

ish ship-of-the-line,
ter at Trafalgar,

expedition against,

sits to, for water
ons, 653-655, 672;
ent to, before Tra-

ship-of-the-line,
before Cadiz and 48, 256, 259.

ler which Nelson
elf in his corre-
dy Hamilton, 531;
laughter prior to

its inhabitants to
; retaken by the
son reconnoitres,
efficient blockade
son's method of 576, 584, 589.

general plan of
y conceived, 696-
-701; contrasted
of the battle as anecdote concern-04; narrative of,

. George.

ornal war with al, for the pur-0, 410; Nelson's
es with, 350, 351. mas, nobly sup-
initiative at the t, 231-233, 237-
companies Nelson
dition, 253-261;
257, and admir-
-261, 524; sent of ten ships-of-
son in the Nile 279; mentioned,
; his ship, the
nately grounds
tion at the Nile,
e of, 311, 413;
n the waters of 5, 347, 355-356,
408, 415, 429;
Nelson on his
sent by Nelson
to Alexandria,
lote of, 352;

letters of, to Nelson, 403, 429; Nelson's petulant reproach to, 428; strong remonstrances of, to Nelson, against quitting the blockade of Malta, 429; return of, to England, 440; impression of, that Nelson will not serve again, 440; advice to Miss Knight concerning the Hamiltons, 446; letter of Nelson to, concerning the sailing of the Baltic fleet, 461; beginning alienation of Nelson from, 499, 523, 524, 525, 549; St. Vincent's opinion of, 504, 523.

Tunis, Nelson's mission to, in 1793, 97-99; maintains formal war with Naples and Portugal, for the purposes of piracy, 350; Nelson's diplomatic difficulties with, 350, 351.

Turkey, co-operates with Russia and Great Britain in the Mediterranean, 1798, 335, 346, 348, 359, 360, 368, 418-420; Nelson's sympathy with, against Russia, 348, 350; makes separate convention of El Arish with French, regardless of her allies, 421, 422; interests of, threatened in the Morea and in Egypt by the French in 1803-5, 562-564, 571, 584-586.

Tuscany, attitude of, towards France, in 1794, 133, 137; importance of ports of, to France, 134; difficult neutrality of, 158, 198; Nelson imagines a French enterprise against, by sea, 183, 185, 186, 187; control of, obtained by the French, 198; Nelson's operations on the coast of, 201; blockade of Leghorn and seizure of Elba, 202; political condition of, in 1803-5, during Nelson's Mediterranean command, 559.

Two Sicilies, the Kingdom of the, (Naples and Sicily,) Nelson's successful mission to, to obtain troops for the occupation of Toulon, 93; attitude towards France, 1795, 135; sends flotilla to aid Nelson, but too late in the season, 164; makes an armistice with France, 1796, 198; Nelson's interest keenly excited for, 210, 211; makes peace with France, 1796, 214; dissatisfaction with course of France, in 1798, 273; attitude of, towards France, during the campaign of the Nile, 281-283, 290, 291; Nelson's anxieties for, 290; Nelson's extreme interest in, throughout his life, after his return from the Nile, 316, 332, 353, 357, 366, 393-396, 398, 407-402, 408, 409, 410, 437, 562, 566-570, 529-631, 645, 648-649; joy of, upon receipt of the news of Battle of the Nile, 317, 318; strategic weight of, in the counsels of Bonaparte, 334; Nelson persuades, to declare war against France, 333-336; overwhelming defeat of, and flight of Court to Palermo, 337, 338; restoration of the royal authority in Naples, 409; refusal of the king to reside in Naples, 408, 409; occupation of Adriatic coast of, by Bonaparte, 1803-5, 557.

VADO, Bay of, occupied by Austrians in 1795, 151; best anchorage between Nice and Genoa, 159; importance of, to France, 159, 182, 183; evacuated by Austrians after the Battle of Loano, 171, 177; held definitively by French, 190.

Valetta, French in Malta shut in, 335, 349, 350, 410; Nelson's difficulties in maintaining the blockade, 410-412, 414-416; urgency of Spencer and Troubridge upon Nelson to await the capitulation of, 428, 429, 431-434.

"Vanguard," British ship-of-the-line, Nelson's flagship at the Battle of the Nile, commissioned, 265; dismantled off Corsica, 277; at the Battle of the Nile, 298, 300; arrives at Naples, 317; Nelson's flag shifted from, to the "Foudroyant," 363.

Vansittart, British envoy to Copenhagen in 1801, 465-467; report of Danish defences, 467; explanations conveyed from Nelson to the Admiralty by, 467.

"Victory," British hundred-gun ship, Nelson's flagship at Trafalgar, Jervis's flagship at Battle of St. Vincent, 235; Nelson sails in, for the Mediterranean, 554; his long stay on board of, 593; returns to England, 675; again sails with Nelson, 692; at Battle of Trafalgar, 719, 725-727, 731-735, 736-739, 741. Villeneuve, French admiral, com-