Bill Papke, when asked the other day for an opinion of the coming bout between Ketchel and Langford, replied: "I think Ketchel will be the winner. Unless Langford can drop him with a punch in the first two or three rounds, Ketchel will war him down and beat his decisively. But he will have to hit much harder than he did in his last bout with me to knock Langford out in ten rounds." Fighting men in general think Ketchel will beat Langford, and they say the Michigan Lion will be the favorite at the ringside. Langford's manager, Joe Woodman, says that Ketchel will have to make 158 pounds at 6 o'clock or perhaps two hours earlier, as Langford will not agree to box at catch weights. If the men go ten rounds without a decisive result, it is predicted that they will recoive a hig offer to fight forty-five rounds in California, regardless of the result of the Ketchel-Johnson mill. But there is no doubt that they will fight on the level at the Fairmont Club, as there is much bitter rivalry between them. Ketchel said in California a few days ago that he would be just as fit for Langford as he was for the second bout with Jack O'Brien, when he showed the speed of a whirlwind and the most remarkable hitting power ever seen in a ring. Ketchel admitted also that he want to good" when he tackled Papke recently, which was due to overconfidence.

One thing that greatly hampers the success of the Junior Leagues is that the players will miss their own games to attend the big games. The youngsters are all eager to play, and this year that difficulty should be easily overcome. Besides the Victoria Park and Church League, another will also be formed for the smaller boys. With a few cool evenings, the players will start practising.

The East End Y. M. C. A. will not likely have a team this year. A number of last year's players will graduate to faster company and likely play for the Alerts. They may, however, be able to scrape up a team for the series, but the outlook is not bright.

The Broadviews are in great demand. Since winning the city championship, teams never heard of before are after the "champis" scalp. One challenge after another has been fired at the Broadviews. Manager Sullivan, however, will give all these challenges careful consideration. A defeat to the Broadviews would not take away their trophy, but it is not the cup the teams are after so much as the honor. This is proved by the fact that although the Broadviews have won decisive vistories over some of the teams, they are still asking for arother game. Outside teams will be given the first consideration, and some little jaunts are in store for the Broadviews. They will first play at Oakville views. They will first play at Oakville and then will likely go to Dunnville, Dundas and Burlington. A few neigh-boring towns are also after games.

boring towns are also after games.

It is likely that the Broadviews will not be formed next year, if the present talk from the players can be depended upon. Ex-manager Beattie is going to retire, while Thomas is also through with the game. "Nix" Bothon is going to take a rest next year, and Sullivan will likely play in faster company, while Curtis is also due for a boost. If all this is true, the Broadviews will be out of the xunning next way. It would be the sunning next way. It would be the great outfielder, had to do with Cobb's marvelous base stealing.

The Georgian "peach" leads the American League in base pilfers for 1900, with more clean steals to his credit than any other two players.

Ty blushed scarlet. He's about the most modest man in baseball anyway.

"Oh, I can't tell about that," he said. "Maybe it's because I try to get a good start. Maybe it's something else, just luck, for instance. Hughey knows. Here's Jennings now. Suppose you ask him."

"Oh, that isn't a very hard question," remarked the Tiger leader, when the question was put to him. "Ty not only gets a good start and is marvelously fast, but note this:

"He is in full motion the moment he starts away.

"Now, there are a lot of fast men in baseball; men who run the bases like racehorses, but it takes them two or three strides to get their gait.

"Cobb's different. When once he plunges down the line he's going at his top speed already. That saves him the fraction of a second that often saves his life.

"Then, too, Ty is a very hard man to the same and touch him as he came along.

"Billy' Hamilton was an awfully hard man to get. He was a good deant the signal was given. When the second baseman or shortstop got the ball and reached out for Billy, why Billy simply wasn't there.

"One of the hardest base stealers to touch was old Tom Brown. He'd come charging into the base in utter disregard of the man at the base, and many a shortstop and second baseman who stood his ground was cut down.

"Ty has a method of all his own in sliding around the man with the ball, but I should say that his ability to get off at tip-top speed is his best asset."

Ty led the American League last year and the year before in batting. His spring he set out to become as much of a marvel on the bases as he had been at the second baseman or shortstop got the base in utter disregard of the man at the base, and transparent the second baseman or shortstop and reached out for Billy, why Billy simply wasn't there.

bases, and I'll show him up every chance I get."

Ty bids fair to surpass his ambition and the hopes of his ardent friends. He has already stolen more bases by two than any man in the American League stole last year. Pat Doherty, with forty-seven stolen bases to his credit, led the league in base running in 1908.

Eddic Collins is Ty's nearest rival this year, with twenty-seven stolen bases to than the next person, but an awful after moon he and his merry men spent in ye ball park of the Royals was not to be forgotten. It was not that Casey's band took advantage of the fact that they were in their own back yard to treat their guests disrespectfully. That's all in a day's work. But the way the Montreals rubbed it in was grievously wounding to Joseph's pride. The seventh of June was the day, the score seventeen to two. Moreover, it was a broiling hot little afternoon and the fun all on one side—the Royals. Kelley had hopes. The lane was long, the way wearisome. It looked as if the opportunity for sweet, saccharine revenge would never swing itself over the horizon. But come it did. The club's hoodoo was out of the city yesterday on a little business jaunt of his own, and carefully stowed away in his inside vest pocket was the now famous Indian sign, thoughtlessly left behind by Manager James Casey, Esq., when he vamoused for his home a couple of days ago. The result was magical. The greatest carnival of crime since the middle ages would not figure in the same vicinity with the batting streak uncovered by the Kelleyites in the wee small hours of the afternoon. Revenge! well a little. If politics was not a live issue before the first game started you could gamble all you had at its conclusion that every member of Kelley's band was a red-hot Democrat. The vengeful Leafs just made the score board chalk marks jibe with the old slogan of one William Jennings Bryan, and then stopped. Sixteen runs, eighteen hits, two four-baggers and five doubles, and the tale is partly told. Add to this the whaling of three pitchers, Keefe, Smith and Adams, a veritable deluge of bingles and tallies in the first two spasms and the rest needs but little guessing. The second game was a repetition of the first, but in a minor key. This engagement the locals just won comfortably, with six to four the score, but again a fusilaled of hits in the early passages was what accomplished the completing of the Caseyites' downfall. #### LACROSSE

A full practice of the Tiger Lacrosse team will be held to-night at Victoria Park, in preparation for the game with the Elms, of Toronto, on Saturday, here. This will be one of the hottest contested games in the juvenile district. The Elms are a team of good stick handlers, and if anything, they have the weight on the Tigers. This game will give the supporters of the national game here a line on the chances of the Tigers in the finals of the C. L. A. In every game the Tigers have shown improvement in stick handling. They are playing better lacrosse and good team work, the latter is what wins games.
