

Bon Echo

Nature has been lavish in its picturesque grandeur at Bon Echo. Away up on the very crest of Ontario's Highlands—a massive Gibraltar of old Laurentian granite rears up its rugged face from beautiful Lake Massanoga.

A quaint rustic Inn, rustic cottages, tents, and cottage tents built on a lower shore opposite the mountain—make this beauty spot into a comfortable and charming summer resort—which has been visited by people from all over the United States and Canada.

The health giving climate, the bathing beaches of white sand, a spring of water absolutely pure as by Government analysis—are all points to be considered when choosing a summer's resting place.

More and more do the dwellers in cities realize that to keep well it is necessary to get back to nature for a few weeks or months each year. There is something altogether inspiring, invigorating and joyful in the outdoor life afforded to the guests at Bon Echo Inn. While all modern conveniences, splendid service and excellent table leave nothing to be desired of comfort inside—the outside is one ever-changing panorama of beauty and delight.

To climb the mountain, pick huckleberries, fish, tramp through interesting woods or open fields is to forget pain, symptoms and worries.

The big out-of-doors is balm for both body and soul.

In the evening folks from different parts of the country fraternize and swap yarns around the big stone fireplaces—which just blaze away because of the hospitality they exude.

Some play cards, some dance and many sing.

Tennis tournaments—swimming—boating are all part of the day's fun, and a glorious freedom pervades everything.

Romance and tradition are in the very air for on this spot was the stronghold and fortress of Indian tribes and old paintings commemorating an Indian battle are still to be seen on the face of the mighty cliff. Artists and writers have found both pictures and stories in this land of primeval forest, of glorious sunsets.

Come to Bon Echo and see it all for yourself.
