

IT WILL BE A HOT RACE.

The Contest Between Taylor and the Indian.

Louis Cardinell Will Meet Taylor in a Twenty-Mile Race for $1,000 a Side.

Among the sporting events which will take place between now and the evening of the Queen's birthday, none are attracting as much attention as the 20-mile foot-race to be run by Geo. Taylor and Louie Cardinell for $1000 a side. Taylor has been up against the best men in the world, and the Indian has met and defeated some of the best of professional men, who didn't size Louie up just right. It seems strange to relate, but it is true, nevertheless, that some ten years ago Taylor and Louie were matched, and neither knew it until a few days ago.

Taylor dropped into Detroit, Mich., about ten years ago and issued a challenge to run any man any distance, for any amount. A few days elapsed and a Mr. Briggs of Port Huron asked Taylor if he would run against an Indian. Taylor told him he'd run any one. Briggs told him his man was in the West and it would take a week or so to get him.

The arrangements were made and Taylor went into training. Briggs called it off, however, by saying he could not get his man, as he had entered the police service, and could not get away.

After Taylor and Louie were matched for this race they met one day and talked over who they had met—"talked shop." Then Louie told how Briggs had telegraphed for him to go to Detroit, but he could not get away and Taylor became wise in a minute.

Men who know Louie in the Northwest say he can "outrun a coyote." Tom Davis, of the C. D. Co., says several times this winter Louie, after taking the outgoing mail to Ogilvie, found the incoming mail already there, and after eating a light lunch he would start with fresh dogs for Dawson making a 100-mile run and arrive back the same day as fresh as if he had only gone five miles. Others testify to Louie's prowess as a runner and say that if Taylor wins it will be because he is a record breaker. On the other hand, Taylor's friends say they have money to bet, and "money talks." Taylor would not say much about the race except that if anyone had any money they wanted to put up he'd find a taker. In the meantime he takes a run to the Forks, and feels in excellent condition. A track especially for this race is being built on the postoffice lot, opposite the Palace Grand theater, and tomorrow probably both men will train there. There is one thing certain, both have many friends and somebody is going to go broke.

For Yukon Iron Works.

"Billie" Taylor, for many years superintendent of the Port Townsend Southern Railroad, is now stationed at the new town of Caribou as agent for the W. P. & Y. Co. While in Skagway on his way to his new post Mr. Taylor said to an Alaskan reporter: "A large colony is below preparing to come when the ice disappears. Among the freight that is to be shipped in by way of Skagway this season is a great deal of machinery. Walther & Leibig will be here soon with 150 tons of material, chiefly for the Yukon Iron Works."

Netted $1622.

Final reports were submitted on Saturday night by the committee having in charge the entertainment given for the benefit of the Ottawa fire sufferers. The total receipts amounted to $1742, and the expenditures were $125, leaving a net profit of $1622 now available for transmission to Ottawa. Several of the creeks have been heard from and considerable sums are being raised by the various creek committees to add to the fund which now aggregate a total of about $7500.

Increase in River Fleet.

Under the heading of "New Steamers for Dawson," the Skagway Alaskan publishes the following:

"It is reported that the owners of the steamer Alpha, which lately sailed for Nome, have completed putting two steamers on the Upper Yukon to run from Whitehorse to Dawson in conjunction with the Alpha, to be then placed on the Skagway-British Columbia run.

"This report was heard in Seattle not long ago by W. W. Watson, of the Yukon Flyer line, who is at the Golden North en route to the interior.

"I gathered the news," says Mr. Watson, "from a transportation firm that had the scheme under consideration as early as last fall, and who wanted me to take the Whitehorse agency for the Yukon end. When I was in Seattle a short time ago they spoke of the line again.

"I heard the names of the steamers intended for the Yukon end, but I forget them. They are at St. Michaels and it was the intention to have them brought up the river and ready for use on the upper run in June or July. They are light draft craft."

Yea, Yea, Mr. McMullen.

A regular meeting of Dawson Aerie, No. 50, Fraternal Order of Eagles, was held last night at which Thomas McMullen was fitted with a pair of wings and launched into the azure in which he made a beautiful detour, after which he received the chaplain's blessing. After the table was cleared of all business, the regular social session was held, and all present had the usual good time.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

Capt. Scarth presided in the magistrate's chair in police court this morning, but few cases were up for hearing.

Looking as though many weeks ago she had inaugurated a boycott against the use of soap, towels, combs, bath tubs and everything else connected with cleanliness, and had carried out the boycott to the letter, Vera Holmes was in court on the charge of having been very drunk and decidedly disorderly. Only in one respect did Vera this morning resemble Maud Muller who raked meadows sweet with hay when the judge rode slowly down the lane: Her gown was tattered, which gave Vera the appearance of having toyed with a Kansas cyclone. Her case was remanded until this afternoon and she was escorted back to jail to ponder over her fall and moisten her parched lips from the tin cup of remorse.

Evidence of the existence in Dawson of the "slumber" brand of hooch was again before the court this morning. The imbiber was William Brown, who, true to the history of the brand, had wooed nature's sweet restorer—balmy sleep—on the sidewalk. A fine of $5 and costs was imposed and William walked sadly back to where the game of checkers is played with noses; but five minutes later two of his friends appeared, paid the fine and the imbiber of the "slumber" brand emerged into the sunlight of heaven.

Harry Barnes was in court to answer complaints filed by Scott Barnes and Michael Laden for $80 each claimed to be due for labor performed. As neither (pronounced neyther) of the complainants were present, the cases were dismissed.

A. U. Warnercross, a Sulphur layman, was brought in from the guard house to answer a charge of theft, he being accused of having stolen from a suitcase on claim 23 below, Sulphur. As the defendant had only been brought to town yesterday evening, and had not, therefore, had time to consult an attorney and get his bearings, he was remanded until this afternoon with permission to send for and consult a limb of the law.

Soggs Pleads Not Guilty.

Nelson A. Soggs has been accused of assaulting James Rogers with intent to commit murder. The crime is alleged to have been committed on Gold Creek, May 8th, 1900. The indictment was read to the accused this morning in the territorial court, and he entered a plea not guilty. His trial has been fixed for June 4th.

Chechako Hill Magnate.

Chas. E. Severance, one of the promoters of the Bonanza Water Co., which company is supplying water for the washing of a number of large dumps on the first and second benches of Chechako Hill, is in the city on business, having walked down from his place this morning.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A fire at Atkinson, Mich., destroyed two sawmills of the Metropolitan Lumber Company. The loss is between $80,000 and $100,000.

Charles G. Stachelberg, head of the cigar firm of M. Stachelberg & Co., died at his home in New York city, aged 35 years.

Panuca, Mexico, one of the most important trading towns on the east coast of Mexico, has been entirely destroyed by fire. The loss will aggregate $2,225,000.

At a meeting of 1200 Boer sympathizers held in San Diego, Cal., resolutions were adopted expressing the hope that the United States would seek by its good offices to end the war.

The transport Warren will go on the drydock at San Francisco, and later will begin taking on supplies for Manila. The steamer will be able to take about one-third the number of men assigned to duty in the Philippines who were expected to sail on her. The transports Westminster and Aztec have been rechartered to carry freight to Manila.

The Spanish steamer El Salto, Capt. Londo, from Rio for Queenstown, via Philadelphia, limped into Norfolk, Va., a mere iron hull, everything combustible on board having been fed to the furnaces to help her reach a coaling port.

Will Extend Water System

In addition to having piping times of peace, Dawson will soon have times of piecing pipe. The steamer John C. Barr left yesterday for Fort Yukon from which point she will return with a cargo of water pipe which was left there last fall while en route to Dawson, owing to the early closing of the river. As soon as the pipe arrives, the work of extending Col. Word's water system will be vigorously prosecuted.

A Horse on the Sergeant.

Since Sergeant J. J. Wilson of the N. W. M. P., has, by the faithful performance of his duty, unearthed a foul odored state of affairs in the office of the assistant gold commissioner in which an employee was taken red handed in the act of accepting a bribe, a report has been circulated to the effect that the sergeant is to be taken away from Dawson on account of his zealously doing his honest duty. The report has been so assiduously circulated that many of his friends now meet him with: "Very sorry you have to leave us; when will you get away," and other such greetings. In behalf of the faithful servant of the government it may be stated that all reports of his being recalled from his detail here are groundless. Sergeant Wilson could not well be spared from Dawson, but there is no doubt but that certain people, whose acts will not bear the penetrating rays of the searchlight of investigation, would hail the news of his recall with thanksgiving and joy.

Guarding the Prisoners.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 20.—A Niagara Falls special to the Express says:

Chief Youngs, of the Dominion police, has a force of a dozen regular policemen, 200 armed deputies and twenty militiamen guarding the jail at Clifton, Ont., where are confined the three men charged with blowing up lock 24, at Thirld, Ont., Saturday evening.

The extraordinary precautions taken for the guarding of the men is the result of a rumor to the effect that 400 Buffalo grain shovellers were on their way here to liberate the prisoners. The militia of the district, the Forty-fourth battalion, was warned for service. Later Mayor Slater, with two other magistrates, made a demand for a detachment of the battalion to guard the jail, on the ground that the police would be powerless.
