Why Don't You?

Some things there are you cannot do for which you weren't intended. But there are paths you might pursue, up which you never ventured. Why try to do what can't be done, while that which can be waiting? The little things that you never try, might prove so compensating. A smile for some who find it hard to face the world of sorrow. Ah! why not help him on his way. And make the end more cheery? That smile from you is tomorrow.

Should Nova Scotia Farmers Grow More Wheat in 1916?

The amount of land plowed in Canada and especially in Western Canada last fall was considerably less than in the previous fall, as is evidenced by the following quotation from the November issue of the 'Census and Statistics Monthly' published at Ottawa:—
"For all Canada about 54 per cent of the area intended for next year's crop is reported as plowed by Oct. 31st, as compared with 61 per cent last year and 54 per cent in 1913. In the Northwest the percentages are as follows: Manitoba 35 against 92; Saskatchewan 27 against 77; Alberta 34 against 55.
In Ontario, 25 per cent less land is reported to have been seeded to fall wheat, the principal wheat crop of that province, than in the previous year. Moreover, agriculturists fear that owing to an unusually open winter, the crop will not do as well as usual.
So far as fall preparations are concerned, everything points to a reduced wheat crop from Ontario west. This shortage may or may not be made up in the spring. Everything will depend upon the character of the weather then and also upon the nature of the growing season. In general, spring plowed land cannot be depended upon for a crop in the West to the same extent as fall plowed land. Should either spring or summer conditions fall there is sure to be a shortage in the wheat crop from Ontario west.
On the other hand, it is estimated that the visible supply of wheat in the United States and Canada is 41,000,000 bushels more than a year ago and an English authority estimates the world's supply is large enough to last until February, 1917.
As far from agricultural consideration, one must remember that prices for wheat will be largely affected by the status of the war next fall, a matter in regard to which no one can at the present time make any certain prediction.
Summing up the whole situation, it seems wise to counsel farmers in Nova Scotia to prepare for the worst that can happen by growing just a little more wheat than formerly. Should next season be a favorable one, or should the war be successful—terminated, it is altogether likely that prices for wheat and flour will not go up. But the things may turn out otherwise and so no serious loss can be sustained by those who do grow a little more wheat, it would seem to be a wise provision to prepare for the worst that may happen.
It seems needless to advise farmers that wheat requires better soil conditions than oats, or in fact any other cereal crop, and that accordingly it would be the height of folly to grow wheat on all kinds of land. An acre or two of wheat grown on well prepared land may, however, be highly valued next fall. The methods of cultivation, and varieties are discussed in the annual report of the secretary for agriculture which will be available for free distribution shortly.
M. COMBS,
Secretary for agriculture.

A Weak Heart.

When the heart is weak or irregular in action, when the blood is thin and watery, remember the blood-forming quality of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by its use flood the system with rich and vitalizing blood. This is Nature's way of curing weakness and disease. It is the only way to ensure lasting benefit.

Pointed Paragraphs.

After a rough life has been polished it is called hypocrisy.
The man who is honest merely from policy is practically dishonest.
Through a man's tongue we get a glimpse of his brain—or his lack thereof.
Moles and poor physicians are easily traced by the holes they leave in the ground.
Perhaps the boy who plays marbles for keeps may be giving away libraries in after years.
Every time the sun shines the pen sinner consoles himself with the belief that it's raining somewhere.
It is said the cat has nine lives—just that is nothing to the number of lives of a great man—sold by subscription only.

The Big House.

set the pies to cool on the porch rail. The kitchen was cool, but outside a gentle wind and refreshing, fanned her cheeks. She stood a minute looking across the valley to the workmen were busy upon house.
Her lifelong friend, was a rich man from the city, dear, was to be one of the jobs she sighed. Katharine had been lucky and had every thing she wanted.

A Tale of the Savia Blizzard.

A medical officer who was present at the evacuation of Gallipoli, writing home says:
"I believe I have told you of the great blizzard and frost at Savia, and how on the fourth and fifth days dozens of men came in frozen solid to the knees, many with gangrene far advanced. A lot of them were more so, but they refused to leave the trenches till reinforcements poured in. Even the sick in hospital rose up and took their rifles and went up to hold the line. It was truly magnificent."
"One little picture I will draw illustrative of our life for five days. One morning a N-wind blazer in a trench near us called my attention to two figures in a ditch out by the Salt Lake. I took out a stretcher party, and there we found two lads of the City of London Regiment sitting in the ditch, frozen and dead. One had his arms round the other, who held fragments of biscuits in the corner of his mouth.
"Fancy the struggle for life across one and a half miles of frozen marsh in the teeth of the blizzard, and then, within sight of the lights of our camp, the weaker had given away and his chum had sat down with him and put his arms round him and tried to get him to eat a piece of ration biscuit, and so death had found them both. The agony of the battle of Sari Bair was matched by the despair of the blizzard at Savia. But these men were the heroes of the child's dream."
Spring Blood Is Watery Blood.

Spring Blood Is Watery Blood.

HOW TO GET NEW HEALTH AND NEW VIGOR AT THIS SEASON.
Spring ailments are not imaginary. Even the most robust find the winter months most trying to their health. Confinement indoors, often in overheated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home the office, the shop and the school—taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery and is clogged with impurities. Some people have headaches and a feeling of languor. Others are low-spirited and nervous. Still others are troubled with disagreeable pimples and skin eruptions; while some get up in the morning feeling just as tired as when they went to bed. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of order and that a medicine is needed. Many people take purgative medicines in the spring. This is a serious mistake. You cannot cure yourself with a medicine that gallops through your system and leaves you weaker still. This is all that a purgative does. What you need to give you health and strength in the spring is a tonic medicine that will enrich the blood and soothe the jangled nerves. And one always reliable tonic and blood purifier is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills not only banish spring weaknesses but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anemia, nervous debility, indigestion, rheumatism and other diseases due to bad blood. In proof of this Mrs. D. E. Hughes, Hazenboro, Sask., says: "About a year ago I was badly run down, my nerves were all unstrung, and I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. As I was a long ways from a doctor I determined to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in the course of a few weeks I felt like a new person. As an all round restorative I can heartily recommend this medicine."
If you are alling this spring you cannot afford, in your own interest, to overlook so valuable a medicine as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Too Tired.

We are so tired, we say, when the daily round of cares presses heavily upon us that we do not even claim us—little things that must be done and yet weary us by their very smallness.
Love brings its burden of anxious thought and sleepless demand. We tire of work that is never done, and we long for leisure and rest.
And yet if our tasks were suddenly put into other hands, if the call we have always answered passed us to seek other ways, if love's sweet insistent service sought its fulfilment elsewhere and we were left unneeded and undisturbed, how our hearts would ache with emptiness!
Earth holds no greater gift from God than a useful place among His toilers.
Life's sweetness is a share in the world's work; it keeps us sane and safe and more blessed than we know.

On Saying Too Much.

Brevity is the soul of a good many valuable qualities besides wit. It is certainly the soul of discretion, and a good argument might be made out for it as the soul even of truth and honor. When a man wraps his meaning in many words, he is likely to be inebriated or uncertain of just what he does think. Elaborateness of speech is not characteristic of clean-cut thought, as a rule, of simple and honest intention. Even when your intention is honest, the use of too many words is almost sure to betray you into a false position, and the use of more words to qualify, explain or justify will never quite set you back where you belong. Excessiveness in speech is not the same as elaborateness of speech, but it has its own pitfalls. It injures you rather than the person or the principle that you attack; it makes you hearer ill-disposed toward the person or principle that you exalt or defend. Your judgment may be exceptionally sound, yet if you are given to an undiscriminating use of adjectives you will not win the reputation of being a person of sound judgment.
More fatal to reputation than either elaborateness of speech, which gives people a blurred impression of your character, or excessiveness of speech, which causes people to look on you as one for whom allowances are to be made and in whom great confidence is not to be reposed, is the habit of falling more than in other proper of kind. That leads to catchiness in women and oddities in men.

8 Boxes Cured Psoriasis.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Conson, Ont., writes: "Three doctors described my trouble as psoriasis, and one said I could never be cured. The disease spread all over my face and head and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes Dr. Chase's ointment and an entirely cured—not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this ointment enough."

The Joy of Good Health Is Now Experienced

Nervousness, Dizzy Spells and Sleeplessness Are Now a Thing of the Past.
This is a cheerful letter from Mrs. Peacock, and it should bring joy to the heart of many a reader of this paper. Dizzy spells and sleeplessness are symptoms of an exhausted nervous system I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that this medicine did me a world of good. It entirely freed me of the symptoms stated above, built up my health generally, so that to-day I feel that I am quite well again."
In a more recent letter Mrs. Peacock writes:—"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good, and I would be pleased to tell everybody so."

Value of Farm Production in the Maritime Provinces in 1915.

According to statistics furnished to the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, by Prof. Comming, Sec'y for Agriculture, Nova Scotia, the total returns from the province for the year 1915 was $32 347 658.
The outstanding increase of the year has been from the dairy cow. This is indicated by the returns from the creameries, the output of which has been 34 percent in advance of last year, and over 200 percent in advance of 1914. The other noticeable feature was the record crop of hay—the king crop of Nova Scotia—the yield being 30 percent ahead of 1914.
In New Brunswick in 1915 the total value of produce to the farmer as furnished the Department for field crops and dairy products was $12 961,549, and in P. E. Island $1,130,000. New Brunswick did not furnish statistics as to the amount of live stock and poultry products.

Facts About Big Things.

The largest and most valuable library in the world is the Bibliothéque Nationale, in Paris, France, which was founded by Louis XIV. The library contains 1,400,000 volumes, 300,000 pamphlets, 175,000 manuscripts, 100,000 maps and charts and 150,000 coins and medals. There are 10,000 volumes of engravings, containing 3,000,000 specimens. The portraits number about 100,000.
The largest public place of amusement in the world is the New Opera House in Paris, which covers nearly three acres of ground. Its cubic measure is over 4,000,000 feet, and it cost about 100,000,000 francs.
The greatest pyramid is that of Cheops, one of the three pyramids forming what is known as the Memphis group, situated on a plateau about 137 feet above the Nile. Its dimensions have been reduced by the removal of the outer portions to furnish stone for the city of Cairo. Its masonry consisted originally of 89,628,000 cubic feet. The present vertical height is 450 feet. The total weight of the stone is estimated at 6,316,000 tons.
The largest trees in the world are the mammoth trees of California. One of a grove in Tulare county is 276 feet in height, 18 feet in circumference at the base and 76 feet at a point 12 feet from the ground. Some of the largest that have been felled indicate an age of from 2,000 to 5,000 years.
"You say you have quit smoking?"
"Yep, never going to smoke again."
"Then why don't you throw away those cigars?"
"Never! I threw away a box of good cigars the last time I quit smoking and it taught me a lesson."
