THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The Northern Pacific Railroad Committee, consisting of the Vice-President, Mr. Rice, of Maine; Messrs. Moorhead, of Philidelphia; Frederick Billings, of Vermont, and W. Milner Roberts, Engineer in-Chief will return East this morning, having completed on favorable terms, and below the estimated cost, an arrangement for the extension of the road northward,during the present year, to a practical connection between the road completed and the waters of Puget Sound. The contractors on Saturday by telegraph, put men at work on the line. With this railroad connection effected, the entire railroad system of Oregon, as well as the navigable waters of Columbia, are put in connection by rail with the waters of Puget Sound. The committee deemed it expedient to press an immediate prosecution of the work on that part of the line between the upper navigable waters of Columbia and Fend Oreille—among, other reasons, because on that portion of the route it is necessary to make arrangements in the Fall for getting out cross ties and bridge timbers, which can only be obtained on the mountains in winter, and must be floated down during the spring rise of the streams.—N. Y. Herald.

Who Can Explain?—The "creeping" and W. Milner Roberts, Engineer in-Chief floated down during the spring rise of the streams.—N. Y. Heratd.

Wito CAN Explaint X—The "creeping" of railroad rails has attracted some attention of late, and while we do not attempt to explain it, we offer a point on the fact that, on lines running north and south, the western rail "creeps" faster than the eastern rail "creeps" faster than the eastern rail "creeps" faster than the eastern rail "creeps" faster than the castern rail "creeps" faster than the castern rail "creeps" faster than the castern rail creeps for the south is more marked in one rail than in the other on the same track. Furthermore, it has been noticed that on such a line the eastern rail wears out the fastest. Both of these points, we think, can be explained by the motion of the cartin as it turns from the west toward the east. Everything that has free motion is dragged after the whirling globe; every wind that blows, and every tide that moves, feels the influence, and our train going north or south is pulled over toward the east, and naturally presses the eastern rail more heavily. The western rail being relieved of its share of weight "creeps" more freely and quickly. It is also noticed that the wheels that run on the eastern rail wear out the first, and we cannot but think that this earth motion is the true cause. The practical side of this is, that the castern rails and wheels should be stronger.—Scientific American.

Concenning Chows.—The Rev. Ward

wheels should be stronger,—Scientific American.

Coscenning Crows.—The Rev. Ward Beecher makes the following witty remarks about the crows:—"Aside from the special question of profit and loss, we have a warm side towards the crow, he is so much like ourselves. He is lazy, and that is human. He takes advantage of those weaker than himself, and that is so man-like! He is sly, and hides for tomorrow what he can't eat to-day, showing a real human providence. He learns tricks much faster tran he does useful things, showing a true boy nature. He thinks his own color the best, and loves to hear his own voice, which are eminently human traits. He eats whatever he can lay his hand upon, and is less mischievous with a full stomach than when hungry, and that is like man. He is at war with all living thing except his own kind, and with them when he has nothing else to do. No wonder men despise crows. They are too mich like men. Take off their wings, and put them in breeches, and crows would make fair average men. Give men wings, reduce their smartness a little, many of them would be almost good enough to be crows."
