WHY IT IS WRONG. Why is it wrong for banks to lend money on bank stocks? (1) Because it impairs the security which noteholders and depositors are entitled to, and which they think they enjoy, but which is reduced by exactly the amount so loaned. The principal security that a bank offers its clients is its paid-up capital. But the moment the bank lends money ou its stock is reduces its capital by the amount of the tion could not be maintained throughout close, and consequently the security that it the line and we should speedily be flying has to offer. Another way of putting it is along our own road to the Rockies. that the bank becomes its own stockholder where it loans on its own stock. A bank has a paid up capital of a million. This million is supplied by the public. But if the bank loans $900,000 on its stock, the public have no interest, or only a one-tenth interest in it, and the bank has really only a capital of $100,000, having paid the other $900,000 to the original shareholders who have all "got out" so to speak. Instead of the million the depositors and noteholders have only the one hundred thousand security. Because it enables the bank to in crease its circulation without increasing its security. An example : A bank has a paid-up capital of a million and a half, on which it is by law allowed to issue a certain amount of bank notes; it decides to double its capital and to allow the new shares to the old holders at a certain premium; the old holders do not care to take it, but the ingenious manager says, "Oh take it-we (the bank) will carry it for you n a slight margin;" they take it, but pay in no money, or rather they pay it up in full and immediately borrow the whole amount back less the margin, putting up the new stock for security; the ingenious manager is quite plessed, for has he not twice the paid-up capital of yesterday, and can he not double the amount of his note issue of yesterday? Certainly he can and he does. But is there any additional security for this additional note issue? Not a dollar. There has been an expansion of the bank's liability without a corresponding increase in its security. And it is just as bad if the advances are made on the stock of other banks for the impairment of security, and the expansion of liability are just as pronounced, though i is manifested in connection with the combined bank capital of the country, and not in connection with a particular bank.

Our statesmen are rather noted for their reticence on public affairs when at home, but when abroad they usually talk quite freely. Sir Alexander Campbell furnishes the latest instance of this. He was in Chiago the other day on his way to British Columbia, along with Mr. Collingwood Schreiber and others. Sir Alexander said the object of the trip was two-fold-"pleasure and inspection of the railway improvements of British Columbia. We shall make a thorough investigation, and will report the result of our observations to parliament." The worthy minister of justice would not express an opinion of American railways as compared with those of Canada, saying that he thought there was room for improvement in all systems. Regarding the new governor-general he talked very freely almost enthusiastically. He said that the objections to Lord Lansdowne had arisen chiefly from prejudice against his father who was a large land owner in Ireland, and against whom a few unreasonable Irishmen were very bitter. "The son has inthese lands," said he, "and should not be held responsible for the alleged misdeeds of his father. The tenantry and land laws have been very much changed since his father's time, and the young lord is said to be a kind and considerate landlord. The opposition to him has been engendered very largely by the intemperate utterances of an Irish paper at Montreal, and the people of Ottawa and Montreal, and the people of Ottawa and solicitude. The same eternal is sympathy and solicitude. The same eternal is power to whom man owes his origin is also because of the constitution of evil is a mystery that passes human understanding but as a matter of experience we know if there was no evil to overcome there would be no progress, no sense of a higher development. Man does not come into the world in an adult and perfect form, but as a weak, helpless creature, an object of compassion, is sympathy and solicitude. The same eternal is power to whom man owes his origin is also Montreal, and the people of Ottawa and other places look upon his coming with the kindest feelings. The new governor-general is personally a very pleasant gentleman, and one who will be received with favor in our society. He is in the prime of lite, being about 37 years of age, and has an interesting family. Notwithstanding the stories to the contrary, Lord Lorne and the stories to the contrary, Lord Lorne and the sities. stories to the contrary, Lord Lorne and the

A postmaster in an important New Mexico town has reversed the eternal order of things politically in the great republic. Instead of being an office-seeker, or at least of being an office rethiuer, he has made nine desperate attempts to resign the postmastership. He wrote to all the high dignitaries of the postoffice department at Washington tendering his resignation, but could not induce any of them to reply that the department would accept. In one of the epistles he saked the postmaster-general if he had sufficiently recovered from his fourth of July spree to intimate that his letters had been fyled in the department. The post-office people now look upon the bound-ourosity that they have written to the territorial delegate from New Mexico to supply them with a comprehensible history of this sufficiency.

GOSPEL TRUTH'S" TEMPERANCE

To the Bditor of The World. SIR: Your correspondent under the sumed name of Gospel Truth still clings to his temperance fallacies. He does not seem to see the disagreement between his method and the method of the great Exemplar of mankind. Although by his silence on the subject one is inclined to infer that Gospel Truth is impressed with the idea that Christ is the compensation for sin, and that but for sin it would be impossible to conceive or know Christ. Making people religious by act of parliament is on a par with making people temperate by the same method. Both are equally futile and unjust. Again what moral right has a person to be obliged to pay $1.50 for an article by another person, when if free, he can buy the same article for $1. The cars hold a certain number of passengers comfortably, and the strength of the horse is quite taxed enough to draw a complement. Why should the conductors allow—and indeed often in the case when they solicit—passengers to get on a full car? It is against all sense of justice, and the life of the horse must surely be shortened by this excessive strain. Is there a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals in this city? and if so, where are the officers?

As far as can be discovered the Twelfth of July, upon which the rank and file of the orange body are accustomed to speak their grievances very freely, went by this year without any embarrassing declarations of independence. In Toronto we believe, as pointed out by The World this morning, the brethren were as silent as the grave on as pointed out by The World this morning, the brethren were as silent as the grave on the orange bill, and the orators of the day in other places who spoke on the subject at all appear to have confined themselves to denouncing Mr. Blake for voting against the bill. This is at least a safe way of treating the subject, but what the public would like to know is whether or not the order is to continue to be in the future what it has been in the reat—a solid and subservient conservative

Catarrh—A New Treatment.

From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Aug. 24.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been schieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of two thousand patients treated during the past six months fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is uone the less starting when it is remembered that not five per cent of patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the catarrh is practically cured and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by hin two years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present senson of the year is most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Mr. A. H. Dixon, 305 and 307 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for his treatise on catarrh.

In some form, Biliousness. Jaundice.

Constipation, or Headache.

Pain in the right side which is very sensitive to pressure. The phin will sometimes appear to be iocated under the shoulder blade. There is also irr gular appetite, flatulency, a sense of fullness in the region of the scomach, and sooner or later the skin and whites of the eyes, become 'gellow, the stools clay colored and the urire 'gellow, depositing a cypious sediment. There is 'generally a furred tougue, and at times diarrhea, and at othere obstinate constipation,' in short, disordered functions of the stomach and entire tract of the bowels.

These symptoms, if not speedily grappled with, will result in the most serious consequences to the whole system, prostrating it and destroying all its vitality and energies. When the liver becomes torpid or glv.s evidence of undue activity, a few does of Kidney-Wort and a little caution in relation to a diet, will restore the patient to health and vigor as if by enchantment.

Most remedies used for disorders of the liver and bile act on the wrong principle, as they are simply cathartics, and merely carry off the accumulated secretions.

poisons that have been the cause of all this disease and suffering will be thrown off, new life will be infused into every organ, and the health giving forces wil sgain exert their power.

It is well known that the kidneys are nature's sluiesway to wash away the debr's and impurities tha are being constantly developed in every human system. If they fail to act freely, health will soon suffer. But the kidneys cannot perform their own proper offices and at the same time eliminate those impurities that should pass off by free action of the bowels. How important it is then to have a remedy

Gentlemen: I have just commenced on my second bottle "Kidney-Wort." I have but little faith in either dottors or medicine, more particularly in medicines extensively advertised. However, I have suffered perhaps as no other man has suffered, from liver disease—brought on by maria. I suffered for years, till it became chronic, simply from neglect. I have taken quinine till my head swam, and my nerves were totally unstrung. Last year I went to Europe to try and better it; hut came back worse. In reading many of your advertisements I came to the sonclusion, as a dernier resort, to try the "Kidney Wort," and did so. After the fourth day I got an attack of the old malady. I prayed God to relieve me by death, but kept to the medicine as ordered, and I want to tell you to-day, and all sufferers from Liver disease, that the last three weeks I have enjoyed such good health as I have not had in many, many years. I simply write you this that other sufferers may benefit b, it. Ve y Iruly yours, HENRY WARD,
