MR. T. B. PEARSON FINED.

He Is Declared to Be a Wholesale Trader by Magistrate Macrae.

An Important Decision as A flecting Trades' Licenses in the City of Victoria.

Magistrate Macrae gave judgment yester-day morning, in the police court, in the case of the City vs. T. B. Pearson, and as the decision is one of great importance as to the decision is one of great importance as to the interpretation of the Revenue by law the fall text is appended:

"In this case," said the magistrate, "Mr.

T. B. Pearson is charged on the information of Mr. E. C. Smith, assistant collector for the city, with carrying on the business of a wholesale trader without a license in that behalf in terms of the Revenue by law, 1889. It was proved that the defendant was appropriately appeared by the ratepayers of Victoria was also selected by the ratepayers of Victoria West to run for alderman in the North Ward. This Mr. Bishop consented to do, and was proceeding with his campaign when it was discovered that he is disqualified for the position of alderman. This is owing to the fact that the Victoria was proved that the defendant was properly was purchased some time.

I always like to recall an extract from Mrs. Potter Palmer's strong and grace-ful little speech at the Columbian celebration in Chicago: "Even more important than the discovery of Columbus is the fact that the general government has just discovered women. It has sent out a flash light from its heights so into accessible to us, which we shall answer by a return signal when the exposition is opened. What will be its next mesbehalf in terms of the Revenue by law, 1889. It was proved that the defendant was engaged in supplying in large and small parcels to clothiers, dealers in gents' fyrnishings and other tradesmen goods in the name of his son. Harry Bishop, then a minor, Mr. Bishop thinking that he might return to England and that this would prevent complication in the transfer of the property to the son on the latter that he was in the habit of selling goods in the form in which they were purchased by him, or that he sold directly to consumers. Beyond question Mr. Pearson is a trader, for he makes a business of buying and selling. Equally beyond question, to my mind, he is a "wholesale trader," within the meaning of Bacon, V.C. in Treacher v. Treacher, W. N. (74), 5, "As

Residence of R. J. McDonald, on the Gorge Roard, This Time the Scene.

At 3:20 o'clock yesterday morning a telephone message was received at the fire hall that a fire had been discovered out on the Gorge road. The chemical engine was soon on the spot and the source of the alarm disa general rule, wholesale merchants deal only with persons who buy to sell again, while retail merchants deal with consumers."

Within the meaning of Begbie, C. J., in Smith v. Heath (Colonist, 13th August, 1892), "There is no doubt that a merchant who sells in large quantities to another trader in order that the second may distribute piecemeal to the actual consumers is a wholesale merchant." And within the meaning of the by-law. Wholesale traders who happen to be also manufacturers are not exempted either by the Municipal Act or the Revenue by-law from the obligation to pay the license fee.

His Honor accordingly found Mr. Pearson guilty of the offence charged against him and a fine of $25 was imposed, Mr. Pearson being ordered to pay his $50 license fee."

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

Virginia Penny, to Whom All Women Owe a Debt.

Forty years ago the occupations open to women were three—honsework, sewing and teaching. They did not do much at teaching except in primary schools. About this time Virginia Penny, a gentlewoman born and bred, became interested in the industrial advancement of her sex. She became convinced that the glorious world of achievement held a future for ambitious grils as well as boys. She believed that the time had come for opening to women were three—honsework, sewing and teaching. They did not do much at teaching except in primary schools.
