PERSONAL EXPERIENCE.

Interesting Incidents of the War Told by Men who Are Part of the British Army---What They See and Hear, and Do, and What They Think.

4314 ----

The following was received yesterday, from Sergt. Polkenhorn:

mistake. Last night we had a terrific the artists delight to depict. This city storm of rain, thunder and lightning, the has many delightful suburban resorts like of which I never imagined possible where the tired city dweller may hie himbefore. The rain comes down in sheets, self for a few days' rest from the toils and and in our bivouac we get soaked through cares of everyday life and find the needed in less time than it takes me to write change and yet feel that he is convenientabout it. There are pleasanter things than ly near the city should anything occur relying in that condition all night. Some of quiring his immediate presence or attenour men get their great coats on together with a blanket and walk about all night; of course they are wet through, and with no place to lie down, for there is generally sun comes out we take off our blankets neither did I fall out on our five days!

"About Erne coming out here, I must say that I glory in his pluck in wanting to fight for the Queen, but nevertheless I would advise him not to come this time for I really think the worst is over now that we have conquered the Free Staters. We may have some more fighting before we take Johannesburg or Pretoria. I forgot who the boys were in that photo, but I think two of them were shot at Paardewrites his father from Bloemfontein under date of March 21. He states that because of their long march to that place—the second longest march on record—the Canadians are to get a medal. He says that one of his company's non coms. from C company, Toronto, was a prisoner for eat-

Messrs. Guy Johnston, and E. D. N. Sears, Mr. John Willett has a letter from Mr. John Willett has a letter from Private Scott. He writes of the entrance to Bloemfontein and of its evacuation by the Boers. At time of writing, the regiment had been eight weeks away from cover, their sleeping being in the open. One night, he says, some of the boys lay in three inches of water.

Private W. O. Swatridge

Walker Bell, who sailed on the Milwaukee, writes to his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. C. W. Bell, in this city. The letter is dated H. M. Transport, Friday, March 2nd, 1900, in which he says the steamer did not touch at Cape de Verde as she had sufficient coal and other necessaries to carry her to Cape Town. The weather during the first few days out was bad, it baying rained in torrents.
