Husband of Miss Mabel Carney Who Numbers Many Friends Here

News of the death of Harry Jaynes, in Philadelphia is received here and has caused regret to many people in this city with whom his young wife, who was formerly Miss Mabel Carney, is well acquainted. Mr. Jaynes, who was about twenty-four years of age, was ill for about two weeks with pneumonia, and this caused his death on Sunday last. He was well known in Philadelphia and New York, as well as other American cities, as he was engaged with his father in the latter's large drug manufacturing business. His wife is a niece of Rev. Father Carney of Fredericton, and is also related to Mrs. Thomas Gorman of 78 St. James street, at whose home she was a welcome and popular visitor a couple of years ago. She made many friends while in St. John, who will be sorry to hear of her sad bereavement. Her father, James Carney, is a former New Brunswicker, who has done well in New York, where he is now located. Mr. Jaynes was buried there yesterday.

BOMB PLOT OF BOYS AT HAVELOCK

Wrecked Part of Magistrate Alward's House After he Had Fined One Lad—Five Now on Trial

When a group of boys plan a bomb plot and carry it to a successful conclusion in a quiet little country village the case is one of more than ordinary interest, and the motives which prompt the act demand attention. Such a case is now receiving the attention of the people of Kings county as a result of an attempt to wreck the house of Magistrate Fred H. Alward at Havelock, for which five boys are now before the bar of justice.

The explanation given is that the magistrate had previously fined one of the boys, who had been caught playing baseball in the public street. The lad, it is charged, employed their time in a conspiracy to seek revenge for the steps that had been taken against one of their number and the result of their plot has been told before the police magistrate.

On the night of August 16 Magistrate Alward and his family were aroused from their sleep about midnight by the noise of an explosion and a shock which shook the house. Hurrying downstairs the magistrate found his front parlor looking as if the house had been through a bombardment. The windows were broken, a wall was wrecked and glass and lime were scattered over the room. An examination showed that the missile which had done the damage was a large wooden plug which he found embedded in the wall opposite the window. The plug, which was beneath was covered with wreckage and pieces of window glass were firmly embedded in it.

The next morning an investigation of the lawn showed the instrument with which the damage had been done. It was a crudely made bomb manufactured from a two-foot length of iron pipe, about two inches diameter, which had been loaded with powder, closed at both ends with wooden plugs, planted securely in the lawn pointing towards the house and discharged with a fuse. Parts of the fuse still remained, wound around the pipe, and the smell of gun powder indicated the explosive used.

One of Mr. Alward's daughters had been in the habit of sleeping in a hammock on the veranda of the house all summer, but had not done so on that night. If she had she would have been in the line taken by the missile. As it was the case of sufficient importance and seriousness to warrant prompt measures, and Mr. Alward communicated with the attorney-general.

The latter sent a detective to the place to investigate and learn the identity of the perpetrators. It did not take long to discover about a gang of boys, and after some questioning the whole story came out. The boys were now very much frightened by what they had done and were in a repentant mood. They wanted Mr. Alward to come to some settlement, but in view of the circumstances he could not see his way clear to do so, and accordingly "information" was laid against five boys, who were believed to be the offenders. These boys are Ora Keith, Leonard Alward, James Oldfield, Frank Mullins and James Coates.

The lads were brought before Police Magistrate H. W. Folsom, at Sussex, Monday last, and their preliminary examination began. The witnesses heard was on a bureau. The rest of the family were just arising when they heard sounds of distress coming from Mrs. Till's room. They hurried to her, medical assistance was summoned, and all possible was done to save her life, but without avail.

Mrs. Till had been in poor health for about a year and a half. She was around the house as usual this morning, and while laboring under excitement, drank by mistake, from a bottle of carbolic acid which was on a bureau. The rest of the family were just arising when they heard sounds of distress coming from Mrs. Till's room. They hurried to her, medical assistance was summoned, and all possible was done to save her life, but without avail.
