HEAVY BUSINESS

IN POLICE COURT

Several Important Cases Dealt With by Magistrate Ritchie.

There was quite a busy section in the police court yesterday afternoon. The first on the docket was the bringing of four soldiers, viz., May, Savage, Perkins and Anderson, of the 36th Battalion before the magistrate. These men were charged with having on the night of Thursday, 7th inst., assaulted and beat with intent to do grievous bodily harm, John McVane in the latter's store on the corner of Carman then and St. Andrew's streets, also with breaking windows in the store, also for assaulting Police Sergeant Scott while in the discharge of his duty.

His Honor pointed out that the quartette of soldiers were liable to a term in the penitentiary for their actions. He said the people were proud of the boys in the British uniform but not proud of some of them, who act in a disgraceful manner on the streets, one of their actions being to peer into the faces of women, getting drunk and frequenting houses of ill repute.

The Colonel of the regiment had requested that the men be sent to the Army to be dealt with and this would be allowed on the promise that McVane and the man who injured, would be recompensed for the damage done his property, and for the time that he lost from his business as well as his doctor bills being paid. The four prisoners were then taken from the court room under an escort and they will be court martialled by the military officials.

Louis Jones, a colored man, was before the court on the charge of assaulting another colored man, named James Bilsard, on Wellington Row a few nights ago. Edward Henry Bilsard, the seven year old son of the complainant, testified that on the night in question he was accompanying his father along Wellington Row when James called out that he wished to speak with Bilsard. The latter said he did not wish to have any talk with him. At this Jones struck Bilsard and knocked him down. Bilsard then broke his cane over Jones' head and Bilsard was again knocked down. Witness said he called on Jones not to "kill Papa," and Jones went away.

Jones asked that a young woman, who was with him at the time, be let go as a witness and he was remanded to jail until next Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

John Duffy was charged with being the proprietor of a disorderly house in St. Patrick street, while his daughter, Alice, Mrs. Margaret Maloney, an aged woman, with William Curran and James J. O'Brien, two members of the 36th Battalion, were charged with being inmates of the house, which was raided on Tuesday night. Charles Duffy, a young son of the defendant, was called and testified that he resided at his father's house at the present time. He had complained frequently about his father squandering his money and that he had spent about five thousand dollars in liquor in the past few years. He had the money in the bank, but he stopped work and kept drawing the money out to buy liquor. Witness said that he was a frequent visitor to the house, and that he had seen his father and mother there. He said that he had some sympathy for his father, but he had to stand up for Alice, who would remain about the house as long as there was any rum going. Witness said that he had visited the house on several occasions and heard fighting and talk, the drinking of liquor by all in the house, and many men going to and from the house. The men, both soldiers and civilians, would take liquor to the house, and would send out for food. Curran, one of the defendants, witness said, was a married man and he was a frequent visitor to the house, and there were five or six soldiers at the house last Saturday night.

He saw one man purchasing a bottle of liquor in a Brussels street saloon and taking it to the house. Men were there until three o'clock in the morning. Witness further said that he had been trying to break up the house for the past six months, and Tuesday night he called on Special Policeman McKee to make the raid. Mrs. Mahoney would visit the house and bring liquor in medicine bottles and drink it with the others. His sister, Alice, would stand at the door, waiting for men and children, and when they came she would drink it with them. There was a man named McKenzie, who frequented the house.

Tuesday night when he and the police entered the house Curran had crawled partly under a bed. Another sister named Nettie, witness said, had been sent to the Home of the Good Shepherd and that she would bring liquor to the house. Alice was used to get blamed for a lot of things that Alice did. The soldier, Curran, was quite a regular visitor at the house.

James J. O'Brien, who is a good looking young soldier, aged 18 years, and one of the defendants, was placed on the stand as a witness for the crown and testified that on Tuesday evening he had been in the company of Curran, McIntyre and Giltner, three other soldiers, and as they were walking down St. Patrick street Curran or McIntyre suggested going into the house. Witness did not know what kind of a house it was and had never been there before. After they were in the house for a time Mrs. Mahoney came in with a couple of medicine bottles full of liquor and the men and women drank out of a cup, witness never drank in his life and refused to take any on this occasion. They had a few games of cards. Curran was intoxicated and witness waited for him as he did not wish to leave him there but wanted to take him back to the barracks. He was calling on Curran to come with him when the officers arrived on the scene.

Policeman Jeffery gave evidence that when he entered the house O'Brien and Alice Duffy were sitting on a sofa. Mrs. Mahoney was on a chair, while Curran and John Duffy were in a bed room. Witness said he saw about 75 square faced gin bottles about the house. In answer to the magistrate if he had seen any

OF SCHOOLS COMMITTEE

Synod of Church of England Accepts Resignation of Rev. E. B. Hooper Regretfully—Routine Business Transacted.

A meeting of the Synod of the Church of England was held last evening at the Church Institute, Prince street, for the purpose of considering reports and recommendations of the standing committee on Sunday schools. The business transacted was mostly of a routine nature. An outstanding feature of the meeting, however, was the resignation of the secretary of the schools committee by Rev. E. B. Hooper, who, having been accepted as chaplain with the second contingent, will be unable to attend to the school work. Mr. Hooper's resignation was accepted with regret, and the unanimous hope was expressed that he would at some future time be able to resume office. Various matters concerning the school work of the diocese were dealt with and the meeting was adjourned to a date to be agreed upon, when a secretary will be appointed.

Those present at last evening's meeting were His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton, Rev. E. B. Hooper, Rev. Canon Stuart, Rev. G. F. Scoville, Rev. Canon Siam, Rev. G. A. Kullberg, Ven. Archdeacon Newham and Rev. J. Spencer.

FLOUR PRICES CONTINUE THEIR UPWARD TREND

Gradual advance attributable to abnormal conditions—Downward prices may come gradually.

Manitoba flour was quoted by jobbers in the local market yesterday at $8.25; Ontario, $7.35. Both these prices show an appreciable increase as from December 24. On this date Ontario mills increased 10c; on December 31 there was a rise of 15c, and on January 6th an increase of 25c. Manitoba mills advanced 50c, on January 6, and a further 20c, last Monday. The gradual advance had been anticipated by wholesalers and jobbers, because of unusual conditions affecting the wheat markets of the world. The European shortage, consequent, in great measure, on the almost total suspension of dealings in such wheat as the Russians have been able to export, has kept prices at a normal level. The gradual advance had been anticipated by wholesalers and jobbers, because of unusual conditions affecting the wheat markets of the world. The European shortage, consequent, in great measure, on the almost total suspension of dealings in such wheat as the Russians have been able to export, has kept prices at a normal level.

"It may happen that when the wheat markets of the world have settled down to something nearly approaching normal conditions there may be just as gradual a decrease in flour prices as have been recent increases," said one local man yesterday. Another man interested in the flour trade said: "Argentina has yet to be heard from. There the wheat crops have always had influence in the market, and in Canada generally. The figures as to the output of wheat in Argentina will soon be available, and may have some effect on local market prices. But there are other considerations, and it is hardly necessary to say that war conditions are the supreme factor, just now, in the flour trade as well as in any other business."

CHORUS GIRLS' CONTEST TONIGHT'S BIG FEATURE AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The stage of the Opera House has been a busy place every morning lately, being occupied by the members of the chorus of the Thompson Musical Company, all busily at work on their respective "stunts" for the chorus girls' contest tonight. Over in the corner where the famous Katherine McKee is doing some pantomime work on an act that is going to make the boys sit up straight and take notice; over here Dolly Mosher is busy with the musical director; Iona Carter has been for her exclusive use to try out a novel idea of her own; quiet little Alice Downey does not say much, but she is going to do but the musical director says it will be a "knock-out"; Lillian Blanchard has a chance to display her vocal abilities in the play last week and is now working on a new song; and dance number: Blanche Bullock has worked out a clever conception to offer, and the other girls are all going to do their very best to win one of the valuable prizes offered by the management. The members of the company are getting a little bit of fun out of it also as there is considerable good natured rivalry among the girls and each is trying to keep her place on the stage as much of a secret from the others as is possible. The indications are that everybody in town is going to be there.

Special Officer McBride testified that when he entered the house he found Curran lying on the bed room floor drunk, and it was necessary to pick him on the feet a few times to arouse him. John Duffy was lying drunk on a bed. The reputation of the house was bad. Officer Lucas testified that the Duffy house had a bad reputation, was disorderly and there was continual complaints about it for the last couple of years. Alice Duffy, as well as her sister, had a bad reputation. The five were remanded to jail.

OVER 30 LANGUAGES

SPOKEN IN CANADA

Bible Society Supplies Bibles in Over 400 Languages—Meeting at St. Luke's Church.

A meeting of the St. John branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held in St. Luke's church last evening with the Hon. President Judge Forbes in the chair. Rev. R. P. McKim conducted the opening exercises, consisting of scripture readings and prayer. Judge Forbes then made a few remarks about the work of the society, and introduced Rev. David Hutchinson, who spoke on the relation of missions to the Bible society. He pointed out that nearly all missions were supplied with Bibles by the society, and that the society had had the Bible translated into 400 languages. Rev. H. E. Thomas, the next speaker, gave an interesting address, dealing with the relation of the Bible to the everyday life of the people. Rev. H. R. Boyer, secretary of the Bible society, told of the work of the colporteurs in Canada, and the distribution of the Bible in the northwest, where over thirty different languages are spoken.

The meeting was well attended and a success in every way.

R.K.Y.C. FUND FOR SAILORS OF BRITISH FLEET IS GAINING

London Times (Weekly Edition). "The popular impression on which conceives of our Grand Fleet as grimly encircling the German naval ports, is entirely wrong. If it did so, it might very soon have very little Grand Fleet left. Enemy submarines would very quickly dispose of some of our battleships. Wherever the Grand Fleet may be, assuredly it does not cling to one place or one small area. Sometimes, the Admiralty have told us, it sweeps through the North Sea, and at such moments the Germans do not willingly show their noses outside their mined and guarded ports. Sometimes it is elsewhere. Its great pre-occupations are, first, to be ever ready, and second, to conserve its strength in units until it gets a chance to strike home. It's primary duty is not to defend our shores, but to destroy the enemy's fleet, by which act our shores are defended. To that duty all considerations must be subordinated. The task of watching for the enemy night and day, goes on incessantly and vigorously, but we cannot use our best ships for the task. The risk from submarines is too great. Nor can the vessels we employ be very fast, for in sight of Holland and Borkum. Therein lies the German opportunity. In the long dark nights, perhaps under the cover of mist, they can send a swift squadron tearing over to England to base away at helpless civilians. Such is the German conception of war. The raiding ships must be very fast, and even then they dare only stay for an hour or so. Were it not for their fear of interception Scarborough might today be in ashes. They must be powerful enough to drive all vessels heading. The risks of being caught are very great, but the Germans think them good enough to take."

The R. K. Y. C. Fund in aid of the sailors of the British Fleet is steadily growing, and the following subscriptions are acknowledged: E. A. Kincaide, city, $1; G. F. Miller, city, $1; H. C.
