

37155

The pressure under which I have been working, and the amount of travel, prevented me from getting off any personal notes at the Christmas season. I was hoping it might be possible to send you and Mrs. Atkinson a line of special greeting. This was the reason I did not write immediately upon my return to Ottawa, to thank you for the pleasure of the visit to your home. I hope it is not too late now to say how very much I appreciated every moment of it, and how more than kind of Mrs. Atkinson and yourself I feel it to be to extend to me the invitation you so cordially do to think of 237 Warren Road whenever I happen to be in Toronto. I shall be happy indeed if the New Year affords me the privilege of other hours such as those enjoyed near the close of the Old.

With the best of wishes to Mrs. Atkinson and yourself for 1919, and with kindest regards,
Believe me,

Very sincerely yours,

W. L. MACKENZIE KING

Mr. J. E. Atkinson,
237 Warren Road,
Toronto.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 42

PUBLIC ARCHIVES PUBLIQUES
CANADA