CITY CORNET BAND FAIR

Some of the Novelties Which Are Being Prepared For It

The "Around the World Fair" of the City Cornet Band, which will open in St. Andrew's Rink on Monday, October 2, promises some very attractive features.

The fair itself will be a novelty. There will be about ten or more booths and the idea will be to get business houses that will wish to demonstrate and advertise their goods to occupy these booths.

Neil Brodie, architect, will prepare the designs of the booths. The committee in charge of the fair will call on the business houses of the city soon to see who are going to take advantage of this novel scheme of advertising.

The decorations of the rink will be on an elaborate scale. An attractive feature will be handiwork decorated band stand which will be erected in the centre of the rink.

From this stand concerts will be given on each evening sometimes by the band themselves. During the ten evenings that the fair will continue there will be a musical programme each evening and it will be open to bands from outside the city come on some of the evenings to give concerts.

A big feature will be a representation of Niagara Falls, which will be each night the exciting features of the fair, aeroplanes crossing over the falls, and the men in the air.

The working of this scheme will be in the hands of capable men, M. J. Siney, W. J. McShane, F. J. Stacks, and Stackhouse, all well qualified in their respective positions, and visitors of the fair, even those who have seen Niagara are guaranteed a fine representation. The Maid of the Mist will also be in evidence. The electrical display is a feature not as yet attempted in St. John.

The tickets for the "Around the World Exhibition" are being rapidly sold and the band expects the same result in 1909. The date of the last fair, when all the tickets were sold before the night of the drawing.

TENANTS FLED FROM SMELL OF THE BAKING BREAD

New York, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press)—Two tenants of a tenement house on an agreeable odor—the smell of baking bread, has caused the tenants of J. F. Dougherty's apartments in Grand street, which is within nose-range of a bakery, to form an almost continuous procession ever since the bakery opened, moving in one week and out the next.

The limit of Mr. Dougherty's patience was reached yesterday and he secured a permit to build a fence of corrugated iron fourteen feet wide and five stories high, between his apartment house and the bakery. Experts have assured him that such a fence will be a nuisance.

So far as officials of the building department are aware, Mr. Dougherty's fence is a record in this city for dimensions.

ONLY QUESTION OF WHAT MAJORITY LOGGIE WILL HAVE

W. B. Snowball, James Robinson and L. K. Loggie, of Miramichi, arrived in the city this morning and are at the Royal.

Speaking of the political outlook in Northumberland county, the ex-mayor of Chatham, Mr. Snowball, said that there was no question whatever about Mr. Loggie's election—even the most optimistic Conservatives could look forward only to this. Reciprocity was an issue which was to be strongly supported throughout the county, said Mr. Snowball. "I have been around a great deal, and I know," he added, "and it is only a question now of what Mr. Loggie's majority will be."

The movement in Northumberland which would be affected by the agreement are largely the lumbering companies and the fish concerns, which of course means a large number of people employed. The immense advantages from reciprocity to both these industries are at once apparent, and you will find little opposition against the pact in Mr. Loggie's constituency, except through strong partisan feeling and foolishness. Our chief trouble has been contacting the campaign lies which the Tories have been circulating. Talk about annexation! Why they almost had Mr. Loggie and Northumberland annexed long ago, if what they say were to be believed.

The party from the North Shore will return tonight. Mr. Loggie is a son of the Liberal candidate in Northumberland.

INDIAN MULES IN THE ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION

Government Makes Gift to Capt. Scott, Declining Offer of Payment

Calcutta, Sept. 13.—Seven mules, a present from the Indian government, will accompany Captain Scott in the British Antarctic expedition.

Captain Scott wrote to the Indian army headquarters asking to be allowed to buy the mules at a price of £100 each. The government decided that they should form a gift to the expedition, and added a special equipment also.

The animals, which are of the best quality and are of a strong, compact and traceable breed, are of a good quality and are of a good quality and are of a good quality.

The mules have now begun their southward journey by way of Calcutta and New Zealand, where they will be placed on board the Terra Nova which will leave in December.

SOME OLD TIME CORONATIONS

The history of the ceremony of coronation is lost in the mists of antiquity. Long before history was written the ancient Saxons were crowned with a ritual not unlike that with which the Romans honored their emperors.

The first coronation which took place in Westminster Abbey was that of William the Conqueror. Those of course, were days of strife and suspicion when the moment came for the "recognition" when the archbishop asks the nobility, the church and the people whether they wish the new king to be crowned.

The enthusiastic adherents of the conqueror or some of his lusty cohorts of approval when the Norman soldiers on duty outside the abbey mistook the plaudits for a rebellion and placed the abbot in a state of siege, and destroyed by fire all the houses round about.

The panic that at once ensued within the sacred edifice was such that the church of the immediately left the guests before empty benches. A later coronation was accompanied by equally terrible scenes.

The first time Richard of the Lion-Heart was crowned the festivities ended with a wholesale slaughter of the Jewish community in London. The crowning that city in London. The crowning that city in London.
