Brain Building a Science.

Brain-building is, par excellence, the science of the future. How is man to get more mind? Upon the answer to that question the prospects of the race depends. Who can doubt that the human brain of 10,000 ars hence will produce ideas far beyond the capacity of the best piece of thought sm of to-day?

The psycho-physicist states it is an axiom that the mind can only be educated through the senses. Let a child be blind from birth, and the part of the brain that records the impressions of vision will remain rudiment-Suppose the same infant to have been likewise undeveloped. If the baby were guard against infractions of the post office born without any senses whatever, and acquired none, is would have absolutely no were something purely spiritual. In truth, it is a piece of physical mechanism. Beginning with a child, it may be put together

Every thought which enters the mind is registered by the brain by a change in the street and New Zealand, has been discontinued. structure of its cells. The change is a physical change, more or less permanent. Bac thoughts build up structures of cells which nder evil idea, and good thoughts trariwise. Cheerful thinking makes a happy disposition, while indulgence in melancholy has an opposite effect.

A Very Dramatic Incident.

A Striking Individuality.

individuality unless that characteristic is convicts during the past 25 years. Through the outspringing of one's own nature. Directly little eccentricities are assumed, criticism is invited; we become conspicuous, and the unconventional beauty which we wish to achieve turns to gall and wormwood in what the world calls only "queerness. Unless you can be artistically out of the ordinary, do not try to be other than commonplace. It does not pay to bring down reproach and sarcasm upon your unprotected head for the sake of winning notoriety. Better by far to pursue the even tenor of of your way, exactly as thousands of other mortals do, than to strike out into new paths, which lead only into the jungle of ridicule

Why Medicine Does no Good.

There are scores of persons—aye, thousands of them—who by carcless and irregular habits of eating contract dyspepsia. Then they try this remedy and that, without paying the least attention to diet or regularity of habits and finally denounce all remedies as frauds because the impossible does not happen, and their health come back to them. The very worst case of dyspepsia can be cured dy Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic and Hawker's liver pills, if at the same time sound judgment as to diet, exercise and general regularity of habits is observed. Why Medicine Does no Good

-The grandest men of our nation have been, and the grandest men of the future will be, found among the country boys of our land. Judge Bluff, says a correspondent from Dead Man's Gulch, delivered a lecture at Red Light hall Saturday night on "The Needs of the Country." He said the country needed less Hamlet and more skirt dancing. During the course of his remarks the judge

"The place had but one hotel, the landlord of which conducted everything except the cooking and house-cleaning, which his ship. As soon as children can read they wife attended to. I was the only guest, and when I told him that I wanted to go up the river on a packet due anywhere between midnight and three o'clock in the morning, I was shown to a room immediately over the office, and was going to sleep when I heard a shrill feminine voice call, "John, you come to bed." "Sallie, you know I kain't go to bed. Got to wake that blamed drum mer." I enjoyed the situation and laughed myself wide awake, not getting sleepy again for two hours. Then the feminine voic called again, "John, I say, come to bed." mer wake hisself." "Taint no way to run a hotel," and there was silence again. While the following statement of A. D. Thompson, of Montreal, is of local interest as coming from him, it is also of universal interest because it emphasizes a great truth. Mr. Thompson says:—"Being troubled with nasal cafarrh I was advised to try Hawker's catarrh cure, which I did, and since using it the catarrh has disappeared entirely; in fact I can walk all day and breathe through my nose without the least trouble." What Mr. Thompson says has been his experience, has been the experience of thousands. Even the most aggravated forms of catarrh yield to the wonderful curative power of Hawker's catarrh cure. It restores the breath to its pristine sweetness and removes all disagreeable and unbealthy symptoms of the disease. It is a marvellously quick and sure cure for cold in the head, and will relieve the deafned by catarrh. For sale by all druggists at 25 cents per box. The remedy has no equal in its field of operation.
