Ald. Crane Gives Some Old Facts Which He Claims Are Still Up to Date

ABOUT THE GAME WORKED IN TORONTO

Is This Any Worse Than Other Cities Action to Be Taken—City Hall Matters.

There is a disposition being manifested at City Hall to reopen the elevator question.

Wonder what men Hanlan had on when he roasted Chairman Dunn and Ald. Bowman at the Property Committee about keeping so discreetly and unusually mum of late on their theme of Cattle Market removal.

Ald. Hanlan feels after his treatment about the position of the Harbor Trust that he is under and threatens some hot revelations. Ald. Bowman and Dunn have been cross-examined by their constituents since "Nell" cut loose on them.

The "Dives" Committee.

Ald. Lynd and his "dives" committee undertook their very ticklish work yesterday afternoon. They couldn't do much for it does not lie in the power of the City of Toronto, it appears, to prevent an expanding evil in the middle. The difficult part of it was that the committee had to depend entirely on hearsay knowledge. They declined that the Ontario Government's officers must be derelict in their duty, and will wait on the License and Police Commissioners to show them that public sentiment would be behind them if they put a foot on the neck of illicit dives.

Chairman Lynd called it an injustice to licensees, as reported as temperance people, that illicit selling should not be stopped.

He felt sure the police must know what was going on, but why they did not stop it he did not know.

Ald. Hubbard called his attention to the fact that the city had no power in the matter, but a combined public sentiment would avail much. He laid the blame for the evil on the Ontario Government, although the city participated in license benefits. He wanted plain clothes detectives put on to do their duty, the police should not be turned into spies, although the knowledge they must possess could be made helpful.

Crane Has Some Old Facts.

But Ald. Crane came loaded with startling facts. They were old, but still ap- plicable. His knowledge was restricted to "bluff" groceries, places where a few dollars' worth of groceries were kept just to keep up appearances. The facts he recalculated had been given him by a re- putable and well-accredited liquor dealer some time ago, but, in spite of the License and Police Commissioners' warning, the illicit trade had increased since then. The dealer referred to had sold one Saturday night after 5 to one "John" alone three 10-gallon kegs of rye and one 10-gallon keg of malt.

On Monday morning following he had delivered one 10-gallon keg of rye and five gallons of malt. To another place he had sold on Saturday 10 gallons of rye and 10 of malt and on Monday five of rye and three of malt. In collecting the money on Monday, he had collected some 30 new dollars from slinking places. The kegs were delivered in barrels, the dives hiring express wagons.

Besides this, Ald. Crane covered the alarming information that there were licensed places also which were not observing the law.

No Worse Than Other Cities.

"But," apologetically spoke up Ald. Sheppard, "we are no worse than any other city of our size with right license laws."

Ald. Crane: "We claim to be better. Ald. Sheppard agreed with Ald. Lynd that unlicensed places hurt the city. "But," said Ald. Lynd, "we are not putting it down."

"No," returned the other, "but we are certainly doing better."

Ald. Lynd felt that the Police Commissioners could stand a little shaking up, too. Ald. Crane went on to say that the Police Commissioners were not doing their duty to time, too, but Ald. Sheppard was inclined to think it unnecessary, "for the licence laws are better observed to-day than ever before."

Nevertheless Ald. Crane, who was once a drummer, told how he had never spent a Sunday in any hotel in the province with but one exception, where you could not get a drink.

Ald. Sheppard: But you're not applying that to this city?

Ald. Crane: No. There is an excuse for licensed people selling after hours, when they are using unlicensed people doing it.

Ald. Sheppard: Yes; but the hours are under a ban, and you don't make a right. The Local Government should take this matter in hand. The ones fault on them.

What Made Hubbard Soliloquies.

But it was agreed that the Police Commissioners were not doing their duty. Ald. Crane framed a motion to have the committee "wait on the Police and License Commissioners to urge that they enforce the law against the illicit sale of liquor in this city."

Ald. Hubbard was inclined to think this was an insinuation against the licensed men, but Ald. Crane replied with the argument that if the city did not do it then they need not put it on.

The committee will carry out the resolution.

Mr. Tarte is Keeping "Tab."

The announcement made by The World exclusively some months ago, from official information through a private source, that the Minister of Public Works was alive to the importance of the selection of a new labor was confirmed yesterday by a letter from Mr. Tarte, as follows:

"I fully expected to be able to visit Toronto during this month, and it is the reason why I delayed answering your communication of Jan. 11, asking for an INTERVIEW WITH MYSELF AND OTHER MEMBERS OF THE GOVERNMENT ON BEHALF OF THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF TORONTO, OF THE BOARD OF THE CITY OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE HARBOR OF TORONTO.

"I quite recognize the great importance of the improvement of the Harbor of Toronto from the west, and I am anxious to do something in my power to promote the development of that traffic."

"I expect to be here during the whole of next week, and if you kindly write me a day or two in advance, I will keep in readiness for the members of the deputation who wish to interview me, and other members of the Government."

Upon receipt of this City Solicitor Cas-

well's reply to the Mayor's office to arrange about a date for the deputation, but His Worship was suffering at home all day with a severe cold.

This Looks Funny.

There was little of general importance at the Board of Works yesterday, excepting an inquiry by Ald. Davies about a seeming anomaly in the Waterworks pumped at the two pumping stations.

It took 400,000 gallons of coal to pump 147-

ing gallons of water at the Mayfield Pumping Station during the week ending Jan. 22, while 151,214,088 gallons were pumped by only 381,070 pounds the week before.

The fact may be due to weather changes, because a comparison with the High Level Station shows that in the last week 51,000 pounds pumped 23,868,025 gallons, while 47,875 pounds pumped 25,515,500 gallons.

The Engineer will explain, and will also tell Ald. Davies and Crane why electric cars lying at Frederick-street. When not used to carry carriages and ashes to the marsh. Ald. Crane wants to know who built the cars, who paid for them, and when they were built.

The members for Wards 4, 5 and 6 were appointed a special committee by Ald. Woods to report on having cars run on Arthur-street.

Another "Go."

Messrs. Constable Fleming and Faulkner had a "hot go" in the City Solicitor's office yesterday over the Queen-street entrance holdup. The Commissioner agreed to recommend giving the other $100 for a fence and $100 for a hold-up, and the other $100 for a hold-up.

The Commissioner's committee, Mr. Faulkner was holding out to try to keep Mrs. Macdonald's going more than the $200 agreed upon. But the Commissioner, feeling that Mr. Faulkner was judging others by himself, refused.

George Faulkner said: "You've been black-guarding me all over town."

"Yes," returned the ready R.J., "and you deserved it all."

Will Ask Compensation.

Mr. Sheard will put in a claim to the Government for compensation to the city for cost of smallpox cases. Miss Banton has quite recovered, and will be allowed to return home probably on Monday next.

The Vestibule Case.

A Nominal Fine of $5 Imposed on Manager Keating of the Toronto Railway.

Yesterday Magistrate Denison imposed a nominal fine of $5 and costs on Manager Keating, representing the Street Railway Company, for neglecting to provide re-arrest vestibules on trolley cars.

A reserve case was granted, with the understanding that the matter should be referred to the magistrates as soon as possible. James Bicknell will appear before Judge McDougall, and if the complaint could only be abortive, as in the case of the trial of M. Zola.

The court decided to adjourn proceedings until the Court of Criminal Sessions.

Some Riotous Scenes.

After several anti-Semitic mobs had been driven from the neighborhood of the court, they re-formed on the Place du Chatelet and shouting, "Up on the Jews!" and cheering for the army. A stick fight followed, during which several persons were injured, and the rioters were again scattered.

M. Marcel-Habert, member of the Chamber of Deputies, who was arrested in the district of the Department of Seine-et-Oise, a friend of the late General Boulanger, was prominent in the disturbance.

Mme. Henry Brings Action Against M. Reinach for Calling Her Late Husband a Traitor.

AN OUTCOME OF DREYFUS AFFAIR.

Defendant's Counsel Denounced the Action as a Political Dodge and Plaintiff Wept.

Paris, Jan. 27.—The trial of the action brought by Madame Henry, widow of Lieut.-Col. Henry, who committed suicide in prison here after confessing to having murdered the Chamber of Deputies, and editor of the Republique Francaise, for il-llegally the deceased in declaring him a traitor, opened in the Assize Court to-day.

Madame Henry was present in deep mourning. M. Labori, counsel for M. Reinach, immediately asked the court to postpone the trial until the Dreyfus enquiry was terminated. He declared the suit was merely the work of a political party, and denied the fact of the assassination, and that it was merely a desperate attempt to influence the verdict of the Court of Cassation in its revision of the Dreyfus trial. The suit was ostensibly instituted to obtain satisfaction and honor to a woman and child.

Here Madame Henry began to weep, and

M. Labori expressed regret at the fact that his duty compelled him to allude to painful matters. Counsel then protested against the popular subscription started by the Ligue Parole, which, he said, was opened for the purpose of glorifying the Lieut.-Col. Henry, who had become a forger to maintain an innocent man in prison.

"Court of Cassation," counsel then said,

"in spite of the fact that the case is tacked upon it, continues seriously to perform the work of justice, and I bow

in advance before the decision, which will be given by the Court of Cassation. For it is the duty of all to bow to the truth."

M. Labori concluded by declaring that he demanded an adjournment of the case

in the interest of justice, and protested against the accusation that the revision of the case was a revision of the trial of Dreyfus. He declared that the revision of the case was a revision of the trial of
