ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

A BUZZY RIDDLE

Buzz! Buzz! That's what he does.

The Twins guessed this riddle right away. See if you can—"Buzz! Buzz! That's what he does, Like a hungry mosquito at night, Loafs by the hour on blossom and flower, Sipping rose-wine with all of his might.
"Hum! Hum! Does he never get done? My goodness! He's dreadfully busy, just can't see the use of so much blossom juice, Indigestion will make him quite dizzy!
"Zing! Zing! What a queer way to sing! Daring this way and now darting that! Did he get the wrong flour? Perhaps it was sour, Well, that's good for folk who are fat.

"Like prosperous people he wears a rich cloak Of velvet striped yellow and black, But instead of gold money, he carries gold honey.
Not a pocketbookful—but a sack.
"Now he's making a dive for his house (called a hive). Do you think that he's ill? It's a question!
I don't know, I can't say, but it's likely he may Just be taking a pill for digestion."
"It's a bee!" cried Nick.
"Yes, sir! That's what it is," said the Riddle Lady. "You are a smart little boy to guess so quickly. You get the prize, a piece of bread and butter and honey."

"I was just going to say the answer myself," suddenly spoke up the Six-Pence Queen. "I just knew it was a bee. And I was about to open my mouth and say 'bee' just like that when that little boy said it. I think I should have half of his bread and honey!"
"Well, goodness knows, anybody could tell it was a bee," said still another person. It was a small Tom Tucker. "I know it was a bee the minute you said 'buzz,' Miss Riddle Lady. 'I think I ought to have half of the bread and butter and honey myself!'"
"We guessed it, too!" called out half a dozen of the Old Shoe Woman's Children. "We thought it was a bee or a bug or something like that. And as we always get broth without any bread, we think we ought to have half, too!"
"My goodness!" cried the Riddle Lady. "How many halves do you think this piece of bread has? But there! I have an idea. Nancy, you and Nick and the Pie-man and Baker-man can fix up a party. We'll have a real party and plenty of bread and honey and cakes for everybody."

Cause of Early Old Age

The celebrated Dr. Michenoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused by poisons generated in the intestine."
When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of "Edget's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound.

BAND CONCERT AT THE ANNIVERSARY

In the anniversary celebration programme of the Exmouth street church, last night was devoted to a concert by St. Mary's Band, with assisting talent. The band gave a splendid performance. The saxophone solo by Harold Williams, leader, was specially enjoyed. Other numbers on the excellent programme were a violin solo by Mrs. Harold McMichael; vocal solo, Miss Parlee; reading, Mrs. H. B. Peck and vocal solo, Douglas Thorne. Rev. H. E. Thomas, pastor of the church heartily thanked the band and others who had taken part and spoke of the great asset which it was to the city to have such an institution as St. Mary's Band.

GIVES TALK ON HEALTH.

Miss M. A. Stewart, formerly of the faculty of the Iowa State College, gave a talk on diet in relation to health for the members of the Senior Booster of the Y. W. C. A. last night, and had a most attentive and interested audience. She told the girls what they should eat and what they should not do in following simple rules of health, and then had them make a score card for themselves to see how they measured up to the proper standard. Miss Stewart used effective charts which had been prepared by Miss Crawford to illustrate her address. The girls gave her three ringing hearty cheers and a tiger to show how much they had enjoyed and appreciated her talk. Miss Edna Hunt led the physical exercises, and Mrs. A. W. Betsy, girls' work secretary, took charge of the devotions.

1000 EGGS In EVERY HEN

If You Keep Chickens CUT THIS OUT

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success. "The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If she kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

FROST-BITE.
During the past five years a great change has taken place in the matter of winter clothing and footwear. The old style of bundling one's self up until you hardly move, slowing down circulation on account of slow movements and inactivity, has greatly changed. Thousands of men and women now make it a practice to wear low shoes and comparatively light stockings during cold weather. It is exceptional for anyone to suffer today from frost-bitten toes.
The feet are a long way from the central blood pumping station and are so built that they are subjected to more cold, according to their area, than any other part of the body. Frequent bathing of the feet in cold weather will be found of value, as the rubbing will increase circulation.
The advisability of freeing the lower extremities from any undue pressure in cold weather is advocated. This allows a much freer blood circulation and consequently warmer feet. Tight garters, tight hose, tight shoes or any bands or close-fitting articles of apparel should be taboo in extremely cold weather.
If you live in the country or have to be out in very cold weather be careful that your fingers, ears, nose or toes do not become white and numb. The time for the sensible treatment of frost-bite is before it happens. Should Jack Frost pinch you avoid entering a warm room. Seek a cool place and apply cold cloths and cold water or snow. Rub gently until the feeling in the frost-bitten parts becomes normal.
If the frost-bite is severe blisters may form over the parts frozen. In such a case a physician must be called at once as mortification may set in.
Plenty to Spare.
"You ain't got no brains."
"Ain't got no brains?" Why, man, Ah! got brains what ain't nevah been used!"

MR. GEORGE H. TOWNSEND

Steel Plant Man Helped by Dreco

Mr. George H. Townsend, 40 Douglas Place, Sydney, N.S., Finds Relief From His Troubles in This Wonderful Remedy—Liver, Kidneys and other Organs Now Working Freely.

After seven months of suffering with rheumatism, during which nothing seemed to reach the seat of the trouble, Mr. George H. Townsend, of Sydney, N.S., tried Dreco. After two bottles he found sufficient relief to convince him that this wonderful remedy is worth all the praise that he can give it. His story of his suffering should be read by every man who has suffered similarly, for they can find the same relief that Mr. Townsend discovered.

He says: "I suffered seven months with rheumatism. I tried various remedies, but nothing seemed to go to the bottom of my troubles. I have constantly taken laxatives since my service overseas and I have had chronic constipation and severe pains through my back over the kidneys. My liver was inactive and working all day just about finished me. I had rheumatism through my hips and back and could hardly raise my left arm at times. I was restless nights.
"In two weeks' time I have been greatly relieved and have no pains through the back or shoulders. My entire system is in a better condition than for many months. Dreco has done wonders for me and I gladly join others in the great praise for it. I sleep better—no more constipation—feel fine when I get up in the morning and can do my work with plenty of energy."

Dreco contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs.
Dreco is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King Street; Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward Street; E. W. Munro, 35/ Main Street, and in West St. John by Watson R. Dunlop. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson and by a good druggist everywhere.
