If Trinity were affiliated with the provincial university and her graduates made graduates of the provincial univer ity, as would be the case, the anglican church would then have a woice both direct and indirect in the regulation of the provincial university and University college, and in general in the whole educational system of the country. Looked at in the proper light, there would be no sacrifice on Trinity's part in making such a change. On the contrary it would inrease her influence and her usefulness.

Were it not for the inordinate selfishness of Dr. Widdi-field—the ambitious gentleman above alluded to—and the inspired zeal of some of his injudicious friends, Mr. Edgar would, under the circumstances have been the unanimous choice of the stainadh re-formers of West Ontario. I will now as briefly as possible discuss the claims, real er supposed, Dr. Widdi-field has on this or any other constituency, and more especially on one which is well known to be a "grit hive." This can best be done by a passing reference to certain impt r act episodes in the doctor's political career. North York has always been looked upon as a safe reform constituency from William Lyon Mackenzie's time to the present.
