

FATHER AND SON CURED.

The Village of Whitechurch Develops a Sensation.

The Father Attacked With Rheumatism and the Son With St. Vitus' Dance...

"I was helping dig out the cellar." ed can imagine. How I was cured is even more interesting.

Cleanings from the Field.

The W. C. T. U., of Japan, has opened a rescue home for women.

Force of Habit.

London People have become used to the Great Specific Remedy.

London, Aug. 19.—The despatches from Detroit with reference to the cure from Bright's disease...

An excited military-looking gentleman entered the editorial sanctum one afternoon, exclaiming:

"That notice of my death is false, sir. I will live, however, within an inch of your life, sir, if you don't apologise in your next issue."

The editor intimated the following, next day: "We extremely regret to announce that the paragraph, which stated that Major Blaser was dead without foundation."

An Archon young man says he had heard all his life that pretty girls were not as agreeable as homelier ones...

THE WHITE RIBBON.

"For God and Home and Native Land."

Woman's Cares.

It is not the great, big, overwhelming disaster that crushes the life and spirit out of women.

At Home.

The highest style of being at home grows out of a special state of the affections rather than of the intellect.

Love of Country.

There comes in the life of every man who cannot afford a time of burning unrest, when he is overpowered by an uncontrollable desire to live in the country.

Want of Occupation.

A writer remarks that nearly all women are subject to fits of depression and low spirits, and only those who have suffered from them know how hard they are to fight against.

Scrap for Odd Moments.

Uncle Sam has 1,956 daily papers.

A correspondent wants to know what is the latest thing in bloomers? Well, we haven't noticed anything over thirty, says the Chicago Dispatch.

My dear sir, don't you see I've been waiting for a congregation of jackasses? Oh, I see I wondered why you kept on calling 'em beloved brethren.

Bolton—What is the difference between a specialist and an ordinary physician? Bolton—You'll know quick enough when the specialist sends in his bill.

Where do all the flies go to I asked an old lady. They have been boarding at our house this month, said the boarding house lodger.

There she lay, says the sensational writer, there on the floor, breathing out her life in short pants.

She must have been a lady Mergell in up to date garb.

MINARDS FAMILY PILLS are purely vegetable.

Jimmie Smith is awful deceitful. In what way? Well, sometimes he washes his face with soap. What has that to do with it? Well, the teacher thinks he's sick and lets him go home.

Hox—That horse of mine sets a good example that some men would do well to follow.

Joax—Why, the nag is no good. He interferes, but only with himself.

Cherokee Verminge kills worms eye time.

Old Bolton—It galls me to think that my money goes into your spandrifts hands when I die.

Young Bolton—Never mind, governor, it won't stay there long.

Kawler Lun—I say, doctor tell me what the difference between the grip and a cold really is. Dr. Pillein in a confidential tone—The doctor's fee. People don't call a physician for a cold.

MINARDS HONEY BALSM is a sure cure.

I trust, began the steady customer argumentatively.

I don't, responded the grocer declinately.

Somehow the conversation seemed to languish after that.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is justly considered the only sure specific for blood disorders.

Sally—An' after we are married, will you keep on lovin' me!

Rubs—I'll love you till the cows come home, as the feller says.

Sally—Ye, an' then go down to the grocery, an' let me do all the milkin.

MINARDS HONEY BALSM, once tried, always used.

Dear me, said Mr Meekins; it seems so absurd for men to be constantly talking about their wives having the last word.

Nelson—Well, I'm the luckiest chap in the world.

Stanley—How so?

Nelson—It appears that Midge broke with me about the same time she did with Jack Boodles, and now she's sent me back his presents incased of my own.

Hall's Vegetable Sulfur Hair Remover is, unquestionably, the best preservative of the hair.

I was cured of Bronchitis and Asthma by MINARD'S LINIMENT.

I was cured of a severe attack of Rheumatism by MINARD'S LINIMENT.
