As I am continually adding to my Stock all new improvements, in Carpenter's and Machinist's Tools, and all other Goods, and for the want of space, I find it quite impossible to enumerate more than a few lines, and articles that I keep on sale. But call for inspection will satisfy the most experienced in the Hardware trade, that my stock is complete. The variety comprises every article the country requires. I have given my strictes tatention to the business, and allow nothing to be out of Stock there may be a call for, together with all new improvements. My business having increased so that I can now afford to sell at a small advance on cost, purchasers will find that they can buy to better advantage here than sending abroad for what they require,

Besides, there is a decided Bankruptcy Court, and perhaps to his grave-for I hear this morning that his they eat so much. London World. troubles have resulted in a paralytic stroke -he has explained in a few words. Twenty years ago he lost £30,000 by the ailure of a bank, but he was in a fair way to recover from this blow when, he says, the establishment of co-operative stores gradually absorbed " his "best customers' and caused his London business to become unprofitable. The co-operative stores have ruined him. I am quite convinced that it is not too much to say they are gradually ruining thousands of once thriving tradesmen in all parts of the country, but especially in London. No doubt, "political economists" will be able to prove that it is quite right the tradesmen should be ruined, for the consumer gains—"we must consider the interests of the many, not of the few," and so forth.

I have been informed that W. S. Brown, now of Newcastle, but formerly of Red Bank, has been endeavoring to collect crain accounts due mo; said accounts that W. S. pects with resignation. Secretly, they who have, as they consider, brought their people were in the habit of taking long credit, and expected to have all their whims and caprices vigilantly studied and yielded to without a murmur. I was in a shop last Tuesday when a messenger arrived from a certain great lady desiring that a large selection of the tradesman's goods should be sent to her house, it "not being convenient" for her to go to the shop. For a man to send away a good part of his stock in the Christmas week, at the very time when strangers ore con in to see what new thing they can find, is not a very pleasant thing to be called upon to do, but in this case a refusal was not to be thought of. The lady was not a particularly good customer, but still it would never do to offend her. Persons of her description think nothing these trials will lead to a new phase in walking out without spending a penny. By the plan proposed, about 3,000 cubic feet of gas would be extracted from each top of coal burned in the city, the coal being thus rendered smokeless. The gas would be with The Living Age for a year, both used for illuminating purposes. In this manner, the perfect combustion of both the coal and the contract of the coal and the coal

Black and white mobfabrics, which is expected to supersede embroidery. The art is called eidographie, white cravat and small pin in it, rich and the operator uses hollow pencils which brown cloth coat with livery buttons, cut are charged with a fluid metallic compound. On exposure to air the compound instantly hardens. Every color can be produced, and the designs traced with the pencils are exceedingly durable, lasting as that I never thought of looking at the ong as the materials on which they are extremities; but I fancy my eye once got a glimpse, going up stairs, of red stockings ware and pottery decorated by the same process. The manufacture of the pencils dinner four winsome lasses, all similarly has already become a considerable industry attired, waited on me hand and foot, and certainly never was a dinner more deftly handed and served. Why not? Women are, by their nature, much better suited for this sort of work than men.
