THE SPICE OF LIFE.

Good humor and generosity carry the day with the popular heart the world over. Peace in this life springs from acquiescence even in the disagreeable things, not in an exemption from bearing them.—Smith-Fenelon.

SHE WAS CURED.

A young man married a wife who helped him stock his farm to a very considerable extent. One day, when he was speaking of "his farm," "his team," "his cattle," she felt a little hurt, and said:

"William, I think it would sound better to say 'our farm,' 'our cattle,' etc."

Three days later they were dressing to go to a friend's house for the evening, and she got ready first, and, after waiting a little while, called upstairs:

"What's delaying you, William?"

"My dear," he replied, in a distressed voice, "I'm looking for our trousers."

A charitable woman of Washington, hearing that a young girl, whose mother was in poor circumstances, was convalescing from a dangerous illness, sent out of the goodness of her heart some expensive California grapes and pears.

The charitably-disposed lady herself took the fruit to the home of the girl, where the mother received her in a manner that appeared to the donor not indicative of much gratitude.

A few days thereafter the charitable woman again called. "How did your daughter like the grapes and pears?" asked she.

"Oh, pretty well," was the reluctant reply.

"Did she eat them all?"

"Oh, yes; she got away with 'em. But she's a good deal like me; she likes something nice and tasty—like canned corn."

A careful Scot from a verdant part of Fife resolved to treat himself to a "shop" shave.

It was a "three-halfpenny" establishment he patronized, and, as is peculiar to such, a small boy applied the soap while his august employer busied himself removing the lather from the face of another customer.

Whether it was due to constitutional lassitude or from economical considerations, the apprentice made a very insipid show with the brush, which did not at all please the man from Fife, accustomed as he was to vigorous sallies with the soap.

"Laddie," said he, in the voice of a man who speaks under profound restraint, "just haul your paint-brush steady in wan place, and I'll wuggle na face."

LITTLE BOYS AND LITTLE SHEEP. Joe came home with his clothes, and even his little curls, all wringing wet.

"Just knew the ice wasn't strong 'nough!" he grumbled.

"Then why did you slide?" asked Auntie.

"Cause all the other boys did," said Joe; "so I had to, or they'd laugh."

His aunt gave him dry clothes, set him down by the fire, and made him drink hot ginger tea. Then she told him a story.

"When I was a little girl, Joe, my father had a great flock of sheep. They were queer things; where one went, all the rest followed. One day the big ram found a gap in the fence, and he thought it would be fun to see what was in the other field. So in he jumped, without looking where he was going, and down he tumbled to the bottom of an old dry well, where father used to throw stones and rubbish. The next sheep never stopped to see what had become of him, but jumped right after, and the next, and the next, although father tried to drive them back, and Watch, the old sheep dog, barked his loudest. But they just kept on jumping and jumping, till the well was full. Then father had to pull them out as best he could, and the sheep at the bottom of the well were almost smothered to death."

My! what silly fellows!" exclaimed Joe.

Then he looked up at his aunt, and laughed. (London S. S. Times)

MILK CANS ROB YOU

Look through a microscope at milk set to cream in pans or cans and you'll see how they rob you. You'll see the caseine—the cheese part—forming a spider web all through the milk. You'll see this web growing thicker and thicker until it forms solid curd. How can you expect all the cream to rise through that? It can't. This caseine web catches a third to half the cream. You stand that loss just as long as you use pans or cans for they haven't enough skimming force to take out all the cream. But, just the minute you commence using Sharples Dairy Tubular Cream Separator, you stop that loss.

Sharples Dairy Tubular Cream Separators have 10,000 times more skimming force than pans or cans, and twice as much as any other separator. They get all the cream—get it quick—get it free from dirt and in the best condition for making Gilt Edge Butter. Caseine don't bother the Tubular. The Tubular is positively certain to greatly increase your dairy profits, so write at once for catalog I-13 and our valuable free book "Business Dairying."
