

MACARTHUR IS TO CONDUCT INVESTIGATION

Latham case and said what was said for the goose was said for the gander. He said he had in his possession a letter, not addressed to him, but signed by Covey. He asked Mr. Covey to identify the signature. This Mr. Covey did, admitting it.

Mr. Gillespie then said he would not show this to the meeting but was ready to show it to the Telegraph-Journal representative to prove the truth of his assertion that in this letter Mr. Covey declared that Latham played independent ball and was paid for it. Mr. Gillespie showed the letter to your correspondent. Does not the meeting feel that any other man is entitled to the same treatment as Latham? he asked.

That was the reason, Mr. Gillespie said, he favored a resolution placing all pros. on an equal basis.

Mr. Covey in reply, said Mr. Gillespie was assuming considerable. No doubt he had made that statement, but when Latham's case came before the Canadian registration committee, affidavits were produced from Latham and the manager of his team that he was not paid and had not received money.

The registration committee of nine men passed on the case on the evidence before it.

MR. GILLESPIE RETORTS

Mr. Gillespie retorted that he was at the meeting where Mr. Covey had picked up applications for reinstatement, rushed them in his hand and pitched them in the wastepaper basket.

Mr. Covey—Absolutely, and one of them who agreed was Mr. Gillespie.

Continuing, Mr. Covey said that one Robert Algie, of Moncton, had been treated in a similar manner. He would say further that it was now grace on Mr. Gillespie's part to bring this up when he had issued a card to a man who had not been reinstated.

Mr. Gillespie replied he took exception to this remark. When he had been appointed vice-president repeatedly he had asked Mr. Covey, who was then retiring, for some statement on the men under his jurisdiction and it never had been given him. Was that fair to him, he asked. He did not have a single paper. Not even an affidavit. The Moncton man said he had another affidavit from Latham.

Mr. Covey—"Produce it then in fairness to me."

Returning to the Mooney-McCarthy matter, Mr. Covey said he had signed an affidavit from Leo Mooney in his possession, in support of his application for reinstatement.

The president said he had never received those papers.

Mr. Covey declared that if cards were being issued in Cape Breton contrary to the constitution, then amateur sport was being flouted.

Mr. Gillespie said if this were true then Mr. Campbell should be removed from office.

Mr. Kiever asked the president if he upheld this issuing of cards in this manner. Mr. Doyle replied they were issued in error.

Mr. Kiever asked the president if he thought Mr. Campbell used his best judgment in this matter and the chairman replied, "Yes."

MAKES MOTION

Mr. Dayton, seconded by Mr. Kiever moved that Mr. Campbell's resignation be asked for. Mr. Watling protested and said that Mr. Campbell should be given a hearing. Vice-President McQuarrie said this was too drastic.

Mr. Campbell had done a great deal for amateur sports and he was not being asked to resign. This would drive him out entirely, he said.

Mr. Burns, seconded by Mr. Fraser, finally moved an amendment that the matter be investigated by a commission. This carried, Moncton Athletics alone voting against.

Mr. Covey remarked here that this was just what The Telegraph-Journal had asked for on September 7 last, and he believed this was the only proper procedure.

Later, the president named Neil McArthur to investigate the matter.

election to office he should be asked for an explanation.

Mr. Gillespie moved that a vote of censure be passed on Mr. Sterling and that he be asked to resign.

Mr. LeBlanc, Moncton, seconded this.

Mr. Covey was asked if he knew of anything on this matter and he said he was prepared to show the president an affidavit in support of his charge that the Water Department never authorized any credentials. This he did.

Mr. Cleary said in fairness to Mr. Sterling he should be given a hearing. So far as the Nationals A. C. Mr. Cleary said, he would inform the meeting that C. W. Ellsworth, president of the Nationals, had informed him that he was satisfied with their representation at the last annual meeting.

CHANGES MOTION

Mr. Gillespie finally changed his motion asking for a committee to investigate the matter. This was carried. The president suggested the names of J. C. Chesley, Frank White and H. M. Cleary.

Mr. Covey expressed the opinion that Mr. White would not act and as Mr. Sterling and Mr. Chesley had clashed it would be better to have an independent man. Finally the president named Major Weekes and Mr. Cleary, asking for a report in about a week's time.

Mr. Cleary said they first must secure the credential and it was brought out that this is likely in the hands of the retiring secretary.

FORFEITURE MATTER

Mr. Covey then brought up the question of the Water Department's forfeiture of the New Brunswick championship, claiming the team did not have sufficient notice. He declared that Newcastle had been notified on a Friday night that the game would be played on Monday and that the Watermen were notified on a Sunday night. He wanted to know why the Water Department protest had been turned down.

In explaining why he had turned down the Watermen's protest, Vice-President McQuarrie said that on the evidence before him Mr. Sterling had said he gave both teams equal notice.

Mr. Cleary wanted to know why Mr. Covey had permitted James McLeod to sit as manager of the Watermen and also as vice-president of the City League when he knew Mr. McLeod had been a professional.

MEMBERS DEMUR

President Doyle asked if the club were prepared to vote confidence in the M. P. B. but several members demurred at including some of the officials. It was finally decided to go on record as opposing any secession within the M. P. B. and also to support A. V. If fair treatment was received.

In concluding the gathering President Doyle said he was going to the annual meeting for one purpose only—to fight for the suspended athletes. The gathering broke up shortly after 6 o'clock, the Moncton delegates leaving at once for home.

IMMODEST?

Is this an immodest garb for a nine-year-old girl? School authorities at Port Fulton, Ind., have ruled that Virginia Allen, the girl in this picture, cannot attend school dressed in this manner. Her mother insists the knickers are more modest than bare knees, and is contemplating court action to uphold the girl's right to wear them.

NEW CAIRNGLEN FREIGHTER ARRIVES

The new Cairn-Thompson freighter Cairnglen arrived at Montreal on Tuesday from Hamburg on her maiden voyage. The Cairnglen is a sister ship of the Cairn, which also made her maiden voyage to Montreal this summer, and was built by the same shipbuilders, William Fickert and Sons, Limited. The Cairnglen comes into Montreal under the command of Captain W. Purvis, who is already well-known locally as the master of the Cairn last season.

The Cairnglen has been specially designed, like her sister ship to meet the demands of the perishable goods trade between Canada and the Northwest coast of Britain. Her construction embodies the latest improvements in shipbuilding.

LAID-UP SHIPS TO GO IN OPERATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Fifteen ships will be withdrawn from the laid-up fleet of shipping Board vessels and placed in operation as soon as they are conditioned for service to meet the demand for increased ocean tonnage, President Dalton, of the Fleet Corporation, said today.

At the same time a survey is being made of all ships in the laid-up fleet so that if more than 15 ships are added to the active fleet, officials will be in a position to draw on the best ships tied up.

It is estimated that it costs from $8,000 to $20,000 a ship to "break" it out of the idle fleet and put it in condition for service.
