

DOMINICAN REVOLUTION.

THE CABLED REPORTS OF ITS SPREAD ARE NOW CONFIRMED.

Jimenez, the Prime Mover, Expected to Arrive Soon With Arms—A Plebiscite May Be Had on an American Annexation or Protectorate.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 11—A mail despatch from Santo Domingo dated August 8, via Hayti, confirms the cable intelligence telling of the spread and significance of the revolution throughout the Dominican Republic.

An Awful Experience.

[This story is told by a physician in one of the largest New York hospitals. He declares it is true in every respect, but refuses to allow the use of his name or those of the two persons most deeply interested.]

It is not necessary to say that this is a true story. Its very vividness stamps it as more wonderful than the wildest flight of even Poe or Gaboriau; and De Maupassant would have made a masterpiece of it.

The circumstances as set down here were told as taking place within the walls of one of New York's great hospitals not many months ago. The ethical, as well as the scientific, question involved has been the occasion of no end of spirited controversy among medical men and others, with no communion of opinion yet arrived at. It challenges the deepest thought.

A promising young scientist, having just returned from a three years' course of study in various parts of Europe on a scholarship from a New York institution, settled down to work in one of the great metropolitan hospitals. His specialty was diseases of the heart, forecasting in that branch of experimental science a great field.

About the same time he became engaged to the only daughter of a man of great wealth who had extensive interests abroad, and who, with his wife and daughter, made bi-yearly trips over the water. On this particular occasion, desiring to remain where her fiancé could enjoy the charm of her presence and the benefit of her counsel, the daughter kept house in the fine old mansion upon the quiet slope with the servants, while her parents went abroad. No sooner had the women left it.

From the first the doctor (her fiancé), who was in constant attendance upon her, was puzzled over the case, and finally he grew alarmed. He had consulted with the young woman to the hospital, where she could enjoy the most expert physical care and where the consulting physician could watch her case, which was peculiarly baffling. It was some sort of a valvular affection of the heart, but the exact nature of the malady was very weak, and a cablegram was sent to the patient's parents, so that on their arrival at Queensdown they could immediately return.

Every resource known to medical science was resorted to, but the case grew more and more hopeless. This was peculiarly distressing to the young scientist, who was compelled to witness the martyrdom of his own bride-to-be to a disease in which he thought himself so profoundly enlightened.

Every great heart specialist in the metropolis was brought to the bedside, but without success. He had pronounced her case hopeless as no one could give a clear and positive diagnosis. The fiancé kept up the patient's spirits till the last. When in the shadow of death she called him to her and whispered:— "Call me the truth. Does any one know what is the matter with me?" Her fiancé shook his head disconsolately, holding her closely in his arms, for he could not speak.

"Then," she continued, "I leave it for you to find out, for the benefit of those that shall come after."

These were her last words. Ten minutes later she passed into coma and was pronounced dead. The body was taken to the dead room and placed in an ice enclosed casket, while the broken-hearted young scientist went to the quiet of his chamber, crushed and delirious with sleeplessness and sorrow.

The bitterness of affliction rendered doubly severe by the charge of defect in his chosen science, in which he felt himself such a master. After great and anxious query came into the man's heart.

Dead the woman was, but how? What was the mysterious malady? Then he recalled her last words:— "I leave it for you to find out, for the benefit of those that shall come after."

He required the courage of a great hero to draw aside the white coverlet, and, with the steadiness of a master of surgery to make the first incision. Resolutely he went to the bedside, and most thoroughly he worked it. He removed the entire covering of the chest cavity, laying bare the heart, which—It seems quite to be a miracle, a miracle that has not been reported before—was paralyzed with terror to see that organ in full action, pumping, pumping, throbbing with sudden returns to life.

The scientist laid aside his knife, his own heart freezing in his bosom. For a moment he stood perfectly motionless, his hands that miracle, a thousand visions were passing through his mind, a thousand visions were passing through his mind, a thousand visions were passing through his mind.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

He now saw at a glance what was the mysterious disease of the heart—that affliction was not a hopeless, incurable malady, but one which he could have overcome had he but possessed the courage to do so.

NOT UNANIMOUS. THE CONGREGATION OF THE MONCTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

Adjourn Without Making a Choice After Meeting to Select a Pastor—Big Preparations Are Being Made for the Two Marriages Meets.

MONCTON, Aug. 11—A business meeting of the Moncton First Baptist church was called last night for the purpose of selecting a pastor to succeed Rev. W. B. Hinson, who has gone to Vancouver, but the meeting was anything but unanimous on a choice.

The Moncton Amateur Athletic Association is making elaborate preparations for the annual picnic at Point du Chene tomorrow.

Mr. George H. Truman, the genial I. O. R. T. agent here, is able to be around again after two or three weeks' rather serious illness.

Major Boone Dead—Funeral of C. J. Wilson—Taxes for the Year—Judge Vanwart will stay.

BRIDGEPORT, Aug. 11—Major Boone, one of the best known, most popular and universally esteemed citizens of St. John, died this morning of typhoid fever. Deceased was 52 years of age, and leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

PULLMAN TO REFORM. HAS GONE TO THE WHITE PLAINS TO ESCAPE FROM LIQUOR.

And Hopes to Be Cured When He Leaves—His Twin Brother, However, Still Sticks to the Liquor and Stays Away From the Sanatorium.

New York, Aug. 10—George M. Pullman arrived in White Plains last evening. He expects to stay there for a few weeks, and hopes at the end of that time to have done forever with liquor that has done so much for him.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so. In Sanger's behalf it is now asserted that he does not need the treatment.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

Mr. Pullman is to fortify himself with a course of treatment at an institution here for his battle with the tempter. His twin brother, Sanger, did not accompany him, although it had been reported that he would do so.

THE CONGREGATION OF THE MONCTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

Adjourn Without Making a Choice After Meeting to Select a Pastor—Big Preparations Are Being Made for the Two Marriages Meets.

MONCTON, Aug. 11—A business meeting of the Moncton First Baptist church was called last night for the purpose of selecting a pastor to succeed Rev. W. B. Hinson, who has gone to Vancouver, but the meeting was anything but unanimous on a choice.

The Moncton Amateur Athletic Association is making elaborate preparations for the annual picnic at Point du Chene tomorrow.

Mr. George H. Truman, the genial I. O. R. T. agent here, is able to be around again after two or three weeks' rather serious illness.

Major Boone Dead—Funeral of C. J. Wilson—Taxes for the Year—Judge Vanwart will stay.

BRIDGEPORT, Aug. 11—Major Boone, one of the best known, most popular and universally esteemed citizens of St. John, died this morning of typhoid fever. Deceased was 52 years of age, and leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10—Governor Power of the state of Maine, was in Woodstock today. He was driven to the different places of interest in town accompanied by his Worship Mayor Murphy, E. B. Appleby and Coar.

BRIDGEPORT, N. S., Aug. 10—Our town is crowded with tourists as never before. A large summer hotel will appear in the near future.

NEWS FROM ST. ANDREWS.

St. Andrews, August 11—Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Worrall, of Fairville, after spending their honeymoon with Mr. Worrall's parents in St. Andrews, returned to St. John this morning. Mr. Worrall will resume his work as principal of the Fairville schools on Monday next.

The ladies of All Saints' Church Guild held their annual sale of fancy goods and provided the pairings for the splendid dinner given at the Memorial hall. The proceeds, which will be used for the benefit of the church, amounted to a very handsome sum.

Mr. Robert Worrall has resigned his position as section foreman on the St. Andrews section of the Canada Pacific railway.

The members of the Shore Line Band of St. Stephen are camping out for a two weeks' outing at Mowat's Grove. There are 12 persons in the party.

At the regular meeting of New Brunswick Lodge, F. and A. M., last Thursday an official visit was made by Grand Master T. Walker and the Grand Lodge officers. The first degree was worked on one candidate. Then a special event occurred. Grand Master Walker presented to the lodge a handsome portrait of its first master, the late James McNichol, who was also grand master of New Brunswick in 1887 and 1888.

The wonderful master of New Brunswick Lodge, Mr. James A. Wilson, accepted the portrait on behalf of the lodge and extended thanks to the donor, Mr. F. H. C. Miles painted and donated the portrait, and it was placed in a handsome frame presented by Mr. Miles to each of these the hearty thanks of the lodge was extended.

The portrait is an excellent likeness. It is a bust picture and shows the late grand master wearing his insignia of office, the collar of blue and gold. The figure is well posed. The head is slightly from the upper left hand corner, the light falling upon the forehead. The head is a little larger than life size and the flesh tints are very good. In evidence of the minuteness of his work are seen particularly in the painting of the masonic grand master's collar. Mr. Miles won congratulations from all on the excellence of the portrait.

At the close of the meeting the members adjourned to the banquet hall, flanked by cigars and pipes. Woorbitright and left Grand Master Walker, and Deputy Grand Master W. B. Wallace. The vice chair was occupied by Senior Warden Frank Fain of New Brunswick Lodge. After the course had been discussed speech making and songs were in order and the evening passed most pleasantly. Fraternal brethren during the evening were Mr. R. S. Skinner of Fredericton, and Mr. W. K. Baller of St. Martins.

The Bridgeport Inquiry.

BRIDGEPORT, Aug. 10—This afternoon the coroner's jury visited the Bridgeport hospital and took the testimony of Mrs. Sidney A. Pitt, Frank Knapp and Mathew Roblin of Bloomfield, the latter a French-Canadian. He testified through an interpreter. Mr. Pitt is yet unacquainted of the fate of her husband and child, who were buried yesterday, nor does Frank Knapp know that Beezie Tuomey, who was with him on the car, and whom he buried yesterday. Several witnesses were brought out, but no startling facts were brought out.

A Young Teacher.

ALMA, Aug. 8—Miss Helen B. Atkinson, of Albert, obtained a first class teacher's license before she was 17 years old, and this summer, while yet quite young, succeeded in passing for a superior license.

Hoosac Tunnel Ventilation.

The friction clutch pulley to be used in operating the ventilating fan at the top of the central shaft of the Hoosac tunnel has been completed, and as soon as it can be put in place the fan will be ready to start up. This will be done at an early day, and the experiment of freeing the tunnel of smoke and foul air by this means will be watched with interest. The apparatus has been arranged so as to draw air up the shaft or force it down. Ordinarily the air will be drawn up, but an interesting experiment will be made next winter. In freezing weather doors have to be maintained at each portal of the tunnel, and at the west portal a fire is also kept to prevent an accumulation of ice from the freezing of the water that drips from the tunnel and runs out in the ditches. At the east end, where the exposure is not so great, no fire is kept but the door under the shaft and out at the portals it will be so long in a temperature above freezing that it will be warm enough to prevent the freezing of water at the portals. Should this prove to be the case it will result in a considerable saving of money and boiler, as the tunnel doors could be done away with and the services of two men dispensed with. The doors have to be tended with great care to avoid accidents, and it will be a very good thing if they can be laid aside. — [Springfield Republican.]

DUN'S REVIEW

Of Trade in the United States Indicates Tremendous Prosperity.

New York, Aug. 11—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade will tomorrow say: After great expansion business hesitates. This year it is astonishingly changed with a steady decline. In one branch after another buying has halted, only to be followed by larger buying.

Every man watches his balance in the bank, and his balance in his cash account, pretty closely. There are other ledger accounts that the average man entirely forgets to his own undoing. It is his account with death. It doesn't pay to let this account run on, and have it debited with indigestion, and then impure blood, and finally nervous exhaustion, or prostration, or deadly consumption. When these diseases come, the doctor's bill is a debit balance with death brought home to the blood red ink of another life sacrificed on the altar of foolish overwork.

Medical Discovery makes the appetite keen, the blood pure. It is the great blood-maker, the flesh-builder and health-bringer. It makes firm, healthy flesh, but does not produce fatness or raise the weight above nature's normal. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of constipation, bronchial, throat and catarrhal affections. Honest dealers don't urge substitutes.

It may save a life. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of custom and mail, only to World's Dispensary Med. Assn., Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, cloth binding, 50 stamps. Contains 1088 pages, over 300 illustrations, a valuable medical library in one volume.

Headache

Is often a warning that the liver is torpid or inactive. More serious trouble may follow. For a prompt, efficient cure of Headache and all liver troubles, take Hood's Pills.

While they rouse the liver, restore full, regular action of the bowels, they do away with the pain, do not irritate or inflame the internal organs, and have a positive tonic effect. 25¢ at all druggists or by mail of C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Headache is often a warning that the liver is torpid or inactive. More serious trouble may follow. For a prompt, efficient cure of Headache and all liver troubles, take Hood's Pills.

While they rouse the liver, restore full, regular action of the bowels, they do away with the pain, do not irritate or inflame the internal organs, and have a positive tonic effect. 25¢ at all druggists or by mail of C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Headache is often a warning that the liver is torpid or inactive. More serious trouble may follow. For a prompt, efficient cure of Headache and all liver troubles, take Hood's Pills.

While they rouse the liver, restore full, regular action of the bowels, they do away with the pain, do not irritate or inflame the internal organs, and have a positive tonic effect. 25¢ at all druggists or by mail of C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Headache is often a warning that the liver is torpid or inactive. More serious trouble may follow. For a prompt, efficient cure of Headache and all liver troubles, take Hood's Pills.

While they rouse the liver, restore full, regular action of the bowels, they do away with the pain, do not irritate or inflame the internal organs, and have a positive tonic effect. 25¢ at all druggists or by mail of C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Headache is often a warning that the liver is torpid or inactive. More serious trouble may follow. For a prompt, efficient cure of Headache and all liver troubles, take Hood's Pills.