With the Japanese question disposed of today, that of India will come before the international labor conference tomorrow morning. For India the special committee on hours of work recommends a 60-hour week instead of the 72-hour week now prevailing. Discussion, it is expected, will be brief, and there is every hope that the conference will clear up the remainder of its business by Saturday evening. Considerable work, however, remains to be done. Prohibition, But Further Restrictions. London, Nov. 27.—The imminence of the government bill concerning the dr.nk trade produces a number of press comments today. The Daily News, which at one time refused liquor advertisements, and declined to print the racing news, but has since modified this attitude, thinks extreme proposals either of the trade itself or of the prohibitionists will never command popular approval. It suggests that the 1915 report showing state purchase to be both practicable and desirable, should be taken from pigeon
