

ENTRANCE TO FRASER CANYON, YALE, B. C.

Through the fastnesses of the famous Fraser Canyon two great transcontinental railways have had to cut their way—the existing Canadian Pacific line on the right bank of the river, and the new Canadian Northern Pacific line on the left. The view here shown is looking up the river, and the entrance to the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway's tunnel appears on the right of the picture.