

UMBRELLA SHAWL, CROCHETED

Use one pound of Shetland wool chain eighty-seven for the neck and one treble in each chain.

2d row- One treble in first three treble in each chain.

2d row—* One treble in first three trebles, five ir in the 4th, one ir in next three, two ch. miss one ir, repeat from * ten times, the last point ending with three tr, turn. This row divides the shawl into cleven gores or waves.

3d row—Miss one ir, one ir in the next four, three ir in the next four, miss one, two ch, repeat, 4th row—Miss one, four ir, five ir in next four ir, miss one, two ch, repeat.

5th row—Miss one, five ir, five ir in next five ir, miss one, five ir, five ir in next five ir, miss one, two ch, repeat.

6th row—Miss one, five ir, five ir in next five ir, miss one, two ch, repeat.

7th row—Miss one, six ir, three ir in next six ir, miss one, iwo ch, repeat.

8th row—Miss one, six ir, five ir in next six ir, miss one, two ch, repeat.

8th row—Miss one, six ir, five ir in next six ir, miss one, two ch, repeat.

Keep on widening like this un'il the shawl is the required length. For fringe, use the yarn double. First row, turn the wool over the hook, draw up a loop through the next stitch, draw this loop under the yarn that is on the hook, repeat around the shawl in the second row, work up the loops through the Lack horizontal loops of the previous row. For the tassels, pass six strands of wool of equal lengths through a stitch of chain, plait them for about three-quarters of an inch down, then knot the strands and cut the ends even.

HOMEMADE GOLF CAPE.

Golf capes are the simplest things imaginable to make and can be put together at home and made to look as well as the ready-made ones. One of these popular wraps just finished by a young woman of the writer's acquaintance is really about the prettiest and most atunning garment of the kind seen thus far in this vicinity, and her success in its manufacture is encouraging many of her friends to embark on a like enterprise. A study of the prevailing styles showed that the clumsy and useless hoods were out of date, and that the fringe trimming was also getting to be a thing of the past. These Golf capes are the simplest things imand useress noots were out of date, and that the fringe trimming was also getting to be a thing of the past. These items greatly simplified her task, and a 25-cent pattern gave all other needful directions. Her material, of a medium shade of brown, with the loveliest blending of light and dark browns on the inside, cost a trille over 110, and it was a better quality of goods than that used in any of the high-priced capes shown this season. The fronts she turned back a few inches to show the plaid side, and of course the high spring collar was made double, with the two plaid sides put together, and only the plain have in sight. Round the lower edge, she merely turned up one fold of the cloth on to the wrong side, and finished with several rows of machine stitching, while a gun metal clasp which had done duty on a belt all summer serves as a fastening at the neck. The very latest finish for the bottom of golf capes, however, is leather binding put on with two rows of machine stitching. Thin leather of any kind or shade is used, according to the colorings which prevail in the goods, but the bright patent leather is by far the most effective, and harmonizes well with anything. No hem at all is required with this finish, the cape being cut to exactly the right length, and the leather, in theb and a half wide strips, bound over the rsw edge.—[A. T.

Biscuit Work-This is novel and very pretty. For one biscuit cut a section of cotton cloth four inches square, in the center put a tuft of cotton batting and with a stitch fasten in place. For the outside, cut a piece of silk, satin, plush or velvet, five inches square. In the middle of each side take a plat to make it fit the cotton and baste the two raugly together. When there are a sufficient number of biscults to make the size desired sew them together, line with sitk or slikolene and bind with broad ribbon matching the lining in color. This is a pretty pattern for afghans or slumber robes and utilizes scraps.—[Sarah E. Wilcox.

Cracknels-One lb flour, 1/2 lb each of sugar, currants and butter, season with mace, a little sweet cream and as many heatch eggs as will make the whole into a rather stiff paste. Make in round balls, dip or roll in powdered sugar and bake.—¡Emma Clearwaters.
