MEN WHOM BASEBALL HAS MADE RICH

Jim McAleer, President of the Champion Boston Red Sox, who put Fielding in Baseball, is Rated a Wealthy Man.

No one has noticed any sign of worrying upon the countenance of Jas. A. McAleer, president of the world's champion Red Sox, when the high cost of living is referred to.

The only time James gets wrinkles between his eyebrows is when the income tax is mentioned. He has made enough since he first put fielding in baseball, to own an automobile and employ a chauffeur, too, if he feels like it.

When the day came that General C. H. Taylor, of Boston, felt that his son, John I. ought to be carried as a big league magnate, and looked about for experienced baseball men to take over a half interest in the club, it was little Jimmy McAleer, who took it over.

McAleer had $130,000 and Taylor wanted $200,000 for the stock, so Char. Comiskey loaned Jim the $70,000 difference, without interest, and McAleer became president of the club.

There is reason to believe that McAleer's stock earned enough money in 1912 to permit him to repay the generous "Commy," and still have enough left to keep the lobes away from the door down at Youngstown, O.

McAleer is a native of Youngstown and he was the greatest outfielder the game ever knew. Youngsters today are judged by the standard he set. Never a sensational batter, McAleer made up for his lack of power by his uncanny fielding. He seemed to know by the sound of his meeting ball, just where the ball would fall, and that's where he was waiting, intuitively.

McAleer started his managerial career in Cleveland, where he remained two years; then he took on the hopeless St. Louis Browns for eight years; for two years he managed Washington and then came opportunity, and he bought the Boston team.

Failure of the team to hit its 1912 stride this year, led to McAleer's attaching a can to Stahl, which ruffled Ban Johnson some considerable, but it is noticeable that Stahl stays put.

Boston won't earn such fat dividends this year, but possibly next season, having eased themselves of some of the world's champions chestiness, the team will get together and repeat, whereupon McAleer will put away another hundred thousand or so, where the moths won't get it.

THIS DATE IN RING ANNALS

Sept. 12. 1907—Abe Attell defeated Jimmy Walsh in 10 rounds at Indianapolis. This was the third and last bout between the clever little Hebrew who was so long the leader in his class and the hard-hitting Boston boy. Their first meeting was at Chelsea in February, 1906, and Walsh stayed the full 15 rounds, but lost the decision. Jimmy still believed that he could lick Abe, and late in the same year they were matched at Los Angeles. Attell put over a knockout in the 8th round. Still Walsh wasn't satisfied, and clamored for another chance. Abe was always ready to oblige anybody from Jeffries down, and the Indianapolis session was the result. 1907—Jack Johnson and Sailor Burke fought 6 rounds at Bridgenor. 1911—Tommy Murphy and Pal Moore fought 12-round draw at Boston.

SPORTOGRAPHY "GRAVY"

The report that those ancient pugilistic enemies, Terry McGovern and Young Corbett, are to become yodel-villains, and pull a brother act on the patrons of the two-day houses, recalls that today is the anniversary of McGovern's fight with Pedlar Palmer, which was staged at Tuckahoe, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1899. The Pedlar person was the featherweight champion of England, and he had shown a lot of class when he held the great George Dixon to a draw decision. He was matched to meet Dick Croker, actors, literary gent and other celebrities were as prevalent as mosquitoes at Bunkhaven-by-the-Sea. It was a classy social occasion, and it would be pleasant to add that all present enjoyed the festivities to the fullest. Such, however, does not accord with the facts of history. Pedlar Palmer and his supporters afterward recalled the affair with distaste, and accused their American hosts of gross impoliteness. The English champion didn't last as long as a snowball in Costa Rica. Terry hammered him all over the ring, and in a fraction of one round Pedlar was horse de combat. It was the shortest championship fight between little fellows on record. Yes, and Palmer was a pretty nifty boxer, at that.

McGovern Defeated Palmer in Close to Record Time.

The match, Bettinson, the famous London sport and president of the National Sporting Club, and Sir Thomas Lipton were among those present at the battle. The Gouldberita and the Vanastors and other leaders of the wealth and fashion of the American metropolis graced the occasion with their presence. Politicians, including Dick Croker, actors, literary gent and other celebrities were as prevalent as mosquitoes at Bunkhaven-by-the-Sea. It was a classy social occasion, and it would be pleasant to add that all present enjoyed the festivities to the fullest. Such, however, does not accord with the facts of history. SIR THOMAS LIPTON RECEIVES SIGNED CONDITIONS

Ryd, Isle of Wight, Sept. 11.—The signed conditions for the American cup races next year were received by Sir Thomas Lipton on board his yacht Erin today. Speaking at a large dinner aboard the yacht Enchantress tonight, he announced the fact to the guests, who included the competitors and committeemen of the international boat races said that it took nearly seven months to arrange the contest and he more than once feared that it would fall through. "While I was personally always willing to race under any conditions with a ninety or a seventy-five footer," he continued, "I had to be careful not to agree to terms that would impose any undue handicaps on future challenges on boats from this side. Several times I was advised to withdraw my challenge, but I stuck to it, and now the signed conditions are in my pocket. "I am glad that I did; I am perfectly satisfied with them. It is true that they do not compel the Americans to meet me with a boat the same size as the Shamrock, but I was always convinced that this would be done. "He found assurance of this in the announcement that Cornelius Vanderbilt, J. P. Morgan and Frederick G. Bourne formed the syndicate to build the Defender. "Three better representatives of good clean sport cannot be found in the world," he said. "They are giving Herreshoff a pretty tall order, but it does not scare me." Sir Thomas expressed the belief that Nicholson, who is building the Shamrock IV, was the finest designer in the world, and that Burton, who will command the challenger, knew how to steer to victory. Nicholson was getting on well with the Shamrock and although it would be the first boat built in Great Britain under the American racing rules, it would be sure to hold his own. Both the challenger and the Defender under the conditions signed, said Sir Thomas, will be a better type of useful yachts than the freaks that one was formerly compelled to cross the Atlantic with and I can say without hesitation that I have a better chance of winning the cup than ever I had before. In conclusion he commended the sportsmanship of Americans and his treatment at their hands. Command Mansfield S. Cumming, R. N., presided. Commodore Faramond spoke for France and W. Hale Thompson, commodore of the Chicago Yacht Club, for the United States.

PELKEY DENIES REPORTS

Calgary, Sept. 11.—Tommy Burns is today exhibiting a telegram from Arthur Pelkey in which the latter denies ever having issues any of the statements credited to him by the coast sporting writers in which he is alleged to have charged Burns with having forced him to agree to a fixed fight with Burns in Calgary and also with having extracted an unfair contract from Pelkey while the latter was under the charge of manslaughter here in July. Pelkey was also wired the Calgary Herald denying he has broken with Burns. In view of Pelkey's interview at Victoria yesterday in which he corroborated a Portland dispatch telling of his break with the ex-champion the situation is perplexing. This is not being quite half of the effort is being made here that an effort is being made to smooth things over.

CRICKET MATCH IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 11.—The Gentlemen of New York barely escaped defeat by an inning at the hands of the Incognito cricketers from England at the Staten Island grounds today, the visitors winning by 10 wickets, having to play for runs in their second innings in order to defeat the local men and they got 8 without losing a wicket. When play was resumed this forenoon the New York eleven had 100 runs for the loss of seven wickets, and they made 41 more before being dismissed. This was not being quite half of the Englishmen's 287 made yesterday; the home team had to follow on and they put up 152 in their second innings averting a single innings defeat by a margin of six runs. The batting of Hoekings, Marshall and Turville helped wonderfully, the first named carrying his bat for a neatly played 51, which included 8 fours. The bowling of the visitors was very good. In the first innings Falcon took 3 wickets for 36 runs. In the second Falcon took 3 for 23 runs, Mullholland 2 for 49, Tudor 2 for 38, Sarel 1 for 34 and Melle 1 for 3. The best effort by a New York bowler was 3 for 67 by Slaughter.
