

QUIT Wasting Cream Profits

NINE out of ten dairy farmers are actually throwing away $20.00 per cow per year! They are doing it by using wasteful, inferior cream separators—or, even worse, by clinging to the old-fashioned gravity, shallow-pan method of separation. Stop this cream waste at once on your farm.

HOOD FARM, LOWELL, MASS.

"The President also feels that he is justified in asking whether the Imperial Chancellor is speaking merely for the constituted authorities of the Empire who have so far conducted the war? He deems the answer to the questions vital from every point of view."

Undoubtedly, the communication between these two countries will have a considerable bearing on the peace terms, and our readers might advisedly follow the text of the communications dealing with terms of peace. Less than a week after President Wilson had replied to the German note requesting an armistice, the German Government replied to the question of the President of the United States as follows:

"In reply to the questions of the President of the United States of America, the German Government hereby declares:

"The German Government has accepted the terms laid down by President Wilson in his address of January the 8th and in his subsequent addresses on the foundation of a permanent peace of justice. Consequently its object in entering into discussions would be only to agree upon practical details of the application of these terms. The German Government believes that the Government of the powers Associated with the Government of the United States also take the position taken by President Wilson in his address. The German Government, in accordance with the Austro-Hungarian Government, for the purpose of bringing about an armistice, declares itself ready to comply with the propositions of the President in regard to evacuation. The German Government suggests that the President may occasion the meeting of a mixed Commission for making the necessary arrangements concerning the evacuation. The present German Government, which has undertaken the responsibility for this step toward peace, has been formed by conference and in agreement with the great majority of the Reichstag. The Chancellor, supported in all of his actions by the will of this majority, speaks in the name of the German Government and of the German people.

The fourteen points of the basis of peace, outlined by President Wilson early in the year, and recently printed in these columns were assented to by the Central Powers. However, President Wilson wishes to know whether he is dealing with military autocracy or with the German people. In his reply to the second communication from the Central Powers, it is plainly shown that there can be no peace while the German Government is controlled by military autocracy, and that an armistice cannot be considered while German atrocities continue on land and sea. Undoubtedly Germany is anxious to make peace before she is further subdued, but so long as the country is controlled by the Military there seems little chance of a permanent peace. The Central Powers have a good deal to account for. They have followed a war of destruction beyond reason; they have murdered and destroyed where there was no need, and for these things they must be held to account. The President's answer, which was issued from Washington on October 14, is considered a masterpiece. In it it is made clear to the Central Powers that peace is impossible while their armed forces continue in their illegal and inhuman practices. The following is the text of the President's reply:

"Sir:

"In reply to the communication of the German Government, dated 12th instant, which you handed to me to-day, I have the honor to request you to transmit the following answer:

"The unqualified acceptance by the present German Government and by a large majority of the Reichstag of the terms laid down by the President of the United States in his address to the Congress of the United States on the 8th of January, 1918, and in his subsequent addresses, justifies the President in making a frank and direct statement of his decision with regard to the communications of the German Government of the 8th and 12th of October, 1918.

"It must clearly be understood that the process of evacuation and the conditions of an armistice are matters which must be left to the judgment and advice of the military advisers of the Government of the United States and the Allied Governments, and the President feels it is his duty to say that no arrangement can be accepted by the Government of the United States which does not provide absolutely satisfactory safeguards and
