BEAT THE BURG.

Peter McAulay's braves, the C. M. C. baseball club, defeated Wallaceburg in a rather one-sided game yesterday. The wagon makers were altogether too much for the men from the glass town.

Roy Miller was in the box for the locals and proved an enigma to the 'Burgers, who landed safely only three times, all scratches at that. Cook for the visitors pitched a pretty good game but was hit quite freely and became rather dependent if not delirious towards the end of the game. Through Sowerby's error in the first innings and some good base running Wallaceburg scored a run, but were unable to cover the required distance again until McDougall got a hit and managed to cross the rubber. The other two runs were scored, one in the seventh and one in the eighth. In the meantime Chatham had been making good use of their time and in the first, through a complication of errors and hits, put four men over that square known to ball players as the plate. The next innings the first three men up went away back in short order. In the third Roy Miller started the ball going with a clean two-bagger and in that innings three more runs were registered. In the following three innings two runs were scored in each, but failed to count in the seventh and only one was secured in the eighth.

Sowerby made up for his error by sensationally getting with one hand what looked like a sure safe hit. Ripley, Hamilton and Robert also put up a fine fielding game.

The umpire, Harry Philp, gave entire satisfaction to all. It was one of the best umpired games seen on the local diamond for some time.

The score was as follows:

Cook 2b	2	2	2	1	0

The Best Medicine for Mothers Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

"Words cannot express how grateful I am for your kind advice and your 'Favorite Prescription' was a great blessing to me. I had been in poor health for four years. Suffered greatly with my right side, also with bearing down pains, and my nerves were in a dreadful state. After using four bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' I am now well. I am the mother of two children. With the first child I suffered twenty-eight hours, and with the second I used your medicine and was sick only three hours. I believe Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to be the best medicine in the world for suffering females. I wish you great success, and hope that God will bless you in your noble work."

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, June 10.—There were some 400 head of butcher cattle, 180 calves, 300 sheep and lambs and 50 small pigs offered for sale at the east end abattoir to-day. The butchers turned out strong and there was a brisk demand and firm prices paid for good cattle, but the common stock were rather numerous and slightly lower in price. Mr. G. Martell bought six of the best cattle at 6 1/2c per lb. and the other prime animals were sold at about 6c per lb., pretty good cattle sold at from 4 1/2c to near 5 1/2c and the common stock at from 3 1/2c to 4c, per lb.

Calves were rather scarce and higher in price, but there were not many good ones among them; they sold at from $2.50 to $3 each. Shippers paid 4c per lb for good large sheep, and the butchers paid from 3 1/2c to 3 3/4c per lb. for the others. Yearlings sold at from 4c to 4 1/2c per lb. Lambs sold at from $2.50 to $3 each, very few bringing over $1. Good lots of fat hogs sold at from 6 1/2c to 7c per lb. and the heavy packers at about 6c per lb. weighed off the cars. The small pigs were from 5 to 8 weeks old and sold at from $1.50 to $2.50 each.

NEARLY GAVE UP

A Cape Breton Lady Saved at the Last Moment.

A Little Longer and it Would Have Been Too Late—Her Gratitude for Her Deliverance is Unbounded.

Rock Dale, C. B., June 11.—(Special) One of the most thrilling escapes in the history of the Island has just been reported here.

The subject was Mrs. David Riley of this village, and had help not reached her the moment it did, the chances for her recovery were indeed very small.

Mrs. Riley has given the following account of her experience:

"I have been a sufferer for the last 8 years with weakness of the body and pain across the back, and I could scarcely lift my weight."

"I took lots of medicines but without any good results."

"I always had a dizziness and was gradually growing worse."

"I was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and although I had but little faith in medicine after my many discouraging experiences, I decided to give them a trial."

"I used four boxes and I must say that the change they made in my condition was wonderful."

"With the first box I commenced to feel stronger, and I continued the treatment, and now my back does not trouble me at all, and I am stronger and better than I have been for years."

"If it was not for the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills I would have given up."

"I can heartily recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all women suffering as I used to suffer."

The experience of Mrs. Riley is only one of hundreds.

Bad kidney action is at the bottom of nearly all of the weakness, pain and dizziness, with which so many ladies suffer.

Cure the kidneys, and the well kidneys will soon correct all other irregularities and restore perfect health.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are weak women's best friend.

Why "Mike" Didn't Rise.

AMONG the employees of one of the important mercantile establishments of Chicago is a husky young man who is known as "Mike." There seems to be no clear understanding among "Mike's" immediate superiors as to the nature of his duties. He sits around among boxes at the rear end of the concern most of the time and smokes an old pipe that has the death-rattle in its throat.

Occasionally there is a rag-picker or a suspicious looking prowler to be driven out the alley, but aside from looking after such persons "Mike" has no regular work to do. This gives him plenty of time to get fat and to ponder upon the great mysteries of existence.

The other day one of the firm's trusted men had occasion to look around among the boxes where "Mike" was on guard, and, finding "Mike" with his heels cocked up and his chin on his breast, while the old pipe gurgled and wheezed and threatened after every pull to give up the struggle forever, the man from the office proceeded to read his collaborator a little sermon.

"Mike," said the one who amounted to something, "why do you sit around here wasting your spare moments? You are neglecting golden opportunities. Instead of idling your time away you might have a book and be studying. Many a man in your place would educate himself, and so become capable of taking a higher place in the world. I myself started in here at the bottom. But I was determined not to remain at the bottom. How do you suppose I got up? By sitting around and waiting for my employers to come and lift me out of my place? No, indeed, 'Mike,' I fitted myself for a better position. I put in spare time finding out things about the way the establishment was run. I made myself too valuable to be kept at the bottom. I was determined from the start that I would be promoted, not merely for my own benefit, but for the benefit of the firm. I decided to make myself so valuable that they could not afford not to take advantage of my knowledge and my ability. I think a great many young men make mistakes in the attitude they assume at the start. They try to get up merely for their own profit. They should make themselves so competent that their employers could not help seeing that it would be unprofitable to keep them down. You have a hundred chances here for every one that I had when I started. Three-fourths of the time you have nothing to do. You could put in this time studying and finding out how our business is done. In that way you could make yourself worth more to the firm than you are at present. Why don't you do it?"

"Mike" slowly removed his heels from the box on which they had rested, and, after having gulped down a mouthful of nicotine, he replied: "I've noticed one thing among this place. The less a fellow knows the less he has to do."—Chicago "Record-Herald."

Wit and Wisdom from New Books.

How little the world knows about its modest heroes who bear burdens uncomplainingly and show no envy towards the men who are more fortunate situated from a worldly point of view.—"Blenderhasset."

Master Haves spoke shrilly and with a lisp, for which he would have been noted if it had not been for the fact which he was often ridiculed because it was natural—"Captain Ravenshaw."

Children are like jam; all very well in the proper place, but you can't get them all over the shop—"The Would-be-good."

"A man, Philpotts, is never beaten, till he has said in his heart, 'I am beaten.'—"Sir Christopher."

The whole affair was eminently unsatisfactory, yet so little might have made it perfect; but that is the tragedy of many things—"A Woman Alone."

The hiding in the world and the leaving of it are both tiresome enough at times—"The Seven Houses."

"The attempt to produce ideas by rubbing pen and paper together is much like trying to evoke a spirit from the friction of a couple of sticks; it is a thing not entirely impossible, but it is always a tedious and generally an ineffectual process."—"Talks on Writing English."

One way or other, belief is a frightful thing. It assassinates everything except itself—"Temple House."

Culture is accessible to everyone, but there are people who not only do not need it, but whom it is liable to spoil—"Foma Gordyeff."

She learned how brutal a man who is not ashamed of himself can be—"The Night Hawk."

The price of existence with some people must be an eternal silence—"Two Men."

Schoolbooks are implements, but they don't teach; they are only the implements to be used in one's business—"Foma Gordyeff."

Nature shows us the beautiful while she conceals the interior. We do not see the roots of her roses and she hides from us her skeletons—"The Morgesons."

The world's a-dyin' o' clo's. Perilous ambition, secret ambition, this world's fashion—what is it all, I ask ye, but clo's?—"Flood-Tide."

You cannot paddle in sin and go with white feet before the throne of God—"Karadac, Count of Gerasy."

New Zealand Like Newfoundland.

There will probably be no inclusion of New Zealand in the Commonwealth of Australia during the next fifty years, if, indeed, it ever takes place. The scheme has now been condemned by the commission appointed by the New Zealand Government to study the federation question, and the commission's judgment seems well based. New Zealand is twelve hundred miles from Australia, a fact that neutralizes the military argument drawn from the benefits of a joint defence in case of war. Again, should New Zealand be brought under Australian control, such a step would impair the many economic and socialistic experiments being made under the auspices of the New Zealand Government.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Heavy pruning of growing trees will check growth.

Flowering plants should never be watered with cold water. It chills the plants.

The Madeira vine is one of the best climbers, having a wreath of leaves equalled by few other plants.

Reputing of plants becomes necessary at intervals for two reasons. The plant uses up the available fertility in the soil and fills the pots with roots.

The ink plant of New Granada is a curiosity. The juice of it can be used as ink without any preparation. At first the writing is red, but after a few hours it changes to black.

In watering the primrose observe this: Water should not be poured upon the crown of the plant nor the pot filled so full that the water flows over into it. This is fatal to the health of the plant.

To destroy aphides or plant lice dip the ends of the twigs into a strong tea made by steeping tobacco stems in hot water or syringe with whale oil soap-suds, repeating the operation in six or seven days.

Not at All Excited.

In a certain Wisconsin city lives an old German, now past eighty, who has for years been in the hotel business. The old gentleman is very fond of card playing, and pitch is his favorite game.

One day a couple of years ago a party was sitting about a table playing, and just as the cards had been dealt and sorted and it was up to the old gentleman to bid for the trump a boy rushed into the office and in great excitement said the barn was on fire.

Without showing the least perturbation the old gentleman turned to him, and the following conversation took place:

"Did you get out the horse?"

"Yes."

"Did you the buggy get out?"

"Yes."

"Well," turning to the players, "I bid three."

The Wrong Way.

Fathers and mothers who do not know how and where their sons and especially their young daughters spend their evenings are guilty of a negligence that is little short of criminal and that, too, often leads to sad consequences. The American habit of letting the young folks "have their own way" in choosing their associates and methods of recreation is responsible in every city for a good deal of evil that might be prevented by parental firmness judiciously exercised.

Anticipated.

Stern Parent—I suppose you are aware, young man, that I cease to provide for my daughter when she leaves my roof?

Suitor—Oh, yes! We have settled about that—Bertha and I. We have decided to make our home with you.
