On account of the paying out of the semi-annual dividend, and the half-yearly interest to Savings Bank Depositors and debenture holders, the office of Guelph and Ontario Investment and Savings Society was crowded from early morning till late this afternoon with people receiving their money. When we say that the total transactions for the day will figure up to the hundreds of thousands of dollars, it can easily be understood why so large a crowd should assemble in one day at this Society's office. The payment out of such a large sum of money ought to be a great deal more than to make the money man's pocket empty for some time to come.

On Saturday evening Mr. Geo. N. Crawford, baker, Galt, was going his rounds when the tire came off the wheel. The horse started forward, and Mr. Crawford was thrown out, falling on his head. Miss Matthews read the following address, and Miss Flowers made the presentation.

Dear Miss Dow,—As the holiday season approaches, we realize with sorrow your determination to leave us for a wider sphere. During the three years you have been with us we have grown to love you, and to realize that you worked hard for our interests.

We feel that we cannot let you leave without some slight remembrance of the many happy and profitable hours we have spent together, so we beg you to accept this token of our regard and esteem, knowing that with it, you carry our best wishes for your future happiness. Trusting that you will make so many warm friends as you have done here.

Miss Dow made a short and telling reply, thanking her pupils for their kind words contained in the address and for their nice present.

AN EARLY GUELPH BOY.
Mr. John Galt, of Detroit, arrived yesterday by the post train. He is now some 60 years of age.

His father was one of the first to settle in Guelph, having been one of the great changes which have taken place since he was a lad.

He could scarcely be said to have seen the great changes which have taken place since he was a lad.

He stands the old English style buildings on George's Square had disappeared and old wooden buildings on the square had been replaced with modern buildings. He was the first to see the change.

He was the first to see the change in the city, and he was the first to see the change in the city.

He was the first to see the change in the city, and he was the first to see the change in the city.

He was the first to see the change in the city, and he was the first to see the change in the city.

He was the first to see the change in the city, and he was the first to see the change in the city.

He was the first to see the change in the city, and he was the first to see the change in the city.

He was the first to see the change in the city, and he was the first to see the change in the city.

He was the first to see the change in the city, and he was the first to see the change in the city.
