

pilgrims, left with regret this sweet shrine in which St. Anne had no doubt granted them the first fruits of her favors.

Good St. Anne in Congo. -- Rev. Father P. J. Billiau, the former economé at Ste Anne de Beaupré and first superior of the Congo mission, propose to erect a chapel to St. Anne on African soil. The pious missionary is convinced that the Great Saint who works so many conversions in North America, will attract to God and to the Church numbers of the still pagan negroes who dwell in the Independent State of Belgian Congo. In selecting a missionary who has resided in Canada, Providence seems to have in view the propagation of devotion to St. Anne everywhere.

M^r Mathias Zens, the Belgian artist who made the beautiful statue of Ste Anne de Beaupré, presents a similar statue to the Congo mission. May the Thaumaturga of Canada become the Thaumaturga of Africa. May she, on seeing the piety and confidence of her children increase, also multiply everywhere her heavenly favors and choice blessings.

Discipline

Discipline, like the bridle in the hand of a good rider, should exercise its influence without appearing to do so -- should be ever active, both as a support and as a restraint, yet seem to lie easily in hand. It must always be ready to check or pull, as occasion may require, and only when the horse is a runaway should the action of the curb be perceptible.

Tact

Tact is a gift ; it is likewise a grace. As a gift it may or may not have fallen to our share ; as a grace we are bound either to possess or acquire it.

A Willing Heart

All virtue consists in having a willing heart. God will lead you as if by the hand, if you only do not doubt, and are filled with love for Him rather than for yourself.
