FUNERALS.

The funeral of James Looman took place yesterday afternoon at half-past two o'clock from his late residence, Marble Cove, to St. Peter's church, where the burial service was read by Rev. Peter O'Hare, C. S. R. The service was largely attended, there being present many of the deceased's former fellow employees at Murray's mill. Relatives bore the pall. Numerous floral tributes were received. The remains were laid to rest in the old Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of D. B. Mayes took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 194 Main street, Rev. B. H. Nobles conducted the service. The choir of Victoria street Baptist church was present and rendered several hymns. The remains were interred in Greenwood cemetery.

RUSSIA'S NEW BEVERAGE.

Now that the Russians have abandoned their old national drink, what is more natural than they should turn to tea as the most invigorating, refreshing and healthful beverage, but tea to be good must be fresh and clean. "SALADA" Tea is composed of the finest, freshest young leaves, freed from dust and carefully preserved in the sealed aluminum package.

A Surprise Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Henderson, Lancaster Heights, was the scene of a very pleasant affair on Wednesday evening when the friends of Miss Isabella McAlary tendered her a surprise party in honor of a happy event to take place next month and in which she is one of the principals. After a very pleasant evening spent in singing and dancing, the gathering broke up with the singing of the National Anthem.

FOKSONGS AT CITY GRANTS N.H.S. MUSEUM FOR THE FUNDS

Good programme by Ladies' Association was greatly enjoyed.

A delightful musical and literary hour was spent in the Natural History Museum yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Ladies' Association, when two interesting papers on the Foksongs of Various Nations were read by Mrs. G. F. Matthew and Miss Amelia Green and illustrated by many charming folk songs sung in four different languages or dialects—English, French, Southern Negro and American Indian.

In her paper on English, French and Southern Negro Folk songs Mrs. Matthew spoke of the different qualities peculiar to each and gave a brief history of the conditions of life which so greatly influenced the music of these widely different peoples. Minor keys are common throughout English folk music and there is much of it that is exceedingly tender and plaintive, though the bold, courageous and hearty predominate, while the French folk songs are superlatively passionate and energetic and are generally as inspiring as the French temperament itself.

In illustrating the English music, Mrs. Burton L. Gerow sang the pretty old English ballad, "The Banks of Allan Water," and "The Ballad of the Daughter," and Miss Louise Knight sang one of the oldest of English folk songs, "Drink to me only with thine eyes," after which all the singers gave one verse of our familiar "Home, Sweet Home." Several charming French songs full of the light, airy graces of this fascinating people were sung by Miss Valde Fenton and Miss Knight.

1. The Fair Gabrielle.
2. The Clear Cool Pool.
3. Miss Fenton.

Nor was the French-Canadian music forgotten; Miss Madeleine DeSoyers sang in French a well known French-Canadian song, "The White Rose," in concluding the French music several of Miss Sonier's pupils sang in French the inspiring Marcelline Hymn while the audience stood in recognition of the splendid work being done by our French allies.

Speaking of the Southern Negro Mrs. Matthew said that it is very difficult to obtain any real plantation melodies as they are very rarely printed. The band made their last public appearance for some time in St. John, the 7th regiment of Highlanders is affiliated with the famous old country regiment, the Black Watch and it is a distinction to be numbered on its roll. All honor to the brave bandmen.

The second part of the programme consisted of a paper on American Indian music written by Mr. Wm. McIntosh and read by Miss Amelia Green. "Among the Indians," the writer said, "music is co-existent through every part of tribal life, for every ceremony as well as every important act in the career of an individual has its accompaniment of song. The note for note ceremony has its own peculiar rhythm, so also have the classes of song which pertain to the individual acts of fasting and prayer, setting of traps, hunting, courtship, housework, playing of games, facing and defying death, etc. In ceremonial songs, which are formal appeals to the supernatural, accuracy in rendering is essential, as otherwise 'the path would not be straight,' the relation would not reach their proper destination and evil consequences would follow. Consequently, when an error in singing occurs the singers stop at once and either the song or the whole ceremony is begun again. The steps of ceremonial dances follow the rhythm of the drum which frequently differs from the rhythm of the song. The beat covers the bodily movements, the song voices the emotion of the appeal. The Indian sings with all his force being intent on expressing the fervor of his emotion."

The paper was illustrated by Indian plays acted by Miss Roberta Holder and by choruses sung in the Chippewa language by some of the Junior members.

TEN CENTS MAY BUY AN AUTOMOBILE.

How to secure ten chances for a dollar in the patriotic drawing, though the tickets cost fifty cents, was solved this week in a local business office where there are five girls employed. Each paid twenty cents on two tickets, ten cents each, and in this way twenty cent tickets were purchased. Most of the young women had already bought two or more tickets for the drawing at full price, but in this way they secured an increased advantage, and thought it a very good investment, didn't they?

PERSONAL.

Miss Sadie Jones left on the Montreal train last evening to accept a position in the Agricultural Department at Ottawa. Many friends wish her the best of luck in her new position.

What the citizens will give to assist Empire in great struggle.

If the proposed grant of $25,000 for the Canadian Patriotic Fund is voted, the share to be paid by residents of the city—about ninety per cent—will be $22,500, and this, added to previous grants, will make a total of about $55,000, to be provided by the city taxpayers.

At the last meeting of the common council the resolution providing for a grant of $25,000 for the patriotic fund was referred to a special committee for consideration, and this committee will meet this afternoon to decide upon their recommendation to the council.

Grants for patriotic purposes have been made by the city commissioners as follows:—Belgian fund, $2,000; Patriotic Fund, $12,000; recruiting committee, $1,000; Provincial Red Cross, $500; British Red Cross, $5,000. The city's proportion of the patriotic grants made by the county council are as follows:—Patriotic fund $9,000; Belgian fund, $1,800; recruiting committee, $1,800.

The city's share of these grants is $33,100. If the $25,000 additional is voted, the city will have to find about $22,500 of it, thus bringing the total up to $55,600.

FUSILIERS BAND FOR OVERSEAS DUTY

Have been accepted to go with 73rd Battalion of Montreal.

Still another musical organization leaves St. John for the front. At noon yesterday the Rev. J. J. McCaskill, chaplain of the 73rd Highlanders, received a telegram from Col. Peers Davidson, O. C. of the 73rd Highlanders, Montreal, stating that the offer of the 62nd Bn. to go overseas with his regiment had been accepted. The bandmen were delighted with the news, and will leave for Montreal next week with a strength of thirty members. The band made their last public appearance for some time in St. John, the 7th regiment of Highlanders is affiliated with the famous old country regiment, the Black Watch and it is a distinction to be numbered on its roll. All honor to the brave bandmen.

WAR TROPHIES ON EXHIBITION

Fine display under auspices of Women's Canadian Club shown yesterday

Mayor Frink opened the Exhibition of War Trophies yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the building at 93 German street. The room is tastefully decorated with flags and presents a military appearance.

A model of the German cruiser Emden, which was sunk off Australia, was one of the interesting spectacles on exhibition.

The enlarged duplicates of three maps found on a German officer captured by the British gave the intimate details of France, Belgium, Germany, Galicia, Silesia, Hungary, Poland and Prussia also were interesting. There was also a copy of the London Times of 1895, giving the first news of the Battle of Trafalgar and the death of Nelson as it appeared in those days. This paper consists of four pages, whose sizes are about one quarter of the newspaper of our time. It is interesting to note the advertising matter.

The "Scrap of Paper" showing the signatures and seals of England, France, Russia, Austria and Germany of the treaty signed in 1814, which certifies the independence and neutrality of Belgium was displayed along with maps of Europe, showing the forts as they stood at the beginning of the war.

Through the kindness of Alex. Bertin, chairman of the Shell Committee, eighteen pound shrapnels and eighteen pound high explosives with their component parts are exhibited. Other shells and their parts and blueprints of those made at McAvity's foundry are also there.

Trophies such as bayonets, swords, knives, caps, helmets, knapsacks, lancets and numerous other parts of soldiers' equipments and articles of war, found on the battlefields of Europe give a good example of modern warfare. They were picked up at the battles of "The Aisne," "Ypres," "Champagne" and other less important places and belong to every nation now at war.

In another part are numerous photographs of the boys who have gone and are going to do their little bit. There are photos of most all the officers who have left St. John and a full portrait of each New Brunswick battalion. Their names are attached to the photos, for many of these portray the boys who have been either wounded or killed.

"The Listening Post," a paper printed by the 7th Canadian Infantry Battalion, is also exhibited. The manner of its publication is interesting and it contains many humorous advertisements. Its motto is, "Try and break trench monotony."

CONGREGATIONAL SOCIAL AT TRINITY

An enjoyable evening spent by members of church at annual reunion

The annual congregational social was held last evening in the Sunday school room of Trinity church. Rev. L. R. Sherman presided and a good number enjoyed the interesting evening.

W. S. Fisher gave a brief description of his visit to England and explained the work in and around Shorncliffe. F. J. G. Knowlton spoke of his appreciation of the good sized rather the absence of the rector, who is still confined to his bed. Solos were given by Miss Knight and Mr. Skelton and the choir sang the hymn of Harbinger.

The room was tastefully decorated with flags and near the end of the evening refreshments were served by the young ladies of the church. The evening came to a close with the singing of the national anthem.

Red Cross Work.

Subscriptions received by Lady Tilley in response to the special appeal for the British Red Cross Fund amount to $3,447.21. This is the result of the efforts made by various societies and individuals by means of tag days, house-to-house collections, silver teas and otherwise. Collections taken in churches in the Parish of Rothesay have not as yet all come in, but those will be forwarded later through the Red Cross societies of Rothesay. Besides the above sum Lady Tilley has handed to Mayor Frink $100 received from St. George's Society of Harbinger, Chapter, I. O. D. E., and the N. B. Graduate Nurses' Association.

St. John Commended.

Mayor Frink has received the report of the Commission of Conservation, of which the frontispiece, a large of the town planning section prepared by St. John. There is an explanatory paragraph pointing out that St. John is the first city in Canada to prepare a town planning scheme and commending the city for its courage and enterprise.

IN REMEMBRANCE OF OLD 104TH REGIMENT

Historic display in window of M.R.A. Ltd., King Street.

The entire annex window of Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd., was set apart for a fine and valuable display, which must have added greatly to interest in the campaign for recruiting in the 104th Battalion. The following are some of the articles exhibited:

Lock musket that saw service through Wellington's campaigns, including the battle of Waterloo; Canadian officer's sword, worn by Colonel Stone; first percussion musket used in the British army, converted from the old flint lock; Captain Charles Rainsford's commission as captain of the 104th Regiment, dated November 24, 1814, signed by the Prince Regent, afterwards George IV.; old uniform worn by officers of the 104th; list of officers of the 104th; pattern of first rifle used in the British army by marines and rifle brigade; silver tray used on mess table by the 104th; blunderbuss; button from uniform of Captain Rainsford; sword of Lieutenant William Barry Phair, of the 104th, carried by him in the famous march of the regiment from Fredericton to Quebec in 1813; regimental flag of the 104th, with inscriptions—Fredericton, Quebec, Sackett's Harbor, Lundy's Lane, Fort Erie.

Some particulars of the career of the old 104th are written on neatly written cards as follows: This historic regiment, the 104th, is worthy of more than passing notice. New Brunswick, its total strength was 1,050. It had the distinction of having two bands of music. The officers and the rank and file were all white men, except the pioneers and drummers who were great, strapping colored men. Those who are familiar with the composition of the old British regiments when stationed here will know that there was one able-bodied man at the head of each company, called a pioneer. They were the only men in the regiment who were allowed to wear full beards. These men wore double cross-belts over their shoulders, to which were attached a large pouch on each side in which they carried an axe and pickaxe. The big drummer of the 104th was nearly seven feet high.

The 104th received its baptism of fire at Sackett's Harbor on May 29, 1812, when a British and Canadian force of 750 completely routed an American force of 1,300. In this fight four companies of the 104th were engaged and fought like seasoned veterans. Ninety-one men of the 104th fell in this engagement. In the battle of Lundy's Lane, one of the most stubbornly contested battles of the war, some of the 104th showed their splendid fighting qualities. At the siege of Port Erie, when the gallant Major Drummond fell whilst leading his men, it is recorded that greater bravery was never displayed in any action than that of the old 104th Regiment.

WHO IS DR. JACKSON?

For years he taught food chemistry, dietetics and diseases of the digestive tract in one of the large medical schools of the continent. In his extensive experience in free clinics he worked out the formula for Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal, a compound of whole wheat and rye, with deodorized flaxseed and bran. It nourishes better than meat, prevents indigestion and positively relieves constipation or "money back." Ask your doctor. At all grocers, 25 cents.

SCHOONER LOST SAILS.
