"NEWS FROM ALL LANDS"

Topic For Consideration at W. C. T. U. Meeting.

"News From All Lands," was the topic at the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held in the lecture hall of the public library yesterday.

This topic suggests temperance news, and several ladies had come prepared with recent reports of temperance events and progress in Ireland, America, England, France, Canada, China and Japan.

The fight in China is not with alcohol, but with opium. Of the two evils opium would seem to be the least, for as a Chinaman has aptly put it, "Chinamen come home after being at an opium den and his wife beat him; while man come home from whiskey shop and beat his wife."

Many good arguments were brought out in favor of temperance before the meeting was brought to a close.

Buried in Mount Pleasant.
The funeral of Mrs. M. S. Sexton was held yesterday from her late residence on Brick street, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, and was very largely attended. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. K. Birks, of the Askin Street Methodist Church, assisted by Very Rev. Dean Davis, of St. James' Episcopal Church.

Mr. Peatfield Recovers.
Rev. E. H. Peatfield, who has been ill in Victoria Hospital for the past week, with a heavy cold, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home, and will be able to occupy his own pulpit next Sunday. Mr. Peatfield is preaching a special series of sermons on the Book of Revelations, and his illness has occasioned a serious break in this series. During his illness of the past two weeks First Congregational pulpit has been occupied by Rev. P. A. Stevens, of the China Inland Mission.

True Brotherly Love.
Mr. Henry Pearse, of 442 Central avenue, was pleasantly surprised on Monday evening when about a dozen of his brothers from Eureka Lodge, No. 30, I. O. O. F., called on him and with their forks and spades dug his garden. The Daughters of Rebekah from Victoria Lodge, No. 1, also joined in the surprise by providing a substantial supper for the hungry diggers. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in games and music.

Late T. E. Mara.
The funeral of Mr. T. E. Mara was held this afternoon from the family residence, 484 Waterloo street, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, and was largely attended. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. BARRIE AIDS WIFE TO WED NEW LOVE
Gives Her Beautiful House and Endows Her for Life.

PRACTICALLY BEST MAN
Gets Decree of Divorce and Buies Himself Getting Her Married to Young Cannon.

London, April 27.—The romance of John Ruskin, his wife and Sir John Millais, one of the wonder stories of real life in which Ruskin gave his wife to Millais, his friend, and still held that friendship dear, has been outdone by James M. Barrie, the author and playwright. Mr. Barrie, with all his fantasy, could not have conceived a more fantastic situation than that in which he figures today.

The decree of divorce which he sought from his wife after he had discovered her infatuation for Gilbert Cannon, a young dramatic critic, was made absolute yesterday. Barrie had entreated his wife to return to him, offering any terms she might demand, but Mrs. Barrie would not listen to him.

Then he sued and obtained a decree. Even after that he found his great love for his wife as strong as ever, and as told in cable dispatches again made overtures for a reconciliation, holding out the most extravagant inducements. They were rejected.

With an absolute decree of divorce in his possession, the attitude of Barrie toward his wife and the young man who had won her from him, underwent a complete change, and today he appears in the role of a fairly godfather to the couple.

Much to the surprise of his friends, who believed that the final separation from Mrs. Barrie would find him a morose and heartbroken man, he has taken the attitude of generous patron of his wife and young Cannon. He seems to be eagerly seeking the crumbs of happiness which may fall to him by aiding the couple to a speedy wedding and giving them a fair start in life in the hope that he may count them friends and have the privilege of visiting them and enjoying their companionship.

Yesterday, just after the divorce decree became absolute, Barrie voluntarily turned over to his former wife the deed to a beautiful home at Framham and settled an income of $750 a year on her for life. He also had made arrangements to facilitate the marriage of Cannon and Mrs. Barrie, and practically will act as the best man at the wedding.

Neither Mrs. Barrie nor Cannon would talk about their future, but went away together in a motor car during the afternoon. Barrie also disappeared, and it is understood that the wedding is to occur in some out-of-the-way place, in keeping with Barrie's arrangements.

Friendship Abused.
Recently Cannon and Mrs. Barrie were living in separate apartments in the same house. On the advice of John Galesworthy young Cannon moved to another house. Galesworthy is a great stickler for good form, and said it looked bad for the two persons, whose names had been associated in the divorce proceedings, to be neighbors at such a time.

Barrie's suit for divorce was a surprise to all but the intimate friends of the author of so many tender stories and plays, and attracted world-wide attention. Universal sympathy was expressed for Barrie, who really began the divorce proceedings at the earnest solicitations of his wife.

The evidence at the hearings aroused even more sympathy for Barrie. The testimony of witnesses left the court no other course than to grant Barrie the divorce. It was shown that Cannon had shamefully abused the hospitality of Barrie. When Barrie learned the facts the shock almost prostrated him.

Barrie married in 1894 Miss Mary Ansell, the actress, who appeared in his first play, "Walker, London," produced seventeen years ago. After the marriage Mrs. Barrie retired from the stage, and the tender-hearted, whimsical Barrie tried his best to make her happy, but failed.

SCOTCH CONCERT IN CHALMERS CHURCH
Choir Rendered Excellent Programme in Artistic Manner.

The choir of Chalmers Presbyterian Church rendered a Scotch concert last night in the church. Judging from the applause which greeted each number the large audience was more than satisfied with the programme.

The assisting artists were in good voice, and all had to respond to encoricos. Miss Edith McBride, the well-known London soprano, captivated the hearts of her audience at once with her exquisite rendering of that beautiful song, "Mary," by Richardson.

For an encore she gave a perfect interpretation of that dainty song, "The Lass With the Delicate Air." Miss Mae Mason, who has a rich contralto voice of pleasing quality, rendered with much feeling the well-known love song "Angus McDonald."

Mr. Albert Riddle rendered two difficult numbers in his usual finished manner. Miss Winnifred Short, who is well known to London audiences as an elocutionist of some merit, well deserved the unstinted applause which greeted her numbers. The choruses, quartettes, and trios, by the choir, under the leadership of Mr. A. B. Stein, were rendered in a manner that bespoke careful training. Miss Muriel Dobbyn at the piano, and Mr. T. R. Cornelius at the organ, accompanied the choruses in a most able manner.

At the conclusion of the concert the Ladies' Aid entertained the choir to ice cream and cake. The following is the programme submitted:

MOTHER FAINTED AS SON WAS SENTENCED
Magistrate Love Gave Thomas J. Douglas Six Months in Central Prison.

Prisoner Sat Stolid, Seemingly Unaffected at the Sight of His Mother's Grief.
The words committing Thomas J. Douglas to the Central Prison for six months for diamond stealing were scarcely spoken by Magistrate Love at the police court this morning, when Mrs. Douglas, mother of the prisoner, fell at full length on the floor of the courtroom in a swoon.

Sergeant Birchall and P. C. Noonan lifted the unfortunate woman up and carried her into the police court clerk's office, where she was attended by Crown Attorney McKillop and Detective Deane, and shortly afterward revived. For some minutes she wept piteously.

Prisoner Not Affected.
Douglas himself was not greatly affected. He received his sentence with great composure, and the grief of his mother seemed to interest him but little.

Douglas was arrested a couple of weeks ago by Detective Deane on a charge of stealing diamond rings and a pin valued at $130 from Thomas Bedson, a boarder at Mrs. Douglas' house, and also of stealing a diamond pin from John Miller, and having it made into a ring for his sweetheart. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

Most Regrettable.
"It is most regrettable," said Magistrate Love, "to see a young man, 23 years old, in such a position. It seems to me that you had determined to embark upon the career of a professional thief."

"You stole on one occasion, and because you were not caught, you continued your crimes. Although this is your first appearance before me I cannot regard it as your first offence, because there was a series of offences committed. There is another offence of which you are suspected. A trunk was broken open and money taken from it. The same instrument used to open the trunks from which you stole, was used in this case, but you are not charged with that offence. In order that this may be a warning to yourself and others not to steal, I sentence you to six months in the Central."

ALLEGED PEEPING TOM WAS NAILED BY POLICE
Gave Name of Adam R. Wilson, of Wilson Avenue—Was Remanded.

A "Peeping Tom" giving the name of Adam R. Wilson, of Wilson avenue, West London, was arrested by P. C. Thomas Noonan last night while he was engaged in looking through the bedroom window of a West London house.

P. C. Noonan saw Wilson look through bedroom windows at three different residences, and then placed him under arrest. He gave his name at first as A. McLaren, but later he said Wilson was his right name, and that he was unmarried.

This morning he told Magistrate Love that he was married and that his wife and family reside in England, where he came from some months ago.

"What were you expecting to see?" asked the court.
Wilson was silent, and the magistrate thought that as he had told so many stories he had better be remanded for a week while the police investigate. Wilson said he worked at the London Foundry.
