One Killed, Two Wounded
as Chinese Throng to New Year Celebration—Panic in Park Row.

New York, Feb. 7.—Chinatown's new year's celebration was given a melodramatic thrill last night by a revolver duel in Park row, during which one man was killed and two dangerously wounded. The street, which was crowded with Orientals hastening to join in the festivities, was transformed suddenly into turmoil in the rush for safety. Fifteen shots were fired in rapid succession.

A policeman drew his revolver and dashed toward the duellists, but his progress was delayed by a surface car. When he reached the opposite side the man who had used the weapons had vanished. Spectators saw one man fall and then

The shooting occurred in front of the Duane Field Club, where a dance was to have been held. The police took sixty men from the club to be questioned, as the shooting was believed to have been an outgrowth of rivalries between its members.

FREAK FASHIONS APPEAR IN PARIS

Some of the Styles Worn in French Capital and on the Riviera.

Paris, Feb. 7.—Nineteen-twenty-one is to be the year of freak-fashions, judging by the first examples seen now in Paris and on the Riviera.

Among the fads are:

Hemp gowns, made of ordinary rope artistically dyed and woven into something resembling a carpet. Jewel-faced watches—the most expensive creations since the war. Dainty little time-pieces are set under a single stone instead of the customary glass. Though it may not be as easy to tell the time the effect is novel and charming. Sapphires are the most popular stones. The fashion was set by Princess Murat, who appeared with a watch entirely hidden by an enormous diamond.

Paper hats, contrived out of crinkled paper—the kind usually seen as a wrapping paper for bon-bons.

Leather umbrellas. These are small affairs, not more than two feet long and capable of folding small enough to go into a woman's hand bag. They are made on ebony or ivory frames and the kid, over which is a covering of oiled silk.

Fruit necklaces. The first of these was worn at the Varieties Theatre by Mile. Spinnelly, the famous comedienne. It consisted of real tangerine oranges strung on gold threads. To match the fruit the actresses' face was dyed a rich golden color.

In place of the Russian boots, which were the rage last season, fashionable women of Paris are wearing silk sandals, colored gold, red or green, "a la Raymond Duncanson. Stockings worn with these sandals commence above the ankle, leaving the foot bare.

A word to the wise is sufficient. Take Hood's Pills, small doses, a mild laxative; larger, an active cathartic.

HE WAS IN HANDS OF THE BOLSHEVIKI

Grimsby, Eng., Jan. 31.—(Associated Press by mail.)—The captain of the trawler Equitable arrived from the White Sea, reports having been detained for six days at Murmansk by Bolshevists, whom he describes as very hungry and disruptive in appearance. An armed crew came aboard and ate food ravenously after which they searched the boat. The captain was arrested and closely questioned but released after two hours detention.
