Royal BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

Used and praised by the most competent and careful pastry cooks the world over

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar—made from grapes

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

I don't care what the weather is—let all kinds be invented! Let zephyrs zep or blizzards bliz. I still shall be contented! All kinds have their peculiar joys to please the soulful native; naught atmospheric BE GAY e'er annoys the man appreciative. When joyous sunshine is ANYHOW on file I find it most entrancing; I kick my heels and run a mile and do some son-and-dancing. When rain is pouring from the eaves, in endless torrents dawning, I watch the wet and sodden leaves, and say: "The wheat is growing!" This plan of thinking of the wheat when days are soaked and soggy, brings consolation full and sweet—just try it when you're groggy. When winter days are stark and dour, I seek my chimney corner, and read "Nick Carter" by the hour, "Old Stench" and "Johnny Horner." When earthquakes jar this footstool loose, air cloudbursts swamp the cities, I put my phonograph in use, and grind out playful ditties. All weather is the same to me, and each day a dinger; I'm happy as a bumble bee that has a patent stinger.

A Prize of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS In Gold.

The announcement of Canada's victory over the United States in the contest for the prize offered by Sir Thomas O'Shaughnessy, President of the C. P. R., for the best wheat grown on either continent of America, was made November the 4th, at the Land Show in Madison Square Garden, New York. The winner of the world-beating wheat was Mr. S. Wheeler, of Saskatchewan, Canada. He received a prize of $1000.00 in gold.

The World-Beating Flour

Very Busy Fall.

The people of the Consolidated Foundry are having one of the busiest falls on record. They have to work overtime to keep up with the growing demand for the stoves of all kinds kept there. The people of Newfoundland are fast realizing that the Consolidated Foundry people can give them what they want—a better stove than the imported one. Moreover when any of the parts get worn out they are able to supply them on short notice, as they keep all the patterns on hand.

Here and There.

DEER SHOOTING.—Supt. Andrews and J. Sparkes, of the street car service, who had been deer stalking at the Topsalls, returned to town by the express yesterday. Each secured three good heads. They saw a great many caribou crossing, but nearly all of them were does.

STORM SIGNAL.—The Marine and Fisheries Department ordered the hoisting of No. 4 storm signal all around the coast last evening, indicating a heavy N. W. gale.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Two women were talking about reading poetry. Said one, "I can read poetry with an intellectual appreciation, but I don't really enjoy it as you do. And even the liking I have, was acquired with difficulty. I remember I used to hate poetry in school and wonder why people didn't say what they had to say in good, straight prose, instead of rhyming it and sing-songing it. How is it that you are so fond of poetry?"

Answered the other, "Because I've always heard it since I was a baby. Before I could talk mother used to read and repeat poetry to me. And as soon as I could talk at all, father taught me scraps of poetry—not silly shynets—but beautiful bits like 'The world is so full of a number of things, I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings.' Often I didn't understand the things at the time, but the meaning came to me afterwards, and I always liked the sound."

The ability to really enjoy good poetry is undoubtedly rare in this prosaic century.

Culture seekers often deliberately acquire it. But everyday folks more often regard poetry to the end of their lives as a foolish way of saying in rhyme and sing-song what could be quite as well said in straight prose.

Surely then, any child whose parents give him the precious possession of a life long enjoyment of poetry by the simple method of reading and repeating good poetry to him in his childhood.

The wonder to me is that more parents do not do this.

Before a child can talk he understands a great deal of what is said to him. Everyone who has ever had anything to do with a baby knows this. Ask the little one who will not say anything but "papa" and "mama" and "all gone" or something like that, where his eyes, nose or his toes are and see how promptly he points them out.

Well, then, why not occasionally, when you are cuddling, rocking or playing with him, read or repeat some good poetry to him? He may not understand it all. But being a child, untrammelled by the grown up's need of seeing common sense in everything, he will surely enjoy the music. And the chances are that he will understand some of it and make up childish pictures to fit the words.

What shall you read? Well, there's Stevenson's Child's Garden of Verse, Eugene Field's poems and some of James Whitcomb Riley's for the very little ones.

Then as the child grows older he ought to appreciate Scott's poems John Glyn's ride, Holmes' Grandmother Story, Longfellow's Hiawatha, The Courtship of Miles Standish, Paul Revere's Ride, Whittier's Maud Muller, Barbara Frietchie, and even some of Shakespeare's sonnets.

Surely all of these have either music or story enough to hold even very young ears.

Personally, I think we insult our children's brains and comprehensions by the weak mental pabulum in the way of stories which we give them. I think the child who hears great and beautiful things will soon come to vaguely appreciate part, if not all, of their meaning.

Perhaps the little ones may not care for some of these poems at first, but remember that with childhood, the more familiar a tale the better loved it is—persevere, and I'm sure the liking will come.

And some day a man or woman who is reading and delighting in some beautiful poem will pause to thank you for his power of enjoyment.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce, in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without cost, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

Household Notes.

Many an overflow of the kitchen sink is caused by grease. There is no better way to keep the pipes of a sink in good condition than to let the hot water faucet run for five minutes after dishwashing.

Care should be taken in drying bread to be used for crumbs. Do not let it remain in the oven long enough to brown, for cutlets or croquettes rolled in overbrowned crumbs will not brown when frying.

To remove wrinkles from clothes, hang the articles in the bathroom, shut the door and windows, turn on the hot water to fill the room with steam and leave the clothes for an hour or two. Dry in the open air, if possible.

If the boiler to your kitchen range once becomes badly rusted, there is nothing possible but a new one. It pays to take precautions. At least once a week run the water off from the boiler until it comes entirely clear.

A PECULIAR DOUBLE CURE

Wife's Hand, and Husband's Shoulder Both Got Better.

Mrs. Jane Lane, of Denbeigh, Ont., tells a remarkable story of how she unexpectedly cured her crippled hand. She writes:

"For about eighteen months I had no use of my right hand. My husband had a lame shoulder and after bathing him a few times with Egyptian Liniment I noticed that my hand was getting better, and in a short time I could use my fingers quite freely. Before one bottle was used Mr. Lane's shoulder and my hand were both well.

It made a wonderful cure and I cannot speak too highly of Egyptian Liniment."

Douglas' Egyptian Liniment is simply splendid for soreness or stiffness of joints, contraction of muscles or cords, rheumatism or sciatica, in fact for any kind of an ache or pain in man or beast. 25c. at all druggists. Free sample on request. Douglas & Co., Napanee, Ont.

procure some chlorine water, dip linen rags into this and rub the spots which are scorched. The marks will disappear.

When going into a house that has been closed all summer see that the cellar windows are opened, and that all the faucets are allowed to run for at least an hour. Poisonous gases often collect, and one cause of typhoid fever in the autumn is neglect of such precautions.

When the rubber plant droops and its leaves turn yellow and drop off, mix a teaspoonful of mustard in a cup of boiling water, cool a little and pour on the soil in the pot. Sometimes a long black hard-shelled worm comes to the top, and if this is killed the plant will generally recover.

Keep a glass jar on the work-table, and when canning fruit and making jelly rinse all dishes used and pour strain through a cloth and empty into a large jar or keg, and you will have an excellent vinegar in a short time. Add a little vinegar to start it with.

Coal dust is wasted unless the misers sees that it is burned, and yet it makes beautiful fires. Have a galvanized iron scuttle for the purpose. Add sufficient water to the coal to make it moist. When a fire is burning brightly bank it up with this wet dust and you will have a clear fire which will last for hours.

If a water pipe is but slightly frozen it may often be thawed by pouring hot water on the outside. On bitter cold nights let the water run a thin stream in the faucets connected with the outside pipes; freezing will not be so probable.

Newfoundland Pine and Pulp Co's Operation.

BOTWOOD.

This Company have all their camps in full operation which will be equal to about Twenty-two million feet. Divided as follows:—Pt. Leamington, New Bay, on the south side of Exploits River, at Pameok, Rnshy Pond and Jumper's Brook. All camps are fitted with mattresses and bath tubs, the men are appreciating these improvements, and are greatly enjoying their weekly hot water baths.

Dr. Rowland has just arrived from Kentucky, U. S. A. and will reside in the woods attending to the physical ailments of the men. Dr. Rowland has been a teacher in one of the American Colleges, and will endeavor to impart valuable information on many subjects, as well as furnish entertainment to the men in the woods this winter.

Men are at work here preparing rooms, etc. for housing the pine logs now being cut on the Exploits River which will be manufactured in a new mill to be erected here next spring. Considerable money was expended this summer in the erection of piers for this purpose. The loss of the mill here by fire this summer we are glad to know will not interfere with a larger saw mill business here next summer.

Mr. Aitkens' saw mill, situated near the site of the proposed new saw mill, has for some time been sawing out the material for the Nfd. Pine & Pulp Co. new mill.

The Stomach Needs Help

The liver, kidneys and bowels must be kept active with DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

The liver and kidneys are overworked in their efforts to remove the poisonous waste matter from the system. They fail and become torpid and clogged. The bowels become constipated and stomach derangements follow.

There is one medicine which will overcome this condition more certainly and more quickly than any other, and this is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

This medicine gets the bowels in action at once and by awakening the liver and kidneys ensures the thorough cleansing of the filtering and excretory systems.

With the poisonous obstructions removed, the digestive system resumes its healthful condition, appetite improves, pains and aches disappear as well as irritability and depression.

You cannot imagine a more satisfactory treatment. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Dr. Chase, Bates & Co., Toronto.
