OPERA HOUSE AMUSEMENTS FOR OURSELVES AND OTHERS

PAUL GILMORE IN HIS GREAT PLAY.

It is believed that the patrons of the theatre in this city will be pleased to learn that the ever-popular society drama, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," will appear at the Opera House Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

It is a four-act society drama, cleverly conceived and said to be presented by a company of sterling merit.

The story is that of a husband, Lord Lumley, "The Mummy," absorbed in his work of scientific investigation and neglecting his young wife, whom he nevertheless loves and who largely through pique at his neglect, falls into the toils of an Italian literary adventurer, Signor D'Orelli, "The Humming Bird," almost to her own undoing. Her husband awakens from his absorption in his work to a realization of his wife's peril in time to rescue her from the toils of the deceiver, and with the aid of an Italian magistrate, whose wife had fallen a victim to D'Orelli and who had sworn the vendetta against him, to utterly confound the scheming Italian.

KING'S FUNERAL AT LYRIC AGAIN FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

At the request of many the Lyric management has arranged a second showing of the king's funeral pictures which created such a sensation in that amusement house last week, for Friday and Saturday, both at 7:30.

The Lyric was again filled to capacity on these days and it is very large and the management ask those who can take the trouble to attend the matinee, to do so. The hour of the afternoon performance is three o'clock, and the first show in the evening will be at 7:30.

This will absolutely be the last opportunity to see these pictures in the city. The management announces that the pictures will be shown with the direct current, and in consequence will be fifty per cent brighter than before. The Lyric was again filled to capacity last evening by the Juvenile Four who repeated their success of Monday.

GOOD MIDWEEK PROGRAMME, "UNIQUE"

Three reels of varied topics, and of uniform interest form the mid-week programme at the "Unique." The late Kitten release "Friends" is the headliner. It is a semi-comic telling one of the most interesting stories imaginable. This subject will be notable for its great scenic presentation. Child stories possess a charm that no other subject has and a "Brave Little Girl," is one of the best yet offered. "The Cabin Boy's Sister," a charming sea film is a picture that for real beauty of background will exceed anything yet shown. It will also tell a thrilling and heart gripping story. Two funny but comedies are also on the bill, "Say I'm Late," a funny farce on the style of Pathé's famous comic shown some time ago "The Runaway Horse." Another big laugh hit will be found in "The Man of Frequent Falls." Little Tiny Williams still continues to please, her offering today, "Scuse Me Teacher" is one of her best. For the week end she has selected another good comic bit in "Stingy Kid." A special feature for the matinee on Saturday is announced.

At a meeting of the board of health yesterday, it was decided to take action against milk dealers who have not taken out licenses. Several citizens were granted an extension of time to improve the sewage of their premises. An alteration was made to the milk regulations so that a certificate from an inspector will be accepted in the matter of herd inspection. Dr. G. G. Melvin was before the meeting for the first time as health officer.

The blue gages, which have been considered by many persons as mythical birds, have been found in large flocks in remote regions of the south.

Allen after Attell.

Rilly Allen, champion featherweight fighter of Canada, is home in Ottawa, after a short trip through the Northern States, where he defeated many fast ones. Allen is a bout with Abe Attell, the world's champion, and declares he will keep the little Hebrew's track until he forces him into a mill.

"I'm tired of fighting second raters," he says. "I've beaten them all, and I'm entitled to a chance at the champion."

High McIntosh wants to take Allen to Australia in the fall, but Allen has little weather eye on Europe, where little fight appears to be doing well just now. He is in perfect health and expects to sail for England in September, providing he does not in the meantime sign articles for a bout with Attell.

ADMIRAL DOUGLAS
A Canadian Who Has Done Much for the British Empire

(Montreal Gazette.)

The career of Admiral Douglas, like those of other distinguished Canadians, Sir Percy Grouard, for instance, may well be a notable incentive to the youth of Canada to seek the opportunity for doing great service to the Empire, and gaining high honor for themselves. Born in Quebec he entered the navy at the age of 14, and passing through all grades in succession, he became commander-in-chief in the East Indies, 1868-89; Lord of admiralty, 1890-92; commander-in-chief on the North American station, 1902-04, and commander-in-chief at Portsmouth, 1904-7. In this last position it was his duty as the representative of the navy to show the courtesies of the fleet to foreign princes and kings, including the Emperor of Germany. The typical British sailor was a Canadian.

His great services to the empire, and especially to that part of it called the Indian Empire, will occupy a bright page in the history of the British navy; for to him is due the training of the officers of the Japanese fleet, and the striking the last telling blow to the ambition of Russia to be dictator at least to all nations. The terms of peace with Japan, included India, as we know.

Another great service cannot be forgotten. The newspapers of Canada contained accounts of it a dozen years ago. To any one who knows the history of the Red Sea, as one of the highways of the Empire, the names of Aden, Perim, Cyprus, Egypt, will recall the jealousy with which a neglected spark there might at any time have kindled a blaze. To the promptitude, tact and firmness of Admiral Douglas we owe the extinction of such a danger, when the ambitious native ruler of a district on the coast near the Straits at the entrance to the Red Sea, was negotiating with a French commercial company to lease them ground for a factory with permission to fortify it. The complications that might arise were obvious, but they were averted by the diplomatic skill of the Admiral.

McGill University did honor to herself, and pointed out a bright exemplar to other Canadians, when she asked Sir Archibald Douglas to accept a place on the roll of honored graduates. His personal attachment to his native land is well exhibited by the readiness with which he crossed the Atlantic to receive this honor in the fullest manner. That he should have been stopped in New York by illness is much to be regretted.

Marriage Wholesale Canada and South Africa

It is the custom in certain districts of Brittany for all couples who become engaged during the year to be married on the same day. Recently a picturesque marriage ceremony, in which twenty-eight couples went to the altar, took place. All wore their national costumes, the men being attired in blue, red and violet jackets with silver buttons, black velvet waistcoats and large felt hats, with velvet ribbons and silver buckles. The brides wore bright colored skirts, embroidered aprons and white cambric. Twenty seven and six couples were married. The bridegroom was a young man, and the bride was a young woman. Fifteen of the brides were named Marie and three bore the name of Marie Legall. Among the twenty-eight couples were only four different names. Every bride married was either a Legall, a Jesuval, a Thomas or a Kerzevenoff. The people of Plougastel distrust foreigners.

Germany's Wonderful Cities

Germany is building her cities as Bismarck perfected the army before Sadowa and Sedan; as the empire is building its warships and merchant-men; as she develops her waterways and educational systems. In city building, as in other matters, all science is the handmaid of politics. The engineer and the architect, the artist and the expert in hygiene are alike called upon to contribute to the city's making. The German cities are thinking of tomorrow as well as of today, of the generation to follow as well as the generation that is now upon the stage. Germany alone sees the city as the centre of the civilization of the future, and Germany alone is building her cities so as to make them contribute to the happiness, health, and well-being of the people. This seems to be the primary consideration. And it is unique in the modern world—June Busy Man's.

Select Councilman J. Emory Byram of Philadelphia says that if the new swimming pool planned for the city is constructed he will formally open the bath by plunging into the water, attired in a fall dress suit and high silk hat. Several years ago he opened another of the city public baths in like manner.

The island of Porto Rico is about 100 miles long, 40 miles wide, and has a population of about 1,000,000.

NEW DONALDSON LINER ON THE WAY OUT

The new steamship Saturnia, which the Donaldson Line has had built for its Montreal-Glasgow service, sailed from Glasgow on Saturday last, carrying 100 stowage passengers for Canada. The vessel's service speed is thirteen and a half knots, so that she should arrive at Montreal on Sunday next.

The order for the ship was placed only last September, and she has been completed by Charles O'Connell & Co., Whiteinch, in about eight months. Solid comfort is being aimed at rather than mere luxury on the boat.

Accommodation for the two classes of passengers that she carries is, like the company's other vessels, of a very spacious nature, and passage on her should be both comfortable and enjoyable. Altogether the Saturnia is able to carry 30 second and 1,000 third-class passengers.

Fortunes of Circus Kings

(From the Bookman.)

The richest of all showmen was P. T. Barnum, whose estate was worth more than $2,000,000. He had great investments in real estate in Bridgeport and in New York, in addition to his circus interests. The right to use his name in connection with "The Greatest Show on Earth" alone was worth a small fortune. His partner, James A. Bailey, left more than $1,000,000; likewise James L. Hutchinson, who completed the famous tour, whose names have been on three great circuses of the world. Adam Forepaugh did very rich. W. W. Cole was a great circus king in New York, a millionaire.

The Sells Brothers (Louis, Al, Peter and Eckman) built up a fortune of several millions and left their families big estates. But the wonder chapter in modern circus history is dominated by the name of Harry Ringling. Thirty years ago, these five brothers (Al, Charles, John, Otto and Fred) were "trouping" with a few horses, a few den of animals and providing the music themselves. Today they own three of the best circuses in the world, which bears their name, the Barnum & Bailey show and the Sells-Forreugh circus.
