27 trot at Woodbine park, won by General Beamish, says: "If the judges had declared all bets off, as when Little Billy was pulled here, they would have done quite right. Wouldn't it be a good thing to shut out Hodgins and his horse altogether from trotting meetings in this country?"

7. The secretary of the Battle Creek Bleycle club has received an invitation from the secretary of the Chicago Bleycle club to join them in an extensive tour through Canada van Detroit, starting June 20.

The members of the club are delighted with the prospect of such a trip, and probably all wil attend. A large number of bicyclists from Detroit is expected to join the party.

§ A deposit of $200 a side has been left with the Boston Herald to bind a match for $1,000 s side between John S. Prince, the champion bicyclist, and Charles H. Leroy, the long distance horseback rider. The place of racing is yet to be named. The race is to continue for s x consecutive days, ten hours each day. Prince is to have a companion, with whom he will alternate, and Lerey to ride as many horses as he chooses.

An English sporting critic says:—"The man who drives with hounds has the satisfaction of feeli g that, although from ill-health or other causes he may never again ride in a run, he has still some personal interest in hunting; and, as fox hunting forms the chief topic of conversation in the country during the winter months, it is as well to know a little about it, and to have something to do with it, even if it be in rather an indirect manner."

England howls over the wild hiberality of Lord Hastings, one of the richest men in that country, because, when his hostler was married, he honored the event by giving a barbecued ox, 1000 loaves of bread and 1000 pints of beer. The St. Louis Dispatch fluds that the total expense of this outburst of generoeity was nearly $150, but, as it considers this was unexampled generosity in an English nobleman, it lets the applause go on.

A Sketch of the Supposed Chief of the Irish Envincibles.

From the New York Daily News.

James Dyer Macadarras, who, according to the cable despatch is suspected of being 'No. 1," or chief of the invincibles, is an adventurer of some note. He was born in the north of Ireland, and gained notoriety for the first time during the France-Prussian war. He was last heard of during the recent Egyptian war, where it was said that it was his intention to raise a legion of Irishmen to zerve under the fiag of Arabi Bey. During the France-Prussian war and after the French troops had met with many reverses, Macadarass waited upon General Count Palikao, minister of war under the control of traine and offered to raise and control of the count Palikao, minister of war under the company and offered to raise and control of the count Palikao, minister of war under the company and offered to raise and control of the country and control o

General Count Palikao, minister of war under the empire, and offered to raise an Irish brigade to be attached to the French army corps. The minister of war jumped at Macadarras' proposition, and without delay commissioned him to go to Ireland for that purpose. Macadarras represented to General Count Palikao that he had held a commission in the Anglo-Indian army. Armed with an autograph letter of the Empress Eugenie he arrived in Ireland, Armet Macadarras Eugenie he arrived in Ireland, Armen Macadarras Eugenie 120 and 206 and 206
