"If Hamilton had the same ratio of licenses to population as at present exists in Toronto, it would have only 34. If Hamilton had the same ratio as Toronto will have after the pending reduction, it would have only 25. These igures will afford an idea of the extent of the eduction to which the temperance people of Hamilton consider themselves justly entitled.

"In view however, of the difficulties?"

"In view, however, of the difficulties attending an extensive reduction at one time, the Citizens' Campaign Committee, animated by a desire to be moderate and reasonable, has decided at the bresent juncture to ask only for a reduction to a maximum of 50 licenses. Further reduction, it was felt, might be left as a

He moved that he be placed on the Board of Works in place of Ald. Guy, and that the latter replace him on the House of Refuge Committee. His reason for the amendment, he explained, was because Ald. Guy was chairman of one committee and a member of two first-class committees. Ald. Milne thought it was only fair to the electors of Ward 1 that he should have a place on such an important committee as the Board of Works. He had the time to devote to the work and the experience. It was not looking at things in a proper light, he thought, not to place him on the committee.

Ald. Wright, who was ousted from the chairmanship of the House of Refuge Committee, which he presided over last year, and was placed on the sewers and two other unimportant committees, complained of the treatment he had received. "I would like to ask, why I am not fitted to go on a first-class committee," he said. "I spent two years on the Fire and Water Committee, and took an active interest in the work. Now the best I get is second-class committees. I don't mind being beaten, but I object to it being rubbed in." He did not care for himself. In a growing, active child the cells of which the body is composed are being worm out—and replaced—very rapidly. This dead tissue must be gotten rid of somehow, and the danger is that the eliminating organs—the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—may not do their work well enough. Then the blood becomes poisoned and the child does not thrive.

Apple juice increases the action of the kidneys; other fruit juices stimulate the liver to secrete more bile, and bile produces easy and regular movements of the bowels; others stir up the glands of the skin to throw off more waste matter.

The difficulty is that to get these effects a great deal of fruit must be eaten, and the excess of pulp and woodly matter may upset the digestion. The better way is to give the children "Fruit-a-tives." which are tablets made of concentrated fruit injuces with made of concentrated fruit juices with valuable tonics added.

BILL'S CONVERSION.

(C. F. R. in Toornto News.)
It was in the city of Guelph nineteen years ago that Ferdinand Schivera, a reformed minstrel, was holding revival services in the old Norfolk Street Methodist Church. Eloquent, yet self confessedly ungrammatical, this man, who learned first to read the Bible in a coal shed stirred the city. He loved a coal shed, stirred the city. He loved young men, and the human heart will ever respond to the touch of love, no ever respond to the touch of love, no matter how far it has fallen. Schivera spoke from experience. His father was a drunkard, and he had the passion for drink in his blood. Men will pause, and the world will listen to the man with a message, be it in the lodge or church or street corner. Schivera had that message, and he had been behind the scenes and had run life's gamut, and when he spoke the fellows listened. The church was crowded night after night and many of the morally good walked forward and kneeled at the penitent rail. As the nights wore on and the sphere of the revival's influence extended, some of the rounders drifted iato the back seats, the chaps who were the last in the barroom at closing time; and who often stood waiting for its opening in the early morn. They were curious to see the man who had been a running and who matter how far it has fallen, Schivera They were curious to see man who had been a runny, and who told the story in such a new and convincing manner.

Some of them were slaves and sick of

And so the news went round, and the bunch gave him al tthe way from a week to six months. But Bill stuck, and he sticks to-day. He soon left his old job and found new associations, and found that there were plenty of friends eager to help him in his fight. He got a better position, and three years later received a flattering offer from a large firm in the east, where he resides to-day a useful citizen.
